JURISDICTION OF COMMITTEE ON WAYS AND MEANS

RULES OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

ESTABLISHMENT AND JURISDICTION OF STANDING COMMITTEES

THE COMMITTEES AND THEIR JURISDICTION

1. There shall be in the House the following standing committees, each of which shall have the jurisdiction and related functions assigned to it by this clause and clauses 2, 3, and 4; and all bills, resolutions, and other matters relating to subjects within the jurisdiction of any standing committee as listed in this clause shall (in accordance with and subject to clause 5) be referred to such committees, as follows:

* * * * * * *

(v) Committee on Ways and Means.
  (1) Customs, collection districts, and ports of entry and delivery.
  (2) Reciprocal trade agreements.
  (3) Revenue measures generally.
  (4) Revenue measures relating to the insular possessions.
  (5) The bonded debt of the United States * * *.
  (6) The deposit on public moneys.
  (7) Transportation of dutiable goods.
  (8) Tax exempt foundations and charitable trusts.
  (9) National social security, except (A) health care and facilities programs that are supported from general revenues as opposed to payroll deductions and (B) work incentive programs.

NOTE. As a select committee the Committee on Ways and Means dates from 1789. It was made a standing committee in 1802. Originally it considered both revenue and appropriations, but in 1865 the appropriation bills were given to the Committee on Appropriations, and certain other bills to what is now the Committee on Banking, Finance, and Urban Affairs. The subject of recesses and final adjournments, formerly within the jurisdiction of this committee was, under the Reorganization Act of 1946, transferred to the Committee on Rules.

SUMMARIES OF PUBLIC AND PRIVATE BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS REPORTED BY COMMITTEE—IN NUMERICAL ORDER

H.R. 2 (Mr. Anderson with cosponsors); Public Law 100-17; enacted without approval Apr. 2, 1987.

H.R. 2, the Surface Transportation and Uniform Relocation Assistance Act of 1987, was referred to the Public Works and Transportation Committee. On Jan. 6, 1987, the Ways and Means Committee ordered reported a revenue title to be included in the bill under a rule. On Jan. 8, 1987, the Rules Committee granted a rule providing for a new title V (revenue) to the bill. H.R. 2 passed the House on Jan. 21, 1987. On Feb. 4, 1987, the bill passed the Senate with amendments, and the Senate requested a conference with the House. On Feb. 19, 1987, the House disagreed to the Senate amendments and agreed to a conference. The conference report was filed and agreed to in the House on Mar. 17, 1987. On Mar. 19, 1987, the Senate agreed to the conference report.

On Mar. 22, 1987, the President vetoed the bill. The House overrode the veto on Mar. 27, 1987, and on Apr. 1, 1987, the Senate sustained the veto. On Apr. 2, 1987, the Senate overrode the veto, and the bill became Public Law 100-17, without approval.

A summary of title V of the act follows.

(1) The act raises $75.5 billion in tax revenues for funding of Highway Trust Fund programs by extending the current Highway Trust Fund taxes and exemptions for 5 years, through Sept. 30, 1993.

(2) The act extends the authority to make expenditures out of the Highway Trust Fund for 5 additional years, through Sept. 30, 1993.

(3) The act extends the highway user tax on heavy trucks to any heavy truck driven over 5,000 miles on U.S. roads, regardless of the country in which the truck is registered. The tax on trucks registered in foreign countries would be at 75 percent of the rate charged to trucks registered in the United States to reflect lower average highway use by those vehicles and would go into effect July 1, 1987.

(4) The act would apply the heavy vehicle use tax based on a presumptive retail sales price in the case of sales to lessors for future long-term leasing and direct sales by manufacturers, effective on the first calendar quarter 90 days after the date of enactment.

H.R. 3 (Mr. Gephardt with cosponsors); Senate sustained Presidential Veto June 8, 1988. (See also H.R. 4848.)

H.R. 3, the Trade and International Economic Policy Reform Act of 1987, was jointly referred to the Committees on Ways and Means, Agriculture, Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs, Education and Labor, Energy and Commerce, and Foreign Affairs. H.R. 3 was reported to the House by the Committee on Ways and Means with an amendment in the nature of a substitute; and was reported as amended by the Committees on Energy and Commerce, Foreign Affairs, Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs, and Education and Labor on Apr. 6, 1987; and as amended by the Committee on Agriculture on Apr. 7, 1987. The bill passed the House with amendments on Apr. 30, 1987. Titles I, II, and VIII of the bill contained provisions over which the Committee on Ways and Means has jurisdiction.

The Senate passed the bill in lieu of S. 1420 with amendments on July 21, 1987. The House disagreed to the Senate amendments and on Aug. 7, 1987, agreed to a conference with the Senate. The House agreed to the conference report on Apr. 21, 1988. The Senate agreed to the conference report Apr. 27, 1988. The President vetoed H.R. 3 on May 24, 1988. The House overrode the veto on May 24, 1988; the Senate sustained the veto on June 8, 1988.

The identical provisions of H.R. 3 were reintroduced as H.R. 4848, the Omnibus Trade and Competiveness Act of 1988, except for two provisions that were the basis for the Presidential veto. These two provisions were the Alaskan oil export controls provision of title III and the plant closing provision of title V of H.R. 3. (See H.R. 4848 for further action.)

A summary of the act follows:

TRADE AND TARIFF LAWS; TRADE AGREEMENTS

I. NATIONAL TRADE POLICY; ADVICE AND CONSULTATIONS

A. Requires the President's annual report on the trade agreements program to include an annual trade policy agenda setting forth trade policy objectives and priorities, proposed actions and legislation to achieve them, and progress made toward their accomplishment; the USTR must consult with Congressional committees on objectives and their status.

B. Expands the private sector advisory committee functions to include information and advice on development and implementation of overall U.S. trade policy and priorities, as well as on negotiation issues; expands the advisory committee structure and advice to the Congress.

C. Strengthens the prenegotiation procedural requirements under existing law (e.g., public hearings, advice from the ITC) to include nontariff as well as tariff matters and trade policy development and priorities.

D. Expands consultation requirements between the USTR and the Congress:

1. Requires consultation and advice from the existing congressional advisors on trade policy development and priorities, as well as on negotiations; provides for additional special congressional advisors on specific policy matters or negotiations.
2. Requires USTR consultations on a continuing basis with the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance Committees on the development, administration, and implementation of overall U.S. trade policy matters and specific actions under the trade laws.

II. TRADE AGREEMENT NEGOTIATING AUTHORITY

A. Nontariff barrier agreements.—Extends nontariff agreement negotiation authority for 5 years, until May 31, 1993. Extends "fast track" Congressional approval procedure of implementing legislation for agreements entered into on or before May 31, 1991, with extension until May 31, 1993, unless either House passes disapproval resolution before May 31, 1991, because of insufficient progress in negotiations 90 days before expiration of the original "fast track" extension as a precondition to further extension.

"Reverse fast track".—The "fast track" approval procedure is terminated if the Senate Finance and House Ways and Means and Rules Committees report and both the House and Senate separately pass disapproval resolutions under the "fast track" within any 60 legislative day pay period because the USTR fails or refuses to consult with the Congress on trade negotiations and trade agreements.

B. Tariff agreements.—Reestablishes Presidential authority to enter into multilateral tariff agreements until May 31, 1993, and to proclaim changes in U.S. rates of duty required or appropriate to carry out such agreements. Maximum 50 percent cuts on all articles, except duties of 5 percent ad valorem or below may be reduced to zero, under proclamation authority. Duty reductions on any article cannot exceed 3 percent ad valorem per year, or one-tenth of total reduction, whichever is greater; no staging requirement if ITC determines there is no U.S. production of the article; rounding authority identical to Trade Act of 1974. President must take into account ITC and private sector advisory committee advice identifying import sensitive or potentially import sensitive articles. Any duty reductions exceeding 50 percent or any tariff increases would be subject to "fast track" Congressional approval.

C. Bilateral trade agreements.—Extends authority to enter into bilateral tariff and nontariff barrier agreements until May 31, 1993, if certain prenegotiation conditions are met, subject to Congressional approval under "fast track" implementing procedure and subject to same possible disapproval and "reverse fast track" procedures as for multilateral authority.

D. Restrictions on trade agreements.—

1. Requires that the President's statement accompanying submission of trade agreements to Congress under the "fast track" include a description of the extent foreign parties to the agreement maintain noncommercial State trading enterprises that may adversely affect or nullify or impair U.S. benefits under the trade agreement involved, and whether and to what extent the trade agreement deals with or affects purchases or sales of such enterprises.

2. Agreements must make progress in achieving applicable negotiating objectives.

3. Requires the President to recommend that trade agreement benefits and obligations apply solely to parties to the agreement, if such treatment is consistent with the agreement (conditional MFN).

4. Requires the President to determine before May 31, 1993, whether any major industrial country has failed to make concessions providing substantially equivalent competitive opportunities for U.S. commerce, and to recommend implementing legislation to restore equivalence.

E. Special trade agreement authorities.—

1. Harmonized Commodity Description and Coding System.—Implements the International Convention effective on date of enactment and the Harmonized Tariff Schedules on Jan. 1, 1989.

2. U.S.-European Community (EC) citrus and pasta agreement.—Authorizes the President to implement U.S. duty reductions agreed in the U.S.-EC citrus/pasta agreement and to modify or terminate any reductions at any time. Semiannual sec. 301 report must include assessment of whether the EC is in compliance with the pasta agreement.

3. GATT accession of state trading regimes.—Before a major country accedes to the GATT, the President must determine whether State trading enterprises account for a significant share of the country's trade and unduly burden and restrict or adversely affect U.S. trade or the U.S. economy. The GATT shall not apply between the United States and that country unless it enters into any agreement with the United States to conduct State trading enterprises on a commercial basis or a bill is enacted under the "fast track" procedures approving extension of the agreement to that country.

4. Compensation authority.—Provides compensation authority for sec. 301 actions and tariff reclassifications, as well as import relief actions, if necessary or appropriate to meet U.S. international obligations. General tariff authority limits apply while in effect; present law (30 percent duty reduction limit) applies after May 31, 1993.

5. Currency exchange rates.—Requires that whenever in the course of negotiating a trade agreement the President is advised by the Secretary of the Treasury that a foreign country that is a party to the negotiations manipulates its currency exchange rate, the President shall initiate exchange rate negotiations with that country on an expedited basis.

F. Negotiating objectives.—Sets forth overall and principal U.S. trade negotiating objectives on the following subjects:

1. Agriculture,
2. Dispute settlement,
3. Unfair trade practices (e.g., diversionary dumping),
4. Services,
5. Intellectual property,
6. Foreign direct investment,
7. Import safeguards,
8. Improvement of GATT and MTN agreements,
9. Specific barriers,
10. Worker rights,
11. High technology,
12. Border tax adjustments,
13. Transparency,
14. Developing countries,
15. Current account surpluses,
16. Trade and monetary coordination, and
17. State trading enterprises; unfair trade concession requirements.

III. ENFORCEMENT OF U.S. RIGHTS UNDER TRADE AGREEMENTS AND RESPONSE TO CERTAIN FOREIGN TRADE PRACTICES (SECTION 301 REFORM)

A. Transfers determination, decision-making and implementation authority.—Transfers to the U.S. Trade Representative (USTR), from the President, the authority to make determinations of whether foreign practices meet sec. 301 criteria. Also transfers to the USTR, subject to the direction, if any, of the President, the authorities in all cases to determine whether and what type of action is appropriate and to implement such action.

B. Makes action mandatory for foreign trade agreement violations.—Requires that in cases involving foreign violations of trade agreements or other "unjustifiable" practices, the USTR must take retaliatory action in an amount equivalent in value to the foreign burden or restriction on U.S. commerce. The form of retaliation would be at his discretion, with preference given to tariff rather than quota restrictions. No retaliation would be required:

1. If the GATT Contracting Parties determine or GATT panel reports the foreign practice does not violate or deny U.S. rights or does not deny or nullify or impair U.S. trade agreement benefits.

2. If the foreign government has agreed to eliminate or phase out the practice or has agreed to a satisfactory imminent solution to remove the burden or restriction on U.S. commerce.

3. If number 1 or 2 cannot be achieved, the foreign country has agreed to provide satisfactory compensatory trade benefits.

4. In extraordinary cases, where action would have an adverse impact on the U.S. economy substantially out of proportion to the benefits of action, taking into account the impact of not acting on the credibility of sec. 301.

5. If taking action would cause serious harm to the U.S. national security.

With respect to cases involving "unreasonable" or "discriminatory" practices, which do not violate U.S. trade agreement rights, the USTR would retain discretionary authority to retaliate as under present law.

Authorizes the USTR to enter into binding agreements that commit a foreign country to eliminate or phase out the practice, to eliminate the burden or restriction, or to provide satisfactory compensation. Any compensation agreement must provide trade benefits in the same or a closely related economic sector, unless such benefits are not feasible or would be more satisfactory in another sector.

C. Reduces and imposes time limits for action.—Requires USTR determinations on whether an act, policy, or practices is actionable under sec. 301 in all cases. Consultations must be initiated with the foreign government on the day USTR determines to initiate an investigation (may be delayed by up to 90 days if necessary to prepare the case). USTR must request dispute settlement proceedings, if any, if consultations are not concluded within 5 months. The USTR must make the unfairness determination and decide what, if any, action to take within 12 months in subsidy and non-trade agreement cases and within 18 months in trade agreement cases other than subsidies. Action must be implemented within 30 days, subject to delay for up to 180 days if the petitioner or domestic industry request or are responsible for a delay, or the USTR determines substantial progress is being made or delay is necessary or desirable to obtain U.S. rights or a satisfactory solution.

D. Additional actionable practices.—In addition to practices specifically actionable under current law, the following foreign country practices would be defined as "unreasonable" and actionable if the statutory criteria are met:

1. Export targeting that is a burden or restriction on U.S. commerce. Action is discretionary as for other unreasonable practices, except if no action is taken the USTR must convene a private sector panel to report on measures to promote the domestic industry's competitiveness.

2. A persistent pattern of conduct that denies certain specified worker rights, except if the USTR determines the foreign country has taken or is taking actions that demonstrate a significant and tangible overall advancement in providing the rights and standards throughout the country or the practices are not inconsistent with the country's level of economic development.

3. Denial of market opportunities in the form of toleration by a foreign government of systematic anti-competitive activities by or among private firms in that country that have the effect of restricting on a basis that is inconsistent with commercial considerations, access of U.S. goods to purchasing by those firms.

Reciprocal opportunities in the United States for foreign nationals and firms would be taken into account, as appropriate, in determining whether an act, policy, or practice is "unreasonable."

With respect to enumerated causes of action, the USTR would have discretion in initiation of cases to determine whether action would be effective in addressing the foreign country's barrier or practice.

USTR is required in the annual foreign trade barriers (national trade estimates) report to estimate, where feasible, the value of additional U.S. exports or investment that would have occurred in the previous year if each of the identified barriers did not exist. The next report will be submitted on Apr. 30, 1989 and on Mar. 31 in subsequent years.

USTR is required to initiate an investigation of Japanese barriers to U.S. architectural, engineering, construction, and consulting services in Japan.

E. Adds modification and termination and monitoring authorities.

1. Allows modification or termination of sec. 301 retaliation at any time if the same exceptions criteria (described under B. above) are met as for the initial action, after public comments and consultation with domestic interests. Any action would terminate automatically after 4 years, subject to the petitioner or domestic industry requesting continuation and the USTR reviewing the actions.

Adds a requirement that the semiannual report to the Congress on sec. 301 cases describe the commercial effects of any actions.

2. Requires the USTR to monitor foreign country implementation of, or compliance with, any agreement to grant U.S. rights, to eliminate or phase out its practice, to remove the burden or restriction on U.S. commerce, or to provide compensatory benefits. If the foreign country is not implementing or complying with a settlement agreement, the USTR must take action, subject to the mandatory retaliation provisions and to the time limits and procedural requirements for initial sec. 301 actions.

F. Adds provisions to identify and deal with trade liberalization priorities. Within 30 days after submission to Congress of the foreign trade barriers report in 1989 and 1990, the USTR must:

1. Identify priority practices, including major barriers and trade distorting practices whose elimination is likely to have the most significant potential to increase U.S. exports. In determining priority practices USTR must take into account: (a) the international competitive position and export potential of U.S. products and services; (b) circumstances in which the sale of a small quantity of a product or service may be more significant than its value; and (c) the measurable medium-term and and long-term implications of government procurement commitments to U.S. exporters;

2. Identify priority foreign countries, taking into account the number and pervasiveness of the acts, policies, or practices included in the report and the level of U.S. exports of goods and services that could reasonably be expected if a country fully implemented its trade agreements, based on the international competitive position of such products and services; and

3. Estimate the amount by which U.S. exports would have increased during the preceding calendar year if those barriers and practices did not exist.

A report to Congress by USTR is required on the identification of priority countries and practices and on the trade estimates.

Within 21 days of filing the report with Congress, USTR must initiate sec. 301 investigations with respect to all the priority practices identified in the report for each of the priority countries. Investigations may be initiated for other priority practices.

During the consultations with a priority foreign country, the USTR must seek to negotiate an agreement which provides for: (a) the elimination of, or compensation for, the priority practices identified by the USTR, within 3 years of the date on which the investigation was initiated; and (b) the reduction of those practices over a 3-year period, with the expectation that U.S. exports to that country will, as a result, increase incrementally during each of the 3 years. An investigation must be suspended if an agreement is reached within the time limits prescribed generally. If the USTR determines that a foreign country is not in compliance with an agreement entered into under this section, he must continue the sec. 301 investigation which was suspended as a result of the agreement, applying the same time limits for investigation that were applicable prior to suspension. Sec. 301 provisions relating to USTR determinations and action apply. The USTR is not required to take action when any of the exceptions to action under sec. 301 apply.

The USTR must submit a report to Congress annually, beginning in 1990, which includes the following information: (a) revised estimates of the amount by which U.S. exports to a country would have increased in the absence of its identified priority practices; (b) in the case of a country that has entered into an agreement, evidence that demonstrates (in the form of increased U.S. exports during the previous year) that substantial progress has been made toward the goal of eliminating the priority practices; (c) in the case of a country that has not entered into or not complied with an agreement, evidence that demonstrates (in the form of increased U.S. exports) the elimination of the priority practices; and (d) to the extent that evidence under (b) and (c) above cannot be provided, a description of the actions taken by the USTR under sec. 301 to eliminate the priority practices. The USTR may exclude any previously identified foreign country from the report in any calendar year after 1993 if, for the 2 previous years, the report demonstrated that all of the country's priority practices have been eliminated.

IV. IMPORT RELIEF UNDER THE ESCAPE CLAUSE (SEC. 201 REFORM)

A. Reforms sec. 201 of the Trade Act of 1974 to encourage efforts by domestic industries to undertake actions to make a positive adjustment to import competition.

1. Defines "positive adjustment" as when (1) the domestic industry is able to compete successfully with imports after termination of action, or the domestic industry experiences an orderly transfer of resources to more productive pursuits, and (2) dislocated workers experience an orderly transition to productive pursuits.

2. Encourages petitioner to submit, at any time prior to the ITC injury determination, a plan to promote positive adjustment to import competition.

3. Provides petitioner with an opportunity to consult with other members of the domestic industry and with government officials concerning appropriate steps to facilitate positive adjustment. Authorizes firms and workers to submit individually, on a confidential basis, commitments regarding their individual steps to promote positive adjustment.

B. Provisional relief.—

1. Authorizes emergency import relief for perishable agricultural products within 28 days after filing a petition if the ITC has monitored imports for at least 90 days and the ITC makes an affirmative preliminary injury determination.

2. Requires ITC monitoring of lamb imports for 2 years and authorizes emergency import relief for perishable agricultural products within 28 days after filing a petition if the ITC has monitored imports for at least 90 days and the ITC makes an affirmative preliminary injury determination.

3. Authorizes provisional import relief within 127 days after a petition is filed if ITC makes an affirmative injury determination and also determines that critical circumstances exist.

C. ITC investigation and procedures.—

1. Requires ITC to make its injury determination and, when appropriate, its critical circumstances determination, within 120 days of petition (30-day extension authorized for extraordinarily complicated cases).

2. Requires ITC, in defining the domestic industry and determing serious injury, to consider only domestic production facilities.

3. Requires ITC, in determining threat of serious injury, to consider a decline in market share, diversions, and inability to maintain existing levels of R & D expenditures.

4. Clarifies that, in determining whether imports are a substantial cause of serious injury, ITC shall consider industry conditions over the relevant business cycle and shall not aggregate the causes of declining demand associated with a recession into a single cause of injury.

5. Clarifies that the ITC remedy recommendation will be based only on the recommendations of ITC Commissioners who voted affirmative on injury; however, other Commissioners may submit separate views on the issue of remedy.

6. Provides that, if ITC makes an affirmative injury finding, it shall recommend the action that would address the injury and be the most effective in facilitating efforts by the domestic industry to make a positive adjustment; such recommended action must be either tariffs, tariff-rate quota, quantitative restriction, adjustment measures, or a combination thereof.

7. Requires expedited consideration of TAA petitions from all workers and firms in the domestic industry subject to an affirmative injury finding by ITC.

8. Requires ITC remedy recommendation and report to the President within 6 months of petition.

D. Presidential action.—

1. Within 60 days of the ITC report, the President shall take all appropriate and feasible action within his power which he determines will facilitate efforts by the domestic industry to make a positive adjustment and will provide greater economic and social benefits than costs. Any import relief provided may not exceed the amount necessary to prevent or remedy the serious injury.

2. In determining what action is appropriate, the President is required to consider a number of factors, including the adjustment plan (if any), individual commitments, probable effectiveness of action to promote positive adjustment, other factors related to the national economic interest, and the national security interest.

3. Expands the actions authorized to be taken by the President to include import relief, adjustment measures, auctioned quotas, orderly marketing agreements, international negotiations, legislative proposals, and any other action within his power.

4. Authorizes action to be taken for up to 8 years (if action is for less than 8 years, authorizes an extension so that total action is for no more than 8 years).

E. Post-investigation action.—

1. Requires ITC to monitor developments in the industry, including efforts by the domestic industry to adjust, and to report thereon every 2 years. Authorizes the President to request ITC advice on probable economic effects of any proposed reduction, modification, or termination of action.

2. Authorizes the President, after 2 years have lapsed, to reduce, modify, or terminate action if either (1) the domestic industry requests it on the basis that it has made a positive adjustment, or (2) the President determines that changed circumstances warrant such reduction, modification, or termination.

3. Requires ITC to evaluate and report on the effectiveness of the action after its termination.

4. Prohibits a subsequent investigation with respect to the same product if import relief is provided, for a period of time equivalent to the period of import relief granted.

V. TRADE ADJUSTMENT ASSISTANCE

A. Eligibility expansion to secondary workers.—

1. Expands eligibility to otherwise qualified workers or firms that supply essential goods (parts, materials, or components) or essential services to directly affected firms for their production of articles like or directly competitive with increased imports; effective 3 years after date of enactment if an import fee is imposed within 2 years.

2. Expands eligibility of workers in the oil and gas industry (exploration and drilling); effective on date of enactment and retroactively to workers laid off after Sept. 30, 1985 covered by a certified petition filed within 90 days after enactment.

B. Supplemental wage allowance.—

1. Requires Department of Labor to establish a demonstration project to evaluate supplemental wage allowances as an option for workers qualifed for trade readjustment allowances (TRA) who take a a new full-time job paying less than their previous job.

2. The Secretary must submit a report to Congress evaluating the results, with recommendations.

C. Separation from employment.—Specifies that the most recent separation from employment shall be used for determining the beginning of a worker's eligibility period. Applies on enactment and retroactively to workers who were separated from employment between Aug. 13, 1981, and Apr. 7, 1986, if they have been continuously unemployed since original layoff and are enrolled in training.

D. Training requirement.—Requires training as a condition for receiving weekly cash (TRA) benefits unless training is not feasible or appropriate. Effective on enactment for workers certified eligible on or after that date.

E. Breaks in training.—Treats workers as participating in approved training and eligible for TRA benefits while in training during any training break of less than 2 weeks if the break is provided under such training program (e.g., semester breaks).

F. Training cost entitlement.—

1. Removes the appropriation limitation and requires the Secretary of Labor to approve training for a worker if the five criteria in present law are met, plus a new sixth criteria requiring training to be appropriate for suitable employment and available at a reasonable cost. Fourth criteria would require that approved training be "reasonably" available. Approval entitles the worker to payment of the cost directly or through a voucher system, except that the total annual training cost entitlement would be capped at $80 million. Appropriated entitlement from general revenues until 1 year after import fee goes into effect. Effective on enactment for workers certified eligible on or after that date.

2. Remedial education is among the options for approved training; costs of on-the-job training must be paid in 12 equal monthly installments.

G. Trust Fund.—Establishes a trust fund consisting of revenues from an import fee to go into effect if and when the import fee is imposed; in the meantime the worker and firm TAA programs are funded from general revenues.

H. Import fee.—

1. President must seek GATT agreement and agreement of parties to bilateral free trade areas to permit imposition by countries of a small uniform duty on all imports (with limited exceptions) to fund TAA-type programs. The fee could not exceed program cost, up to a maximum level of 0.15 percent ad valorem.

2. Provides 2 years for negotiations to seek agreement. If the negotiations are successful, the fee would be imposed. If the negotiations are not successful, the President would decide whether the implementation of the fee was in the national economic interest. If he decides that the fee is not in the national economic interest, he would not implement the fee, but instead would report to the Congress on his decision and the reasons. The Congress would then have 90 days to pass a "fast-track" joint resolution disapproving the President's decision. This joint resolution could be vetoed, in which case the Congress would then have an override vote. If the override is successful, the fee would be implemented.

I. Program administration.—

1. Commingling of funds. Permits partial payment of TAA training costs from other Federal and State funds; permits training approval and total or partial nonreimbursable payment of training costs from private sources (subject to any wages received being deducted and nonreimbursable from TRA benefits); effective on date of enactment.

2. Benefit information. Strengthens and expands State agency benefit information and notice requirments, effective on date of enactment.

3. Coordination. Provides for coordination at the State level of the administration of training and other employment services between worker TAA and the dislocated worker program of the Job Training Partnership Act.

J. Extends worker and firm TAA program authorization for 2 years, from Sept. 30, 1991 to Sept. 30, 1993.

VI. MARKET DISRUPTION BY IMPORTS FROM COMMUNIST COUNTRIES

Amends sec. 406 of the Trade Act of 1974 to define the terms "rapidly" and "significantly cause" and to clarify the factors which ITC is to consider in determining market disruption.

VII. AMENDMENTS TO THE ANTIDUMPING AND COUNTERVAILING DUTY LAWS

A. Subsidy provisions.—

1. Clarifies the application of the countervailing duty law to domestic subsidies by requiring that the Commerce Department base its determination on whether a particular subsidy is in fact bestowed upon a specific industry or group of industries, or instead is bestowed upon industries in general.

2. Clarifies the application of the antidumping and countervailing duty laws to "leases equivalent to sales."

3. Requires cumulation of all subsidies provided to members of an international consortium.

4. Requires subsidies provided for a raw agricultural product to be deemed as subsidies provided for a processed agricultural product if certain conditions are met.

5. Clarifies that USTR has authority to revoke the injury test for any country that violates a Subsidies Code commitment to the U.S. Also requires USTR to review and report on Subsidies Code commitments by foreign countries, including compliance issues and policy recommendations for U.S. commitments policy.

B. Dumping provisions.—

1. Amends the antidumping law with respect to imports from nonmarket economy countries so that "foreign market value" would be determined using a constructed value methodology in which factors of production are valued from the best available information in a market economy country or countries. If adequate information is not available, the foreign market value may be based on export prices of such or similar merchandise from a market economy country or countries.

2. Establishes new procedures for domestic industries to request USTR to apply for antidumping actions by foreign countries as authorized under Article 12 of the GATT Antidumping Code when third-country dumping injures a U.S. industry.

3. Clarifies authority for Commerce, in antidumping investigations involving constructed value, to disregard actual prices between related parties for purchases of an input, and instead use a reasonable estimate of the cost of production for such input.

4. Clarifies that different home market price movements for different forms of a product subject to an antidumping duty order may establish a fictitious market.

5. Limits the circumstances under which Commerce may institute expedited reviews of dumping determinations under sec. 736(c).

6. Requires expedited antidumping investigations of short life cycle products involving multiple offenders (2 or more dumping margins of 15 percent or more within an 8-year period).

C. Material injury provisions.—

1. Authorizes ITC to include producers or growers of a raw agricultural product as part of the domestic industry producing the processed product if certain conditions are met.

2. Clarifies that ITC is required, in determining material injury, to consider each of the specified factors in every case, and to explain its analysis of each factor. Clarifies that ITC is to consider price underselling, which does not require evidence of predatory pricing.

3. Clarifies that ITC should consider various economic factors in the context of the business cycle and conditions of competition relevant to the domestic industry.

4. Requires ITC to consider ability of domestic producers to develop and produce subsequent generations of a product; dumping findings in other GATT countries with respect to the same merchandise; and product-shifting between raw and processed agricultural products.

5. Authorizes ITC to cumulate imports from two or more countries in determining threat of material injury. Provides a limited exception to mandatory cumulation with respect to negligible imports and imports from Israel.

D. Miscellaneous provisions.—

1. Authorizes Commerce to prevent circumvention of antidumping or countervailing duty orders through assembly or finishing operations in the U.S. or in third countries, or through minor alterations of merchandise or later-developed products. Provides for consultations between Commerce and ITC in certain circumstances on whether inclusion of the merchandise is consistent with the ITC injury finding.

2. Authorizes restrictions on steel imports from non-VRA countries or insular possessions if the steel was melted and poured in a VRA country, in order to prevent circumvention of steel VRAs. Also authorizes USTR to take such actions as necessary to enforce "third country equity" provisions of steel VRAs.

3. Provides new procedures to monitor imports of downstream products to assist in identifying the diversionary impact of significant antidumping and countervailing duties on major materials or parts.

4. Clarifies procedures for Commerce to determine critical circumstances and amends standard by which ITC determines critical circumstances.

5. Requires any person submitting factual information in a proceeding to certify that such information is accurate and complete to the best of that person's knowledge. Amends procedures for disclosure of business proprietary information under administrative protective order in proceedings before Commerce and ITC. Requires Commerce to establish procedures for correction of ministerial errors.

6. Prohibits antidumping and countervailing duties paid on imported merchandise from being eligible for refund under drawback provisions. Provides that U.S. Government purchases of imported merchandise are not exempt from antidumping or countervailing duties, with a limited exception for certain merchandise imported by the Defense Department.

7. Requires a study of market-oriented reforms being undertaken by the People's Republic of China and their implications for application of U.S. trade laws.

VIII. INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS

A. Improves the effectiveness of intellectual property protection under sec. 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930:

1. Eliminates the injury requirement in intellectual property rights cases. (The domestic industry requirement is retained with an expanded definition.)

2. Shortens time period for issuance of temporary exclusion orders to 90 days after initiation (extension of 60 days permitted for more complicated cases.)

3. Clarifies that cease and desist orders may be issued "in addition to or in lieu" of exclusion orders and increases the maximum penalty for violations of such orders to $100,000 or twice the domestic value of the articles.

4. Provides for the ITC to use default procedures against persons who have been served with notice of proceedings and fail to appear to answer complaint in cases where petitioner seeks relief solely affecting that person. A general exclusion order may be issued by default if no respondent contests the investigation and violation is established.

5. In cases where a party previously found to be in violation petitions the ITC, the burden of proof that he is no longer in violation is on the petitioner and relief may be granted only on the basis of new evidence or on other grounds permissible under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

6. Provides procedures for treating confidential information submitted in sec. 337 cases.

7. Explicitly authorizes the ITC to issue consent orders as the basis of settlement agreements.

8. Allows the ITC to prescribe sanctions for abuse of discovery and abuse of process.

9. Authorizes the ITC to order seizure and forfeiture of goods subject to an exclusion order if an attempt has been made to import the goods and the owner or importer has been notified that a further attempt to enter the goods would lead to seizure and forfeiture.

B. Creates a mechanism (relating to piracy and market access) to improve international intellectual property rights protection through identification by the USTR of foreign property countries and self-initiation of sec. 301 investigations. Sec. 301 procedures apply generally in such investigations, except that a decision by USTR on whether or not to act is required within 6 months of initiation, with a possible 3 month extension in exceptional circumstances. If the USTR determines action is warranted under sec. 301, requires implementation within 30 days of an affirmative determination, or 4 months in exceptional circumstances.

IX. TRADE AGENCY FUNCTIONS

A. U.S. Trade Representative.—Specifies that the USTR has primary responsibility for developing and coordinating implementation of international trade policy, international trade negotiations, and trade policy guidance, and is principal trade spokesman; the USTR must consult and be advised by the interagency trade organization. Specifies USTR functions for coordinating interagency resources to deal with unfair trade practices.

Expresses the sense of Congress that the USTR should be the senior representative on any body the President establishes dealing predominantly with international trade matters and should be a participant in all meetings where international trade is a major topic.

Specifies the agency membership of the statutory interagency trade organization, chaired by the USTR, to assist the President to specifically include development and implementation of U.S. trade policy objectives.

B. U.S. International Trade Commission.—

1. Designates the ITC as an "independent regulatory agency" for purposes of the Paperwork Reduction Act.
2. Provides that, indetermining eligibility for the ITC chairmanship, all of a Commissioner's service shall be taken into account, including prior terms of service.
3. Allows the ITC not to release confidential business information to the President or the Congress in sec. 332 investigations without the consent of the affected party.

X. MISCELLANEOUS TRADE LAW PROVISIONS

A. Caribbean Basin Initiative.—

1. Sets forth findings regarding the economic and political importance of the region and expresses intent of the Congress to ensure a strengthening of the trade elements of the CBI and that trade law changes not unduly affect the CBI program or discriminate against CBI imports.
2. Authorizes the President to withdraw, suspend or limit duty-free treatment on particular articles under the CBI in lieu of removing country beneficiary status.
3. Adds "grandfather" provision for two Caribbean-owned ethanol facilities and extends the grandfather period to all eligible companies until Dec. 31, 1989, at a level of 20 million gallons per plant per calendar year. Requests ITC and GAO studies to recommend appropriate feedstock requirements.

B. Extends until Oct. 31, 1989, the President's authority to implement U.S. obligations under the International Coffee Agreement.

C. Expresses the sense of the Congress that the objectives of the 1983 Joint Policy Statement on Energy Cooperation, as it relates to U.S. exports of coal to Japan, have not been achieved. Urges the President to direct the USTR, in negotiating a steel trade arrangement with Japan, to take into account the amount of coal that Japan purchases from the United States in determining the level of steel products that can be imported into the United States. Requires report to Congress by Nov. 1, 1988.

D. Expresses the sense of the Congress that the Congress strongly supports current talks to increase opportunities for U.S. automobile parts producers to supply parts for Japanese automobiles; determines that the success of such talks will be measured in part by a significant increase in U.S. sales; and directs the Administration to report to Congress on the talks and on any agreements reached.

E. Requires one-time study of auto-producing countries' barriers to auto imports and the impact of such barriers, both in the presence and absence of the U.S.-Japan voluntary restraint agreements, on diverting auto imports into the U.S. markets.

F. Requires the USTR to request all relevant agencies to prepare appropriate recommendations for improving the enforcement of restrictions on Cuban imports.

G. Eliminates requirement for 48-hour delay in release of trade data based on the f.a.s. value of imports, following release of trade data based on the c.i.f. value of imports. Require Census Bureau study within one year on the feasibility of developing and publishing an index to measure and report the real volume of U.S. merchandise trade on a monthly basis.

H. Requires USTR and Treasury jointly to prepare and submit annually to the Committees on Ways and Means and Finance a comprehensive report on specified trade and economic indicators, with projections and conclusions.

I. Requires that monthly and cumulative reports on the U.S. merchandise trade balance be reported on a constant dollar basis (i.e., adjusted for inflation), as well as on a current dollar basis.

J. Repeals excise tax imposed on windfall profits on crude oil.

XI. NATIONAL SECURITY IMPORT RELIEF

A. Amends sec. 232 of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 to require the Secretary of Commerce to report to the President within 270 days of initiating an investigation.

B. Requires the Secretary of Commerce to consult with the Secretary of Defense regarding the methodological and policy questions raised by the investigation; and requires the Secretary of Defense, upon request of the Commerce Secretary, to provide defense requirements with respect to the article under investigation.

C. Requires the President to decide, within 90 days of receiving the Commerce Secretary's report, on whether to take action and if so to proclaim such action within 15 days.

D. Requires the President to report to Congress within 30 days on the action taken and reasons for such action.

E. Authorizes the enforcement of the quantitative restrictions negotiated with respect to machine tool imports.

XII. TELECOMMUNICATIONS

Provides specific negotiating authority and remedies to address lack of foreign market openness in telecommunications trade.

A. Requires USTR investigation, within 5 months, of priority foreign countries, taking into account a number of factors for identifying such countries, including the nature and significance of the acts, policies, and practices that deny mutually advantageous market opportunities. USTR may add or drop countries from the priority list, taking into account the same factors used for original identification of countries.

B. Requires the President to negotiate and to establish specific, country-by-country negotiating objectives necessary to meet certain general objectives applicable to negotiations with all countries. After consulting with industry, labor, and Congress, the President may modify specific negotiating objectives in response to changed circumstances. Requires report to Congress.

C. If no agreement is reached, requires the President to take whatever actions authorized in the bill are appropriate and most likely to achieve the general objectives, as defined by the specific objectives established by the President for the individual country. Action must be taken within a time certain (18 months to 3½ years depending upon a Presidential decision as to progress being made in negotiations). A broad range of possible options for action is available to the President. The President may modify or terminate any action taken, subject to certain considerations.

D. USTR is required to conduct annual reviews to determine if a country has violated a telecommunications trade agreement or otherwise denies mutually advantageous market opportunities. In the case of an affirmative determination, it shall be treated as a trade agreement violation under sec. 301.

E. Provides negotiating authority concomitant with the general trade agreement authority provided in the bill (until 1993). Compensation authority is granted, in the event that action taken is GATT-illegal. Defines telecommunications products, and specifies that nothing in the act shall be construed to require action inconsistent with U.S. international obligations.

F. Requires the FCC to submit to Congress certain data made public, relating to foreign sales of telecommunications equipment in the U.S. market. Requires the Secretary of Commerce, in consultation with the FCC and USTR, to conduct a study within 1 year of the competitiveness of the U.S. telecommunications industry and to submit findings and recommendations to Congress.

XIII. TARIFF AND CUSTOMS PROVISIONS

Includes over 100 miscellaneous tariff and trade provisions covering duty suspensions, duty-free measures, classification changes and customs-related nontariff matters. In addition to the many provisions affecting the tariff status of particular articles, there are provisions to repeal the existing prohibition on the importation of Soviet furskins; to implement the Nairobi Protocol of the Florence Agreement; to provide for statutory and regulatory control of duty-free sales enterprises; and to increase the penalty for intentional mismarking of the country of origin on imported goods.

Trade and Foreign Policy

I. RELATIONS WITH MEXICO

Endorses the recently negotiated bilateral framework agreement between the United States and Mexico on trade and investment, and urges the President to pursue consultations under the agreement to expand mutually beneficial trade and investment.

II. SILKWORM MISSILES

Expresses sense of the Congress that other nations should cease transfers of offensive weapons to belligerents in the Persian Gulf.

III. FAIR TRADE IN AUTO PARTS

A. Directs the Commerce Secretary to establish an initiative to increase the sale of Japanese markets of auto parts and acessories made in the U.S.

B. Requires the Secretary to report annually to Congress on sales of U.S.-made auto parts to Japan.

C. Creates a Special Advisory Committee to assist the Secretary in carrying out the initiative.

I. EXPORT PROMOTION

A. U.S. and Foreign Commercial Service

1. Establishes in statute the United States and Foreign Commercial Service within the International Trade Administration of the Commerce Department.

2. Authorizes the Commerce Secretary to designate 8 U.S. missions overseas at which the senior Commercial Service officer may use the diplomatic title of Minister-Counselor.

3. Requires the Commerce Secretary to report to Congress an evaluation of U.S. export services and on the possible integration of the domestic and foreign export services.

B. Commercial Service Officers and MDB Procurement

1. Directs the Commerce Secretary, in consultation with the Treasury Secretary, to appoint a US&FCS officer to serve with each U.S. Executive Director to a multilateral development bank in order to promote U.S. exports and procurement from American businesses.

2. Directs the Treasury Secretary to designate a MDB procurement officer in Treasury.

C. Market Development Cooperator Program, Trade Shows, and Other New Export Initiatives

1. Authorizes the Commerce Secretary to establish a market development cooperator to develop foreign markets for American nonagricultural exports through joint government-private sector cooperation.

2. Authorizes the Commerce Secretary to create a partnership program in which individuals from the private sector serve with Commercial Service officers overseas in market development.

3. Authorizes the Commerce Secretary to provide assistance for trade shows in the U.S., and to encourage participation in such trade shows by U.S. small businesses.

4. Authorizes a total of $6 million in fiscal years 1988 and 1989 for these activities.

5. In addition, directs the Commerce Secretary to create a pilot Commercial Service program to promote U.S. exports to Japan, Korea and Taiwan; and authorizes the Commerce Secretary to provide assistance for exports of authentic American Indian arts and crafts.

D. Export Promotion Data System

Establishes within the Commerce Department, as part of the National Trade Data Bank, the export promotion data system to provide U.S. exporters timely and accurate data on business opportunities overseas.

E. Export Trade Companies

Directs the Commerce Department to establish a program to encourage the formation of other export intermediaries, and requires the Commerce Secretary to report to Congress on progress in this effort.

II. EXPORT CONTROLS

A. Streamlines Licensing Requirements

1. Eliminates licenses for export to COCOM (NATO plus Japan, except Iceland) countries of goods which can currently be exported to the People's Republic of China without multilateral approval (PRC greenline level).

2. Requires within 3 months that COCOM countries with effective export control systems be certified to eliminate licensing requirements to such designated countries (such countries also subject to only limited mandatory U.S. sanctions for future export control violations).

3. Eliminates licenses for exports to the Free World of goods which can currently be exported to controlled countries without multilateral approval (AEN level). Commerce and would advise the Secretary regarding the operation of the Trade Data Bank.

4. Eliminates unilateral reexport licenses for COCOM countries, and for U.S. parts and components incorporated into foreign-made goods when U.S. content is 25 percent or less, with certain exceptions.

5. Requires annual reviews of technical performance thresholds, and provides a mechanism for exporters to petition for review of goods eligible for export under such categories.

B. Reduces the Control List

1. Decontrols low-level technology (below AEN) worldwide, except for goods which COCOM agrees to maintain notification requirements.

2. Clarifies existing embedded microprocessor provision that goods are to be controlled on the basis of overall functional characteristics and not solely on component parts, thereby easing restrictions on most medical equipment.

3. Eliminates unilateral national security controls unless negotiations are underway to achieve multilateral control, or the item is unique to the United States.

4. Directs National Academy of Sciences to conduct follow-up study to examine the current export control system and make recommendations for regulatory and legislative reforms.

C. Provides Dispute Resolution Mechanisms and Improved Administration

1. Provides timetables for resolution of disputes on license applications and inclusion of items on the control list.

2. Clarifies that basis of DOD's review is limited to national security, not foreign policy, considerations, and requires the Secretaries of Commerce and Defense to evaluate and jointly report to Congress on Department of Defense's review of exports to non-controlled destinations.

3. Provides limited judicial review for civil penalties and temporary denial orders.

4. Prohibits user fees for processing export license applications.

5. Permits industry advisors to the U.S. Delegation to COCOM, and provides for Commerce Department consultation with industry technical advisory committees (TACs) on list review.

D. Clarifies and Expands Foreign Availability Procedures

1. Establishes a maximum of 9 months for foreign availability determinations.

2. Provides for decontrol and expedited licensing of goods available in Western countries (West- West foreign availability).

3. Authorizes additional funds to the Department of Commerce to carry out foreign availability functions.

E. Expands Trade With the People's Republic of China

1. Authorizes the use of distribution licenses for multiple exports to the People's Republic of China.

2. Presumption of approval for licenses for U.S. exporters to display products at trade shows in the PRC, so long as the exporter retains title.

F. Strengthens Enforcement of Export Controls

1. Authorizes Secretary of Commerce to bar persons convicted of export control violations from receiving export licenses.

2. Extends the effective period for temporary denial orders to 180 days.

3. Prohibits Customs Service from detaining for more than 20 days goods which are eligible for export under a general license.

G. Authorization of Appropriations/Termination Date

1. Authorizes $46,913,000 for export administration functions for fiscal year 1989.

2. Extends the authorization date for the EAA by 1 year to Sept. 30, 1990.

H. Permits Crude Oil Exports to Canada Under Free Trade Agreement

1. Permits exports of up to 50,000 barrels per day of Alaskan crude oil to Canada pursuant to approval of the U.S.-Canada Free Trade Agreements.

2. Requires Secretary of Commerce in consultation with Secretary of Energy to study whether existing restrictions on crude oil exports in the United States are adequate to protect U.S. national security and energy interests.

I. Controls on Export of Refined Petroleum Products From Alaska

A new refinery constructed in Alaska which refines Alaskan crude is prohibited from exporting more than 50 percent of annual output of refined petroleum products (except ethane, butane and propane), excluding sales to U.S. military bases and U.S. flag airlines. In no case may more than 70,000 barrels per day be exported.

J. Enforcement of Multilateral Export Controls

1. Retroactive Sanctions on Toshiba and Kongsberg:

Mandatory 3 year sanctions against Toshiba Machine, Kongsberg Trade, and other guilty parties: (1) prohibition on USG contracting and procurement; (2) prohibition on importation.

Mandatory 3 year sanction against the parent corporations: (1) prohibition on USG contracting and procurement.

Limited exceptions: (national security, spare parts, component parts, routine servicing and maintenance, information and technology, and contracts signed prior to June 30, 1987).

2. Prospective Sanctions for Future Violations:

(a) Mandatory Sanctions

Mandatory sanctions for 2-5 years against any foreign person (including the parent, subsidiaries, successors, and affiliates) if the President determines that a COCOM violation has occurred that has had a serious adverse effect on the strategic balance of forces.

Sanctions are debarment from USG contrating and prohibition on importation.

Limited exceptions (same as above).

Sanctions on all but the guilty party may be limited by the President under specified circumstances; however, the President may not waive the USG contracting and procurement ban on the parent for at least 2 years.

In the case of countries the President determines had an effective export control system in effect at the time of the violation, sanctions shall not be applied to any but the guilty party.

The President shall initiate discussions with the guilty party and its government for compensation by the company in an amount proportionate to the increased costs to the U.S. and allied governments for R&D and procurement of new defensive systems.

(b) Discretionary Sanctions

Similar sanctions could be applied on a discretionary basis in cases which did not have a serious adverse impact on the strategic balance of forces.

3. Other provisions:

Annual reports of the President on costs of illegal technology transfers.

Negotiating objectives for improved multilateral cooperation.

EXPORT ENHANCEMENT

I. COMMERCIAL PERSONNEL AT THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF TAIWAN

Directs the American Institute of Taiwan to employ a number of personnel commensurate with the number of U.S. Commercial Service personnel at the U.S. mission in Seoul, South Korea.

II. COUNTRY REPORTS ON ECONOMIC POLICIES AND TRADE PRACTICES

Requires the Secretary of State to prepare and submit to Congress an annual report, comparable to the annual human rights report, on the economic policies and trade practices of U.S. trading partners, including their macroeconomic policies, debt status, export subsidies, intellectual property protection, and their laws and practices relating to worker rights.

III. OVERSEAS PRIVATE INVESTMENT CORPORATION

Raises overall ceiling on OPIC's loan guarantee program from $750 million to $1 billion.

Raises annual minimum loan guarantee program from $150 million to $200 million.

Raises annual minimum direct investment fund from $15 million to $25 million.

Requires detailed justification for worker rights determinations on OPIC projects in the PRC.

IV. TRADE AND DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Codifies TDP's status as independent agency within International Development Cooperation Agency.

Requires an annual report to Congress on TDP's activities.

Creates an advisory board, including respresentatives from international engineering and construction industry associations.

Earmarks for TDP at least an additional $5 million but not more than $10 million in each of fiscal years 1988 and 1989, to be taken in equal amounts from AID's Private Enterprise Revolving Fund and ESF.

Authorizes an additional $10 million in fiscal year 1988 and 1989 for education and training programs with particular emphasis on training nationals from the PRC and Taiwan; of this $10 million, 50 percent shall be made available only for programs administered by U.S. small businesses.

Transfers to TDP responsibility for the foreign assistance portion of the tied aid credits program under the Trade and Development Enhancement Act.

Authorizes the TDP Director, with concurrence of the Secretary of State, to use ESF funds for the tied aid credits program.

V. COUNTERTRADE

Establishes an interagency group on countertrade and offsets, chaired by the Commerce Secretary, to review U.S. policy on countertrade, and to monitor foreign countertrade activities.

Creates within the Commerce Department an Office of Barter to monitor information on international barter and provide assistance to enterprises seeking barter opportunities.

VI. PROTECTION OF U.S. INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

Encourages Secretary of State to seek to strengthen intellectual property protection overseas.

VII. REGISTRATION FEES FOR MUNITIONS CONTROLS

Directs that $100,000 in arms export control license fees be credited annually to a State Department account to automate the licensing system.

VIII. WORKER RIGHTS REPORT

Directs Agriculture Secretary to donate surplus feed grains for sale in Poland; proceeds to be used by nongovernment agencies for specified projects in Poland.

Authorizes up to $2 million to provide medical supplies and hospital equipment to Poland through PVO's.

Creates joint United States-Polish Commission to oversee provision of U.S. aid to Poland.

INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL POLICY

I. EXCHANGE RATES AND INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC POLICY COORDINATION

A. Findings: The act includes findings that the macroeconomic policies, including the exchange rate policies, of the leading industrialized countries require increased coordination; that currency values have a major role in determining the patterns of production and trade in the world economy; that the rise of the dollar in the early 1980's contributed substantially to the current U.S. trade deficit; and that a more stable exchange rate for the dollar at a level consistent with a more appropriate and sustainable balance in the U.S. current account should be a major focus of national economic policy.

B. Statement of Policy: The act states it to be U.S. policy that the U.S. and the other major industrialized nations should take steps to continue the process of coordinating monetary, fiscal and structural policies initiated in the Plaza Agreement of September 1985; that the goal of the U.S. in international economic negotiations should be to achieve macroeconomic policies and exchange rates consistent with more appropriate and sustainable balances in trade and capital flows; that the U.S., in close coordination with the other major industrialized countries should participate in international currency markets with the objectives of producing more orderly adjustments and, in combination with macroeconomic policy changes, assisting adjustments toward a more appropriate and sustainable balance in current accounts.

C. International Negotiations on Exchange Rates and Economic Policies:

1. Multilateral Negotiations: The President shall seek to confer and negotiate with other countries to achieve better coordination of macroeconomic policies of the major industrialized countries; more appropriate and sustainable levels of trade and current account balances, and exchange rates of the dollar and other currencies consistent with such balances; and to develop a program for improving mechanisms for coordination and improving the functioning of the exchange rate system.

2. Bilateral Negotiations: The Secretary of the Treasury shall analyze on an annual basis the exchange rate policies of foreign countries, in consultation with the IMF, and consider whether countries manipulate the rate of exchange between their currency and the U.S. dollar for purposes of preventing effective balance of payments adjustments or gaining unfair competitive advantage in international trade. If the Secretary considers that such manipulation is occurring with respect to countries that have material global current account surpluses and significant bilateral trade surpluses with the U.S., the Secretary will initiate negotiations with such countries, in the IMF or bilaterally, to ensure that such countries regularly and promptly adjust the rate of exchange between their currencies and the U.S. dollar to permit effective balance of payments adjustments and to eliminate the unfair advantage.

3. Reporting Requirements: The Treasury Secretary shall submit a written report on international economic policy, including exchange rate policy, to the House and Senate Banking Committees on or before Oct. 15 of each year, as well as a written update of developments 6 months after the initial report. The report will include an analysis of currency market developments and the relationship between the U.S. dollar and the currencies of our major trade competitors; an evaluation of the factors in the U.S. and other economies that underlie conditions in the currency markets, including developments in bilateral trade and capital flows; a description of currency intervention or other actions undertaken to adjust the actual exchange rate of the dollar; an assessment of the impact of the exchange rate of the U.S. dollar on: the ability of the U.S. to maintain a more appropriate and sustainable balance in its current account and merchandise trade account, the international competitive performance of U.S. industries, and the external indebtedness of the United States; recommendations for any changes necessary in U.S. economic policy to attain a more appropriate and sustainable balance in the current account.

II. INTERNATIONAL DEBT PROVISIONS

A. International Debt Management Authority:

1. Provides for the Secretary of the Treasury to study the feasibility and advisability of establishing the multilateral financial authority described in the section. Unless he determines that initiation of such discussions would carry a material risk of reducing the value of the debt, disrupting debt service, or causing defaults, the Secretary will initiate discussions with industrialized and developing countries on the establishment of the authority. The Secretary will submit interim reports on the progress being made on the study or discussions 6 months and 12 months after the date of enactment of the act, as well as a final report upon the conclusion of the study or discussions.

2. The authority would undertake to purchase sovereign debt of less developed countries from private creditors at an appropriate discount and enter into negotiations with the debtor countries to restructure the debt in order to ease the debt service burden and provide opportunities for increased economic growth; any loan restructuring assistance, provided by the authority should involve commitments by the debtor country to the preparation of an economic management plan calculated to provide sustained economic growth; and support for the authority should come particularly from industrialized countries with large current account surpluses.

B. World Bank-IMF Review of International Debt Problem: The U.S. executive directors to the World Bank and the IMF will request those institutions to prepare a review and analysis of the debt burden of the developing countries, including consideration of the various alternatives for dealing with the debt problem.

C. Regulatory Provisions Affecting International Debt:

1. Sense of the Congress resolutions on: Regulatory objectives for Federal banking agencies for banks with loans to heavily indebted developing countries; flexibility in debt restructuring; recapitalization by banks with loans to debtor countries; and appropriate levels of reserves for loan losses by banks engaged in lending to heavily indebted developing countries.

2. Data on Banks Foreign Loan Risks: Amends the International Lending Supervision Act of 1983 to require the Federal banking agencies to submit an annual report on the level of loan exposure of banking instituuions to loans which are rated "value impaired", "substandard", "other transfer risk problems", or are placed in any other troubled debt categories established by the banking agencies.

3. Regulatory study: The Federal banking regulatory agencies will conduct a study of debt service obligations associated with sovereign debt of developing countries.

D. Study of Limited Purpose Special Drawing Rights for the Poorest Heavily Indebted Countries: The Secretary of the Treasury, in consultation with the directors and staff of the IMF, will conduct a study of the feasibility of reducing the international debt of the poorest of the heavily indebted countries through a one-time allocation by the IMF of limited purpose Special Drawing Rights to such countries.

III. MULTILATERAL DEVELOPMENT BANK PROCUREMENT

The act requires that a member of the U.S. and Foreign Commercial Service or a representative of the International Trade Administration be appointed by the Secretary of Commerce to serve as a liaison with each multilateral development bank. Each liaison shall work to increase the ability of U.S. firms to do business with each multilateral development bank.

IV. EXPORT-IMPORT BANK AND THE TIED AID CREDIT FUND

A. Tied Aid Credit Fund:

1. The act reauthorizes the Tied Aid Credit Fund, also known as the "war chest", for 1 year. The Tied Aid Credit Fund was first authorized in 1986 and is intended to provide U.S. exporters with the tools necessary to compete against predatory financing by foreign countries.

2. The act also requires the Chairman of the Export-Import Bank to work with international organizations to prepare a report on the tied aid credit practices in other countries.

B. Comparative Injury Determinations. The act requires the Export-Import Bank to be concerned about extending loans or guarantees for production of certain commodities when the product is first to be sold on the world market if it causes harm to U.S. producers. The act defines substantial injury if the loan guarantee for the production of a certain commodity will expand production in excess of 1 percent of the U.S. production of that commodity.

V. EXPORT TRADING COMPANY ACT AMENDMENT

A. Standard for Determination as an Export Trading Company:

1. The act requires that an export trading company must obtain more revenue from exporting or facilitating the export of U.S.-produced goods or services than it receives from importing goods or services into this country.

2. The act further stipulates that an export trading company must obtain at least one-third of its total revenue from exporting or facilitating the export of U.S. goods or services which are produced by persons who are not affiliated with the bank holding company that controls the export trading company.

B. Period for Determining Status as an Export Trading Company:

1. The act provides a 2 year "start up" period during which an export trading company does not have to meet the revenue test described in item A above.

2. The act also provides that the above mentioned determination period shall be for a time period of not less than 4 years and shall not begin until 2 years after the initial operations of an export trading company.

C. Leveraging Ratio: The act prohibits the Federal Reserve from disapproving an export trading company's application solely because the leveraging ratio exceeds 20:1.

D. Inventory: The act prohibits the Federal Reserve from implementing general regulations placing an across the board dollar amount limitation on the size of inventories held by export trading companies. The Federal Reserve may limit the size of an inventory of specific export trading companies if the Board finds that the size of the inventory threatens the safety and soundness of a bank.

VI. PRIMARY DEALERS IN UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT SECURITIES

The act prohibits the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System and the Federal Reserve Bank of New York from designating or permitting the continued designation of a foreign entity to be a primary dealer in U.S. government securities unless the home nation of that entity accords U.S. firms national treatment in dealing in that country's government securities. This provision takes effect 1 year after date of enactment. Exempt from the provisions of this section are primary dealers which were purchased by foreign persons prior to July 31, 1987 or which notified the Federal Reserve Bank of New York prior to July 31, 1987 that a foreign person intended to purchase such primary dealer.

VII. FINANCIAL SERVICES STUDIES

A. Reports on Foreign Treatment of U.S. Financial Service Institutions: The act provides that the Secretary of the Treasury, in conjunction with the Secretary of State, the Federal Reserve, the Comptroller of the Currency, the FDIC, the SEC, and the Department of Commerce shall report to the Congress not less than once every 4 years on the foreign countries from which foreign financial services institutions have entered the U.S. financial services market, the kinds of financial services which are being offered, the extent to which foreign countries deny national treatment to U.S. banks and securities companies, and the efforts undertaken by the U.S. to eliminate such discrimination.

B. Banks Loan Loss Reserves: Directs the Federal Reserve Board to submit a report to Congress by Mar. 31, 1989 on the issues raised by including loan loss reserves as part of banks' primary capital for regulatory purposes.

VIII. INTERNATIONAL DISCUSSIONS ON FAIR TRADE IN FINANCIAL SERVICES

The act provides that the President shall conduct discussions with the governments of countries that are major financial centers aimed at ensuring that U.S. banking organizations and securities companies have access to foreign markets and receive national treatment in those markets. After completing the discussions, the President will transmit to the Congress any recommendations that have emerged from those discussions.

Agricultural Trade

I. AGRICULTURAL TRADE POLICY

The act provides that it is the policy of the United States to provide agricultural commodities for export at competitive prices; to support the principle of free and fair trade in agricultural commodities; to support the negotiating objectives set forth in the act and to seek the elimination of barriers to agricultural trade.

II. LONG-TERM AGRICULTURAL TRADE STRATEGY REPORTS

The act requires the Secretary of Agriculture to prepare annual long-term agricultural trade strategy reports establishing policy goals for

United States agricultural trade and exports. The reports must set forth recommended levels of spending on international activities of the Department of Agriculture for 1, 5, and 10 year periods.

III. TRIGGERED MARKETING LOAN

The act requires the President to submit a certification to Congress no later than 45 days after Jan. 1, 1990, as to whether there has been significant progress toward achieving an agreement with respect to agricultural trade under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). If the President cannot certify that there has been significant progress toward reaching an agreement, the President must instruct the Secretary of Agriculture to implement a marketing loan program for the 1990 crops of wheat, feed grains and soybeans unless the President determines that the implementation of a marketing loan would harm further negotiations. If the President so determines, an expanded Export Enhancement Program must be implemented unless the implementation of such a program would be a substantial impediment to achieving an agreement under the GATT. The President is authorized to stop the implementation of either of these programs at any time if they have their intended effect, namely, they spur the GATT negotiations and the President determines that continued implementation would harm further negotiations.

IV. EXPORT ENHANCEMENT PROGRAM

The act extends the authorization for the export enhancement program (EEP) through 1990 and increases the ceiling on the value of commodities that can be used under that program from $1.5 to $2.5 billion. The act also provides that in carrying out the program, the Secretary of Agriculture may consider for participation all interested United States exporters, processors, users, and foreign purchasers, and may give priority to sales to countries that have traditionally purchased United States agricultural commodities and products.

V. TARGETED EXPORT ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

The act authorizes an increase in the level of funding for the Targeted Export Assistance Program (TEA), for 1988 from $110,000,000 to $215,000,000. This increase is subject to appropriations. The TEA program is also amended to provide discretionary authority to the Secretary of Agriculture to provide compensation for expenses incurred by trade associations in defending countervailing duty actions instituted after Jan. 1, 1986, in foreign countries.

VI. DAIRY EXPORT INCENTIVE PROGRAM

The act requires that payments in commodities under the Dairy Export Incentive Program be made in the form of generic commodity certificates. Further, if the generic commodity certificates are exchanged for dairy products, the Secretary of Agriculture must ensure that the dairy products are sold for export and that the sales do not disreplace usual United States export sales of dairy products.

VII. AGRICULTURAL TRADE WITH COUNTRIES WITH LARGE TRADE SURPLUSES

The act provides that if a country has a substantial positive trade balance with the United States, the Secretary of Agriculture, in consultation with the Secretary of State, may develop an appropriate plan under which that country may purchase United States agricultural commodities for use in development activities in developing countries.

VIII. FOREIGN AGRICULTURAL SERVICE

The act strengthens the Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) of the Department of Agriculture by providing for an overall increase in authorized appropriations for fiscal years 1988 through 1990 of $20,000,000. The increase is to be used for general market development activities, including market development efforts in developing countries, and to increase in number and quality of international trade shows. The act also provides for a minimum level of FAS personnel of 900 and calls for the designation of senior FAS officers as Minister-Counsellors.

IX. RECIPROCAL MEAT INSPECTION

The act provides that if the Secretary of Agriculture determines that a foreign country applies meat inspection standards that are not based on scientific standards, the Secretary must consult with the United States Trade Representative and they must make a recommendation to the President as to what action should be taken. The President may require that a meat article produced in the foreign country not be permitted entry into the United States unless it is determined that the meat article has met the standards applicable to meat articles in commerce within the United States.

X. TRADE WITH JAPAN

The act provides that it is the sense of Congress that the import barriers imposed by Japan on agricultural products, including rice, citrus, and beef should be removed. The provision draws an analogy between those import barriers and the barriers recently determined by a GATT panel to be inconsistent with the GATT.

XI. TRADE WITH KOREA

The act provides that it is the sense of Congress that Korea should permit greater access to its markets by United States beef producers. Further, the United States Trade Representative should aggressively pursue negotiations to gain greater access to the Korean market for United States beef and should try to achieve a reduction in beef import tariffs imposed by Korea.

XII. WOOD AND WOOD PRODUCTS

The act makes wood and wood products fully eligible for use in Public Law 480 market development projects and in the short and intermediate term export credit guarantee programs. The substitute will also establish a cooperative national forest products marketing program that is designed to improve the competitiveness of the United States forest products industry.

XIII. MARKETING ORDERS

The act provides for an additional period during which marketing order requirements could be in effect if the Secretary of Agriculture determines it is necessary to prevent circumvention of a marketing order by imports. The necessity for such additional period must be reviewed, on request, every 3 years. The additional period can be no longer than 35 days and the Secretary must take certain issues into consideration when deciding whether to establish the additional period.

XIV. IMPORTED MEAT AND POULTRY PRODUCTS

The act requires the Secretary of Agriculture, within 90 days after enactment of the Act, to submit a report to Congress specifying the planned distribution of resources of the Department of Agriculture for sampling imports of meat, poultry, and egg products to ensure compliance with the Federal Meat Inspection Act, the Poultry Products Inspection Act, and the Egg Products Inspection Act governing permitted levels of pesticide, drugs, and other residues in such products. The report must also respond to a 1987 Inspector General audit report.

XV. OTHER PROVISIONS

The act also contains a provision concerning the export credit guarantee program. The act calls for studies to be conducted concerning egg imports, rose imports, the Canadian wheat import licensing scheme, the use of intermediate export credit, dairy imports, sugar imports, and honey imports.

Investment, Competitiveness and Foreign Corrupt Practices Act Amendments

I. AMENDMENTS TO THE FOREIGN CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT

A. The FCPA was enacted in 1977 in response to disclosures of questionable and in some cases illegal foreign payments made by U.S. companies to foreign officials in order to secure export business. The 1977 Act attempted to stop corporate bribery through three basic means: (1) requiring U.S. firms to keep detailed books, records, and accounts to accurately reflect corporate payments and transactions; (2) requiring U.S. firms to institute and maintain an internal accounting system to assure management's control over the firm's assets; and (3) making it a crime to bribe foreign officials to obtain or maintain business. The evidence suggests that the FCPA has been effective. Almost from its enactment, however, certain of its provisions have been criticized for vagueness and for creating unnecessary paperwork burdens and concerns among exporters over their liabilitities for unauthorized acts of their agents.

B. In order to clarify its provisions and to alleviate unnecessary paperwork and needless concerns about criminal liability, the act agrees to amend present law to:

1. Limit criminal liability for violations of accounting standards to those who "knowingly circumvent" a system of internal accounting controls or "knowingly falsify" records kept pursuant to accounting requirements.

2. Define the "reasonable detail" in which companies must keep books, records, and accounts, and the "reasonable assurances" of management control over corporate assets as being "such level of detail and degree of assurance as would satisfy prudent officials in the conduct of their own affairs."

3. Define the responsibilities of an issuer for the accounting practices of a domestic or foreign subsidiary. An issuer's responsibility for a subsidiary's compliance with the accounting requirements (when an issuer holds 50 percent or less of the subsidiary's voting power) is discharged if the issuer proceeds in good faith to use its influence to cause its subsidiary to comply with the requirements.

4. Change the current law, which applies criminal and civil liability to firms and individuals who make payments to third parties "knowing or having a reason to know" that the payments would be used by that third party for purposes barred under the statute. The act limits liability to "knowing" violations with a definition of knowing from the House Judiciary Committee passed revisions to the U.S. Criminal Code in 96th Congress. Conferees also agreed to develop report language further clarifying the scope of the agreed statutory language definition of "knowing."

5. Include within prohibited payments those made to a foreign official to induce him to do any act in violation of the lawful duty of such officials. This conforms the foreign bribery standard to the domestic bribery standard found at 18 USC 201.

6. Clarifies that payments made to procure the performance of certain routine governmental actions by foreign officials such as processing governmental papers, or loading and unloading cargoes, and similar actions are not covered by the FCPA's prohibition on bribery.

7. Makes it an affirmative defense to the prohibition on bribery that a payment to a foreign official is lawful under the written laws and regulations of the foreign official's country. Conferees agreed to develop report language to further clarify the scope of their statutory language agreement on this item.

8. Gives companies an affirmative defense to the prohibition on bribery for payments that constitute reasonable and bona fide expenditures that are directly related to promoting products or performing contracts.

9. Provides increased penalties for criminal and civil violations of the FCPA.

10. Establishes a procedure under which the Attorney General may issue general guidelines regarding activities that would or would not conform with the Justice Department's enforcement policy regarding FCPA violations.

11. Charges the Executive Branch to pursue an international agreement with OECD countries to ban foreign bribery.

12. Repeals the Eckhardt amendment of the FCPA, thus allowing employees and agents to be prosecuted for FCPA violations even if the firm for which they work has not been found guilty of violating the Act.

13. Provides new civil subpoena authority to the Justice Department to enhance enforcement of the FCPA.

II. PRESIDENTIAL AUTHORITY WITH REGARD TO REVIEWING CERTAIN MERGERS, ACQUISITIONS, AND TAKEOVERS—THE "EXON/FLORIO" PROVISION

A. The proposed purchase earlier this year of an 80 percent share of Fairchild Semiconductor Corporation by Fujitsu, Ltd. sparked Congressional interest concerning takeovers of American firms by foreign companies which raise national security considerations. Because of concerns that the Federal Government lacked the specific authority to prevent such acquisitions, the act gives the President such authority.

B. Title VII of the Defense Production Act of 1950 (50 USC app. 2158 et seq.) is amended by adding provisions that give the President the authority, if he first makes certain findings, to take actions to suspend or prohibit any acquisition, merger, or takeover of a person engaged in interstate commerce in the United States by or with foreign persons so that such control will not threaten to impair the national security.

1. To activate this authority, the President would have to find that there is credible evidence that leads him to believe the foreign interest exercising control might take action to impair the national security and that other laws do not provide adequate authority to protect the national security in the matter.

2. The President would have to report his findings to the Congress with a detailed explanation.

3. In making any decision to exercise his authority under this provision the President may consider factors such as: (a) domestic production needed for projected national defense requirements; (b) the capability and capacity of domestic industries to meet national defense requirments; and (c) the control of domestic industries and commercial activities by foreign citizens as it affects the capability and capacity of the United States to meet the requirements of national security.

Education and Labor

Part A—Education

I. LITERACY ASSISTANCE

A. Worksite Literacy Programs: $30 million.—New $30 million authorization in fiscal year 1988 for demonstration matching grants to educational partnerships for workplace basic skills programs.

B. English Family Literacy Grants: $25 million.—$25 million discretionary grants to serve adults who are limited-English proficient.

C. Literacy Corps Assistance: $10 million.—Authorizes $10 million for each 2 years for grants to institutions of higher education to establish literacy corps programs which offer students credit for voluntary literacy tutoring.

II. EDUCATION FOR ECONOMIC SECURITY ACT

A. Reauthorization of Title II of the Education for Economic Security Act at $175 million for fiscal year 1988.—This act provides grants to local educational agencies (LEAs) and State educational agencies (SEAs) to upgrade instruction in math, science, foreign language and computer instruction.

B. Reauthorization of Title III at $20 million; additional Title III partnership program for elementary and secondary schools only.

III. FOREIGN LANGUAGE ASSISTANCE TO ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS: $20 MILLION

A. $20 million authorization for matching grants to SEAs on a per capita basis to assist LEAs in developing, improving, and implementing model programs in foreign language instruction in elementary and secondary schools.

B. Presidential Award for Language Instruction: $1 million.—Presidential awards to one elementary and one secondary teacher in each State, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico for excellence in foreign language instruction.

IV. PARTNERSHIPS FOR EXCELLENCE: $10 MILLION

Authorizes $10 million demonstration program for partnerships among LEAs, SEAs, higher education institutions, private sector, CBO's, chambers of commerce and Federal agencies to improve and enhance education. Up to 25 percent of the funds may be used for programs for the gifted and talented.

V. TECHNOLOGY

A. Star Schools: $37.5 million for fiscal year 1988.—Adds Star Schools program to Education for Economic Security Act as a new title. Provides grants to partnerships to establish telecommunications networks which provide and enhance math, science, and foreign language instruction.

B. Training Technology Centers: $15 Million.—Authorizes $15 million for regional technology transfer centers, $3 million of which will be reserved for the Technology Transfer Training Act, to facilitate the transfer of training technology from Federal agencies to the private sector, State and local governments, and educational institutions. Such transfer capability would improve training programs for workers, and students in schools, the private sector, and the military. Program would be housed in Department of Education.

C. Technology Education: $2 million.—$2 million in demonstration grants to vocational training centers and community colleges for modular training in basic skills, with purpose of rendering participants technologically literate.

D. Technology Literacy: $2 million.—New $2 million authorization for fiscal year 1988 for demonstration programs for innovative programs in technology literacy in secondary schools: communications, construction, manufacturing, etc.

VI. ACCESS DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM: $5 MILLION

Provides $5 million in discretionary grants to establish rural education assistance centers. Grants may be awarded to regional labs, IHE's, SEA's or consortia thereof.

VII. VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

A. Reduces authorization for Part C of Title III of the Vocational Education Act (Adult Training, Retraining and Employment Development) from $35 million to $25 million, and creates new $25 million authorization under Part C for adult retraining for current workforce.

B. Increases from $20 to $30 million authorization for Part E of Title III (Industry-Education Partnerships for Training in High Technology Occupations).

Funds under A and B would provide training, retraining and employment services in high technology occupations for workers who are adversely affected by foreign competition. Includes a special provision for workers over 55.

VIII. SECONDARY SCHOOL PROGRAMS: $250 MILLION

A. Compensatory Education (Part B).—New $200 million authorization in fiscal year 1988 for Secretary's demonstration grants for basic skills for secondary students.

B. School Dropout Demonstration Grant Program.—New $50 million in fiscal year 1988 for demonstration grants to LEAs, partnerships and CBO's for programs that prevent students from dropping out and that encourage those who have left school to reenter and finish.

IX. HIGHER EDUCATION

A. International Education and Business Joint Degrees: $5 million.—Authorizes an additional $5 million under Part B, Title VI of HEA (International Education) to provide assistance for graduate programs which offer joint degrees or coordinate degrees in business and international studies.

B. Programs to Promote Studies in Fields of National Need.—Provides an additional $21.5 million to encourage increased participation in science, engineering and mathematics. Special programs for graduate studies and minority students.

C. Facilities and Instrumentation.—Provides $85 million for upgrading of the nation's university and college research facilities.

D. Materials Assistance.—Authorizes $1 million annually to provide assistance in acquiring and processing foreign technical and scientific periodicals. Provides $2.5 million to enable college libraries to better carry out the initiatives funded under the trade bill.

Part B—Labor

I. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS

Beginning Oct. 1, 1988, authorizes an annual appropriation of $980 million and such sums as may be necessary thereafter.

II. ELIGIBILITY

Same as current Title III of Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA).

III. ALLOCATION OF FUNDS

A. 80 percent of the funds are allocated to the States according to the existing Title III formula. However, as soon as data are available, the Secretary is required to allocate 25 percent of the funds to the States on the basis of plant closings and permanent layoffs and farmers and rancher dislocation. 50 percent of the substate funds must be spent on retraining activities although that requirement may be waived by the Governor to 30 percent if requested and justified by the substate grantee.

B. 20 percent is reserved for the Secretary. However, for fiscal years 1989 through 1991, not less than 10 percent of such funds shall be expended on two of the four demonstration projects listed in the act.

IV. CARRYOVER LIMITATION AND REALLOCATION AUTHORITY

Allows no more than 20 percent of the funds allocated to the States to remain available for obligation and expenditure during the next program year. A State which has expended at least 80 percent of its allotment in the previous year and which has an unemployment rate which exceeds the national average for the 12 preceding months may be eligible to receive reallocated funds.

V. DESIGNATION OF SUBSTATE AREAS

Requires the automatic designation of any JTPA service delivery area (SDA) with a population of 200,000 or more as a substate area for this Title. The act also permits two or more contiguous SDAs with an aggregate population of 200,000 or more which so request to be designated as a single substate area. Designations may not be revised more than once every 2 years and no JTPA service delivery area shall be divided among two or more substate areas under this Title.

VI. DESIGNATION OF SUBSTATE GRANTEES

Substate grantees shall be designated in accordance with an agreement among the Governor, the local elected officials and the private industry councils. In the event that agreement cannot be reached on the selection of a substate grantee, the Governor shall select the substate grantee.

VII. PERCENTAGE OF FUNDS RESERVED FOR THE GOVERNOR

The bill allows the Governors to retain 40 percent of the State's allocation or statewide readjustment activities. However, the Governor may retain an additional 10 percent of the State's allocation, which must be distributed to one or more substate areas based on need within the first 9 months of the program year.

The Governor must distribute the remainder of the State's allocation to the substate areas. The allocation is based on a formula prescribed by the Governor. The formula must contain the following six factors: insured unemployment data; unemployment concentrations, plant closing and mass layoff data; declining industries data; farmer-rancher economic hardship data, and long-term unemployment data. (The Governor is not precluded from including additional factors in the formula.)

VIII. RAPID RESPONSE ASSISTANCE

The State will designate or create an identifiable State dislocated workers unit or office with capability to respond rapidly to permanent closures and substantial layoffs throughout the State. The dislocated worker units shall establish on-site contact with employer and employee representatives within a short period of time after such closures or layoffs (preferably 48 hours or less).

IX. DISPLACED HOMEMAKERS

If it can be established in the State plan that services can be provided, without adversely affecting the dislocated workers described in sec. 301(1)(A)-(D), additional dislocated workers may be served as if they were eligible dislocated workers for programs and activities provided under this Title. Additional dislocated workers are defined as the term "displaced homemaker" is defined in sec. 4 of JTPA.

X. COMPOSITION OF THE STATE JOB TRAINING COORDINATING COUNCIL

The act reconstitutes the existing SJTCC in the following manner:

30 percent business and industry;

30 percent appropriate State agencies, local governments, and local education agencies;

30 percent organized labor and community-based organizations;

10 percent general public.

XI. LIMITATION ON NEEDS-RELATED PAYMENTS AND SUPPORTIVE SERVICES

Not more than 25 percent of the funds expended under this Title may be used for these purposes.

XII. ADVANCE NOTICE PROVISIONS

A. Requires 60 days advance notice of—

1. A plant closing that results in employment loss of at least 50 employees at a site of employment,
2. A layoff of more than 6 months that results in employment loss for 50 or more employees if 33 percent of the workforce at a site of employment are affected, or that results in an employment loss for 500 employees, whether or not 33 percent of the workforce is affected.

B. No employer with fewer than 100 full-time employees is covered.

C. Only employees working at least 20 hours a week who have worked for the employer for at least 6 months are included in calculating the number of employees who have experienced a job loss.

D. Employees are not considered to have experienced a job loss if they have: been offered transfers within a reasonable commuting distance of their current job; accepted transfers to any of the employer's facilities; or been rehired by a purchaser of the business.

E. Exceptions to the notice requirement are provided for unforeseeable business circumstances, faltering companies, and closure or layoffs from temporary projects or undertakings where the employees knew their work was temporary.

F. Remedies for violation of the notice requirement are limited to those specified in the statute:

1. The employer is liable to employees who should have, but did not receive, notice; damages are equivalent to a day's pay and the cost of related fringe benefits for up to the 60 days that the notice should have been but was not given.
2. The employer is liable to the local community for up to $500/day for each day of the 60 day period that notice was not given, to a maximum of $30,000; the employer is relieved of this liability to the community if it satisfies its liability to the employees expeditiously.

TECHNOLOGY

I. NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF STANDARDS AND TECHNOLOGY

A. Changes the name of the National Bureau of Standards (NBS) to the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST). The new name is intended to reflect not only the enhanced role and responsibility assigned to NBS but also to stress NBS's traditional function of providing the measurements, calibrations and quality assurance standards which are vital to U.S. commerce.

B. Modernizes and expands the functions of NIST. NIST is specifically required to carry out every function now assigned to NBS, including all of its functions as the Nation's national standards and measurement laboratory. The rewording of the statute significantly expands the role of NIST as the Government's lead laboratory in support of U.S. industrial quality and competiveness while retaining and encouraging growth and modernization of the core metrology mission.

C. Removes responsibilities of the National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA) from the NBS Organic Act. Traditionally, the NBS Organic Act has served as the statutory authority for the Department's telecommunications research. Restating NTIA's authorities separately provides NTIA permanent and unambigous legal authority to carry out its mission. The inclusion of the telecommunications language in the new statement of mission for NIST does not transfer the work from NTIA to NIST or vice versa, but rather describes those activities that have traditionally been performed by NIST.

D. Modifies sec. 5 of the NBS Act to specify the appointment process for the NIST Director as well as the responsibilities and the requirements of that office. In order to assure a smooth transition, the current NBS Director is designated as the NIST Director until the NIST Director is installed in office. This section makes clear that NIST, like NBS before it, is to run as a discrete entity with general supervisory powers in the NIST Director.

E. Requires an organization plan for NIST to be submitted to its Congressional authorizing committees at least 60 days before the plan's effective date and not later than 120 days after enactment of this legislation. The organization plan is to establish the major operating units of NIST and to distribute the activities and functions listed in the new sec. 2(c) of the NBS Act accordingly. The NIST Director may revise the organization plan after a formal 60-day notification of Congress. The Center for Fire Research and the Center for Building Technology must continue in their current forms under this plan.

F. Repeals archaic language or provisions of the original NBS Act that no longer apply.

G. Requires the NIST Director to keep the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate and the Committee on Science, Space, and Technology of the House of Representatives fully and currently informed with regard to all activities of NIST and requires the NIST Director to justify to the Congress in advance and in writing all changes in policies regarding fees for NIST services to industry.

II. TECHNOLOGY EXTENSION ACTIVITIES AND CLEARINGHOUSE ON STATE AND LOCAL INITIATIVES

A. Regional Centers for the Transfer of Manufacturing Technology (Regional Centers).

1. Authorizes $5.0 million which should permit the start of two to three Regional Centers during fiscal year 1988 and $40 million total during fiscal year 1989 and fiscal year 1990 for expansion of the program. Regional Centers are to provide outlets for the demonstration of technology developed by NIST to small and medium-sized firms, beginning with the technology developed at the Automated Manufacturing Research Facility of NIST. Regional Centers are eligible for Federal financing for a maximum of 6 years with an initial Federal contribution of up to 50 percent which will be phased down beginning in the 4th year.

2. The Secretary of Commerce is required to publish for comment, in the Federal Register, in advance of the establishment of any Regional Centers under this section, a detailed description of plans for administering the Regional Center program. The description is to include criteria and procedures for selecting Regional Center applicants, the role these Regional Centers are to play in promoting the use of improved manufacturing techniques by American small- and medium-sized businesses, projected schedules for reduction of direct financial support of the Regional Centers by the NIST, and preliminary criteria for evaluation of the effectiveness of Regional Centers.

Potential grantees are limited to U.S. based, non-profit institutions, and the companies they assist to U.S. based, small- and medium-sized manufacturers who intend to apply the technology at facilities in the United States. Merit review of applications by qualifed individuals outside the Department of Commerce is required as part of the process.

B. Technology Extension Services.

1. Authorizes the NIST to provide technical assistance to State technology extension programs.

2. Requires the Secretary of Commerce to conduct a nationwide survey of current State technology extension programs to determine their expenses, structure, services and needs.

3. Authorizes $2 million a year for fiscal years 1989, 1990, and 1991 for cooperative agreements between NIST and State technology extension programs.

C. Non-Energy Inventions Program.—Establishes within the Institute a Non-Energy Inventions Program to complement but not replace the existing Energy-Related Inventions Program. The NIST Director is required to submit, along with the initial organization plan for the Institute, an initial implementation plan including specific cost estimates, implementation schedules, and proposed mechanisms to help finance the development of technologies deemed to have potential. The NIST Director is required to consult with appropriate Federal agencies, State and local governments, universities, and private sector organizations and to set up cooperative arrangements, as appropriate, for various phases of the Inventions Program including both the referral of inventors to the program and aid to those inventors deemed to have concepts with commercial potential.

D. Clearinghouse for State and Local Initiatives.—Provides for a Clearinghouse for State and Local Initiatives on Productivity, Technology, and Innovation within the Office of Productivity, Technology, and Innovation (OPTI) that concentrates on collection and dissemination of information on State and local initiatives related to promotion of technological innovation. The Clearinghouse may collect and disseminate information on Federal, State, and local initiatives, and is authorized to develop methodologies which State and local governments can use to evaluate their own programs. The Clearinghouse may provide technical assistance and advice to such governments with respect to such initiatives.

III. ADVANCED TECHNOLOGY INITIATIVES

A. Advanced Technology Program (ATP).—

1. Establishes an Advanced Technology Program (ATP) under the NIST Director to serve as a focal point for cooperation between the public and private sectors in the development of industrial technology and to encourage business to use the research, research techniques and know-how developed in the program of NIST.

2. Establishes ATP's main purpose as aiding in the solving of generic problems of concern to large segments of an industry rather than promotion of individual companies. The ATP is to encourage American companies to form joint research and development ventures as defined by the National Cooperative Research Act of 1984, provided that such joint ventures are not under the effective control of a single company.

3. Permits ATP to participate in industrial joint R&D ventures and to contribute limited start-up funding if appropriate, and a minority share of the ongoing costs of projects of these consortia for a period of up to 5 years. Principles and conditions governing the awarding of financial assistance by the ATP shall be set out in the Federal Register. Awards shall be made only after completion of a merit review of the quality of the successful proposals.

B. Visiting Committee on Advanced Technology (VCAT).—Replaces the present NBS Visiting Committee with a Visiting Committee on Advanced Technology (VCAT), with majority representation from U.S. industry, as the statutory advisory committee for NIST. VCAT is not intended to be a policy board which orders the NIST Director to adopt specific policies; rather it is expected to provide the best available advice for the NIST Director to use in making agency decisions.

C. National Academies of Sciences and Engineering Study of Government-Industry Cooperation in Civilian Technology.—Specifies that the NIST Director may contract periodically with the Academies to receive advice and studies on the nation's significant national needs and opportunities in manufacturing and emerging technologies. The act specifies the responsibilities of this review panel of the Academies.

IV. TECHNOLOGY REVIEWS

A. Requires the President, when submitting the fiscal year 1990 budget to Congress also to submit a report on administration policy and proposals in semiconductors, semiconductor manufacturing, fiber optics, and superconductors, since Federal research efforts are generally dispersed throughout a wide range of agencies, and budget information is often difficult to obtain.

B. Creates the National Advisory Committee on Semiconductors (NACOS) with the responsibility for devising a national semiconductor strategy to assure continued U.S. leadership in semiconductor technology. Annual reports are required to be submitted to the President and the Congress on the NACOS's activities. NACOS shall cooperate with any other committee or commission established by law which has overlapping responsibilities.

C. Requires the President to appoint a National Commission on Superconductivity (National Commission) to review major policy issues regarding U.S. applications of recent research advances in superconductors to assist Congress in devising a national strategy in superconductivity technologies. The act specifies the make-up and responsibilities of National Commission members. The National Commission is to terminate 1 year after establishment with all residential functions vesting in the National Critical Materials Council.

V. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS

A. Establishes $144,783,000 for fiscal year 1988 as the base authorization level for the traditional activities to be carried out by NIST. These are: Measurement Research and Technology, $41,939,000; Engineering Measurements and Manufacturing, $40,287,000; Materials Science and Engineering, $23,521,000; Computer Science and Technology, $7,941,000; Research Support Activities, $19,595,000; Cold Neutron Source Facility, $6,500,000 (for a total authorization of $13,000,000), and $5,000,000 was authorized for the new programs of the National Institutes.

B. Authorizes $2,400,000 for OPTI, $500,000 for the patent licensing activities of NTIS, and $500,000 for the Japanese Technical Literature Program. The Clearinghouse for State and Local Initiatives is authorized appropriations of $500,000 for fiscal year 1988, $1,000,000 for fiscal year 1989, and $1,500,000 for fiscal year 1990.

VI. MISCELLANEOUS TECHNOLOGY AND COMMERCE PROVISIONS

A. Enables the patent licensing program of the National Technical Information Service to receive promptly, from the agencies contracting with it, the revenues it needs to continue its traditional programs of providing worldwide patent licensing services to other government agencies.

B Restates the Federal Laboratory Consortium for Technology Transfer's funding formula to ensure that the $900,000 to $1,000,000 per year the Congress originally intended for the FLC's responsibilities under the 1986 Act is available. The portion of an agency's R&D budget that must go to the FLC is increased from .005 percent to .008 percent.

C. Bars NIST from charging fees to research associates in the absence of express statutory authority to do so.

D. Requires the Institute to submit a plan to the authorizing Committees in the House and Senate detailing how the Institute will make small businesses more aware of NIST activities in order to increase their participation in NIST research.

E. Forbids contracting out of activities or functions of the National Technical Information Service (NTIS), not performed by contractors on Sept. 30, 1988, without specific statutory authority. The only exception permits NTIS to let small contracts not in excess of $250,000 per year to supplement the activities of the NTIS government employees. NTIS is required to maintain a permanent archival respository and clearinghouse for the collection and dissemination of nonclassified scientific, technical, and engineering information.

F. Requires each Federal agency to use the metric system in procurements, grants, and other business-related activities by the end of fiscal year 1992 to the maximum extent feasible. Each agency is expected to establish guidelines similar to Department of Defense (DOD) Directive Number 4120.18, dated Sept. 16, 1987, as soon as possible following the date of enactment. Conversion to metric is not required when its use is impractical or is likely to cause significant inefficiencies or loss of markets to United States firms. Agencies are to assist domestic Federal contractors and subcontractors, including small business, in developing the capability to compete in metric units so that increased use of metric by Federal agencies does not become a windfall for companies from foreign countries which have already converted.

VII. SYMMETRICAL ACCESS TO FOREIGN RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

The act establishes a process to monitor international science and technology agreements. The section provides a mechanism to ensure that these agreements provide Americans the same access to research and development opportunities and facilities abroad as foreigners have here.

The act amends Title V of P.L. 95-426 (The Foreign Relations Authorization act) to state that federally supported international science and technology agreements should be negotiated to assure proper protection of intellectual property rights and equitable and reciprocal access to international scientific and technological opportunities, facilities, and information. In addition, the provision directs the President to include in the annual report mandated by Title V information on American access to public and publicly supported private research and development opportunities and facilities in each country which is a major trading partner of the U.S.

The act also requires the Secretary of State to consult with Federal agencies having primary responsibility for, or a substantial interest in, the subject matter of potential science or science and technology agreements between the United States and foreign countries in advance of negotiations leading to such agreements. While the Secretary of State is assigned primary responsibility for coordination and oversight of such agreements, the consulted agencies will use their expertise in technology management, national security, and trade policy to ensure that the Secretary of State crafts effective final agreements.

VIII. NATIONAL CRITICAL MATERIALS COUNCIL

A. Requires the Council to submit a National Federal Program for Advanced Materials Research and Development not later than 180 days after enactment of this law.

B. Requires the Executive Director to increase the number of current employees by 5 full-time employees, of which at least four shall be permanent, professional employees with expertise relevant to the responsibilities of the Council.

C. Authorizes the Council to use services or personnel of other Federal agencies on a non-reimbursable basis.

D. Extends the authorization of the National Critical Materials Act programs to fiscal year 1992 of appropriations in the amount of "such sums as are necessary".

GOVERNMENT PROCUREMENT

I. IDENTIFICATION OF COUNTRIES

The act requires the President to identify, in an annual report, countries that engage in discriminatory government procurement practices against U.S. firms. The President will use a strict set of criteria to make his judgment. A country will be identified as discriminatory only if it has violated the GATT Agreement on Government Procurement or otherwise has systematically and persistently closed Americans out of its government procurement markets in a manner that has caused identifiable harm to U.S. businesses.

II. MONITORING

Discrimination in the procurement of both goods and services are monitored. In this way, the provision will provide for a consistent U.S. policy response to incidents such as the discrimination experienced by Americans in the awarding of contracts for the Kansai Airport project in Japan.

III. CONSULTATION AND DISPUTE SETTLEMENT

All countries named by the President as discriminatory are granted an informal consultation period in which they can work with the United States to eliminate their discriminatory procurement practices. Signatories of the Agreement are allowed a further year in which they can argue their case through GATT's formal dispute settlement procedure.

IV. PROCUREMENT BAN

If the period set aside for consultation (for countries that have not signed the Agreement) or consultation and formal dispute settlement procedures (for those countries that have signed the Agreement) does not result in the foreign country removing its discriminatory practices, then a ban on U.S. Government procurement of that country's goods and services goes into effect. The ban will not apply to U.S. Government purchases overseas for use in foreign countries.

V. MODIFICATION

The President is given discretion to modify the ban. In lieu of the ban, the President can impose a sanction equivalent in effect to the discriminatory practice of the foreign country; one example of this sort of sanction is the recent banning of Japanese firms from the U.S. public works market in response to Japan's discrimination against U.S. firms in public works contracting. The President can also eliminate, in whole or in part, the sanction in response to actions taken by the foreign government to eliminate its discriminatory practices.

VI. WAIVER

In addition to modifying a ban, the President (or head of a Federal agency) can waive the required sanction for a contract or class of contracts (1) if he determines that to do so would be in the public interest, (2) to avoid limiting the procurement to a single, sole source vendor, or (3) if insufficient competition would result.

VII. RULES OF ORIGIN

The act retains the current rules of origin for determining whether or not a product is American. However, it requires the Administrator of the Office of Federal Procurement Policy to conduct a study to determine what factors should be used to make such rule of origin determinations.

The Administrator is to complete his study 18 months from enactment of the provision.

VIII. SPECIAL RULE FOR SERVICES

With regard to services, a contractor or subcontractor is considered foreign if it is owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by citizens or nationals of a foreign country. The act adopts criteria with regard to construction service contracts for implementing this rule of origin consistent with the criteria currently used to implement sec. 109 of the Treasury, Postal Service, and General Government Appropriations Act, 1988. With regard to other services, the Administrator of OFPP, after public hearings, is to issue policy guidance to the agencies no later than 180 days after enactment.

IX. SUNSET

The provision is sunsetted on Apr. 30, 1996 unless reauthorized by Congress at an earlier date.

PATENT LAW

I. PROCESS PATENTS

A. Gives process patent owners the right to exclude others from using or selling in the United States, or importing into the United States products made by that process. Any such unauthorized act becomes an act of patent infringement under Title 35, United States Code.

B. Limits remedies against noncommercial users or retailers by requiring exhaustion of remedies against importers and nonretailer sellers. Excludes from liability products which have been materially changed by subsequent processes or products which are trivial and nonessential components of another product.

C. Excludes from the damage limitation provision those who practiced the process or those who had knowledge before the infringement that the patent process was used.

D. Provides no remedies against products in possession or in transit at the time of notice. The notice that triggers infringement liability is actual knowledge, or receipt of a written notification, or a combination thereof, of information sufficient to persuade a reasonable person it is likely that a product was made by an infringing process.

E. Provides that compliance with the request for disclosure provision is evidence of good faith in an infringement action.

F. Presumes that a product has been made by the patented process if the court finds there is a substantial likelihood that the product was made in violation of the process patent and the claimant has made a reasonable effort to determine the process actually used.

G. Establishes an effective date of 6 months following date of enactment for goods imported after such effective date. Persons in business using, selling or importing goods already in production on Jan. 1, 1988 are exempt, except those who are parties in certain cases before the ITC. Reports on effect of legislation to be submitted by Secretary of Commerce.

II. PHARMACEUTICAL PATENT EXTENSION

A. Extends the patent on gemfibrozil for 3½ years in the form of a private patent bill.

III. PATENT LAW FOREIGN FILING AMENDMENTS ACT

A. Permits an applicant to file "modification, amendments and supplements containing additional subject matter," with a foreign patent office without procuring a special license. Clarifies the situations in which an inventor may be granted a retroactive license.

SMALL BUSINESS

I. OFFICE OF INTERNATIONAL TRADE

The legislation provides increased authority and direction for the Small Business Administration's Office of International Trade, and authorizes $3.5 million to perform the functions outlined in the act.

II. EXPORT ASSISTANCE

Provides an additional $5 million in export assistance grants to be used by the Small Business Development Center Network to provide export related services to small business.

1. Such export services include providing information to small businesses on existing trade promotion and trade financing programs, both private and public, as well as on translation services, trade data and other services useful to exporting.

2. Such export assistance will be modeled on successful programs presently in operation in certain Small Business Development Centers.

3. Funding for export assistance would be limited to the SBDC network, though, under certain conditions, others would be eligible for the grant funding. Specifically, the agreement will allow non-profit organizations in a State which does not have an SBDC to be eligible for export assistance funding. Non-profits will also be eligible for funding in States where an SBDC has not applied.

III. SBA LOANS

The agreement will increase the lending limit for the 7(a) and 504 SBA loan programs from $500,000 to $750,000, and will also allow for guaranteed loans between $750,000 and $1,000,000 to be made for trade oriented industries only. This is bolstered by combining the $1 million guarantee with up to $250,000 for working capital under the 7(a) program. This financing arrangement would be essentially the same as a guaranteed bank loan, with a requirement that such loans be sold in the secondary market.

IV. MISCELLANEOUS

A. Requires SBA to prepare reports on policy options for a number of export related issues affecting small business, such as expedited trade remedies procedures for small business.

B. Expresses the sense of the Congress that small business interests have not been adequately represented in trade negotiations, that the Administrator of SBA should be consulted in any new round of trade talks and that the U.S. Trade Representative should have on his staff a full-time assistant for small business.

C. An independent office of Trade Remedy Assistance will be established in the International Trade Commission under a different title of The Omnibus Trade Bill. The office will be required to provide assistance to small business. The Small Business Title requires the Small Business Administration to facilitate small businesses' access to the office. In addition, a report on the costs incurred by small business in pursuing legitimate claims under the trade laws, and other possible Federal assistance in this area is ordered by this title.

COMPETITIVENESS POLICY COUNCIL

I. ESTABLISHMENT OF COUNCIL

The act establishes the Competitiveness Policy Council (CPC) comprised of government, business, labor, and academic leaders. The CPC is an independent body subject to the strictures of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (FACA). It will serve as a forum for the discussion and evaluation of U.S. competiveness policy.

II. MEMBERSHIP

The CPC will have 12 members—4 appointed by the President, 4 appointed by the majority and minority leaders of the Senate, and 4 appointed by the majority and minority leaders of the House of Representatives. Membership will be evenly divided between business, labor, academic, and government leaders, and no more than 6 members will come from the same political party.

III. DUTIES

The CPC's duties are wide ranging. Among other things, it will recommend national strategies for enhancing U.S. productivity and international competitiveness; it will comment on private sector requests for governmental assistance and the recovery plans for recipients of such relief; and it will evaluate the impact of Federal policy on U.S. competitiveness and monitor changes in the U.S. economy for their effect on the same.

IV. SUBCOUNCILS

The CPC also has the power to establish subcouncils of public and private leaders to analyze specific competiveness issues. These subcouncil will have the same mission as the full council but concentrate their efforts on a particular industry or a policy problem that affect several industries.

V. REPORT

The CPC will submit a report to Congress once a year. The act provides an annual authorization of $5 million for the CPC for 1989 and 1990 only.

OCEAN AND AIR TRANSPORTATION

I. SHIPPING PRACTICES

The Foreign Shipping Practices Act of 1988 gives the Federal Maritime Commission (FMC) discretion to initiate investigations on its own motion or upon petition by any person for purpose of determining whether any laws, rules, regulations, policies, or practice of foreign governments, or any practices of other persons providing maritime or maritime-related services in a foreign country result in the existence of conditions that: (1) adversely affect the operations of United States carriers in United States oceanborne trades; and (2) do not exist for foreign carriers of that country in the United States under the laws of the United States or as the result of acts of United States carriers or other persons providing maritime or maritime-related services in the United States.

The Act requires the FMC to complete an investigation and render a decision within 120 days after it is initiated. The FMC may however extend this period for an additional 90 days.

If the FMC determines that conditions (1) and (2) exist, in order to level the playing field for U.S. carriers it may take a variety of actions against any foreign carrier who is a contributing cause to, or whose government is a contributing cause to such conditions.

Before the FMC takes any action, the FMC must submit it to the President, who may disapprove the proposed action on national defense or foreign policy grounds.

The FMC is required to file an annual status report with the Congress with respect to its experience in implementing the act.

Finally, the act reestablishes the authority of the Department of Commerce to provide assistance to mobile trade fair projects without requiring a specific or new authorization or appropriation.

II. INTERNATIONAL AIR TRANSPORTATION

A. Current law establishes procedures for United States air carriers to file complaints with the Department of Transportation that a foreign government or instrumentality, including a foreign air carrier, is engaging in discriminatory practices against a United States air carrier or imposing unreasonable restraints on access of a United States air carrier to foreign markets. Current law further provides that if the Secretary of Transportation determines that it is in the public interest to eliminate such practices or restructuring, the Secretary may take remedial actions, including suspending or revoking a foreign air carrier's permit or tariff.

B. The act shortens the deadline from 180 days to 90 days for the Secretary of Transportation to act on complaints, but also establishes conditions by which the deadline can be extended for another 90 days. The act also requires consultation with the Department of Commerce and the United States Trade Representative, in addition to the Department of State, which is all that is required under current law. The act also requires reports to Congressional Committees by the Secretary of Transportation on actions taken on complaints.

PESTICIDE MONITORING

I. PESTICIDE MONITORING AND ENFORCEMENT INFORMATION

The act requires the Secretary of Health and Human Services to establish computerized data management systems to track and evaluate the results of the Food and Drug Administration's program for monitoring domestic and imported food products for pesticide residues. The information summarized under this provision must be compiled annually and made available to Federal and State agencies and other interested persons.

II. FOREIGN PESTICIDE INFORMATION

The act requires the Secretary of Health and Human Services to enter cooperative agreements with the governments of the countries which are the major sources of food imports into the United States subject to pesticide residue monitoring by the Food and Drug Administration. The cooperative agreements will specify the means by which such foreign countries will provide to the Secretary of Health and Human Services current information on pesticide use in such countries.

If the Secretary is unable to enter a cooperative agreement with a major food importing nation, the Secretary is required, to the extent practicable, to obtain information on pesticide use in such country from other Federal or international agencies or private sources. Foreign pesticide use information collected under this provision must be made available to State agencies engaged in the monitoring of imported food for pesticide residues.

III. PESTICIDE ANALYTICAL METHODS

The act requires the Secretary of Health and Human Services to develop a research plan for the development and validation of new and improved methods for the detection of pesticide residues and mandates the Agency to conduct a review to determine the potential use of rapid pesticide detection methods.

FEDERAL BUDGET DEFICIT

The act requires the Office of Management and Budget and the two Congressional Budget Committees to assess annually the impact of the Federal budget on the U.S. trade balance and other important economic indicators. OMB and the Committees are to project, for the fiscal year in which the budget is submitted, the amount of Government borrowing in private credit markets, net domestic savings, net private domestic investment, the merchandise trade and current accounts, U.S. foreign indebtedness, and the effect of Government borrowing on interest and exchange rates.

SEMATECH AND COMPETITIVENESS IMPACT STATEMENT

I. COMPETITIVENESS IMPACT STATEMENTS

The President or the head of the appropriate department or agency must include in every recommendation or report made to Congress on legislation which may affect U.S. competiveness in domestic and foreign markets, a statement of the impact of such legislation on international trade and public interest of the U.S. and the ability of U.S. firms engaged in the manufacture, sale, distribution or provision of goods and services to compete in foreign or domestic markets. This requirement would sunset in 6 years after the date of enactment.

II. STUDY AND REPORT ON SEMATECH

A. The Council on Federal Participation in Sematech (established in P.L. 100-180) is required to conduct a study under the direction of the Under Secretary of Commerce for Economic Affairs, of the progress being made towards achieving the defense and civilian goals of Sematech and to report annually to Congress on these matters in each year in which Federal funds are extended.

B. The reports shall include an identification of potential sources of Federal funds, recommendations concerning methods and terms of such support, and an exploration of the feasibility of recoupment of the Federal investment in the event of royalties or fees resulting from the licensing of Sematech technology or as a result of its disolution and sale of its assets. In addition, the reports shall enumerate the long and short range civilian technology and commercialization goals of Sematech, describe how the major components of the Sematech program are designed to achieve these goals, and report on the annual progress of each of the components.

III. NATIONAL TRADE DATA BANK

A. The act establishes a National Trade Data Bank to be managed by the Secretary of Commerce in the Department of Commerce and consisting of both an export promotion data system and an international economic data system. The expert promotion data system shall contain information designed to be useful to business; the international economic data system shall contain information useful to policymakers and analysts concerned with international economics.

B. An Interagency Trade Data Advisory Committee is established, comprised of the heads of departments and agencies concerned with trade policy. The Committee would be chaired by the Secretary of Commerce and would advise the Secretary regarding the operation of the Trade Data Bank.

H.R. 278 (Mr. Young of Alaska with cosponsors); Public Law 100–241; app. Feb. 3, 1988.

H.R. 278, the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act Amendments of 1987, was referred to the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. As reported to the House on Mar. 27, 1987, the bill contained several provisions within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means, including provisions regarding the collection of taxes and valuation of stock. On Mar. 31, 1987, H.R. 278 passed the House. The Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources reported the bill to the Senate on Oct. 20, 1987, and it passed the Senate amended, on Oct. 29, 1987. The House agreed to the Senate amendments on Dec. 21, 1987, with an amendment. The Senate agreed to the House amendment on the same date. The bill language was modified to insure that the legislation would not depart from normal and traditional Federal tax principles.

The President signed H.R. 278 into law on Feb. 3, 1988, as Public Law 100–241.

H.R. 1154 (Mr. Derrick with cosponsors); House sustained Presidential Veto Oct. 4, 1988. (See also H.Res. 544.)

H.R. 1154, the Textile Apparel and Footwear Trade Act of 1988, was reported with amendment and without recommendation to the House by the Committee on Ways and Means on Aug. 6, 1987. The House passed the bill as amended on Sept. 16, 1987. The Senate passed H.R. 1154 with an amendment in the nature of a substitute on Sept. 15, 1988. In addition to the provisions in the House- passed bill the Senate amendment added a mandatory preference for countries which purchase increasing amounts of U.S. agricultural exports, and a mandatory quota auction program for 1989. On Sept. 23, 1988, the House passed H.Res. 540, a self-executing rule to concur in the Senate amendment to H.R. 1154. On Sept. 28, 1988, the President vetoed the bill and returned it to the House with a veto message. On Oct. 4, 1988, the House sustained the President's veto.

H.R. 1154 would establish global import quotas on approximately 180 categories of textiles and textile products, and 30 categories of footwear products. Textile quotas would be increased by 1 percent per year; footwear quotas would be frozen at 1986 import levels. The bill also provides limited tariff compensation authority, annual reports by the President to the Congress, and a review of the quota program after 10 years.

H.R. 1444 (Mr. Gradison with cosponsors); Public Law 100–93; app. Aug. 18, 1987.

H.R. 1444, the Medicare and Medicaid Patient and Program Protection Act of 1987, was reported to the House on May 21, 1987, and passed the House on June 2.

As passed, the bill has four main elements, the first of which relates to exclusion of participating providers. The bill mandates the exclusion from Medicare and Medicaid of individuals convicted of program-related crimes or patient abuse or neglect. It also broadens the grounds for the discretionary exclusion of health care providers from Medicare and Medicaid. In addition, the bill extends the mandatory and discretionary exclusion remedies to two other State health care programs, the Maternal and Child Health Services Block Grant, and the Title XX Social Services Block Grant. The U.S. Attorney General is authorized to deny, revoke, or suspend the controlled substances registration of any individual or entity subject to mandatory exclusion from Medicare.

Second, the bill revises the current civil money penalty authorities. It clarifies the Secretary's authority to consolidate exclusion and civil money penalty determinations involving the same provider into a single administrative proceeding, and it broadens the Secretary's authority to seek injunctive relief to protect assets for the payment of civil money penalties imposed. The bill also adds, as grounds for imposing civil money penalties, the submission of claims for payment for physician services by individuals who are not licensed as physicians, who obtained their licenses through misrepresentation, or who misrepresent to the patient that they are board-certified in a medical specialty.

Third, the bill provides for criminal penalties for the submission of claims for physician services by individuals who are not licensed as physicians or who obtained their licenses through misrepresentation or cheating on a licensing exam. The bill also directs the Secretary, in consultation with the U.S. Attorney General, to clarify by regulation what payment practices are not to be treated as criminal offenses for purposes of the current law prohibitions against bribes and kickbacks.

Finally, the bill requires States, as a condition of receiving Federal Medicaid matching funds, to provide information to the Secretary regarding actions taken against health care practitioners by State licensing authorities. The bill also authorizes the Secretary to provide such information to other State licensing authorities and program agencies in order to protect the health and safety of beneficiaries and the fiscal integrity of the programs.

H.R. 1444 passed the Senate with an amendment in the nature of a substitute (S. 661), on July 23, 1987. The only substantive difference between the two bills is a provision in S. 661 that requires an administrative hearing prior to exclusion—as opposed to the usual post-exclusion hearing—when the grounds for exclusion are based on the practitioner having engaged in certain activities that also are violations subject to criminal or civil penalties, but for which the practitioner has not yet been convicted. On July 30, 1987, the House agreed to the Senate amendment.

On Aug. 18, 1987, the President signed the bill into law as Public Law 100–93.

H.R. 1451 (Mr. Kildee with cosponsors); Public Law 100–175; app. Nov. 29, 1987.

H.R. 1451, the Older Americans Act Amendments of 1987, was reported to the House on May 18, 1987, by the Education and Labor Committee. The bill passed the House on May 28, 1987. H.R. 1451 was reported to the Senate on July 30, 1987 and passed the Senate on Aug. 6, 1987. On Sept. 30, 1987, the House disagreed to the Senate amendments and requested a conference. The Senate agreed on that same date. The conference report was filed on Nov. 9, 1987. The Senate agreed to the conference report on Nov. 12, 1987, and the House agreed on Nov. 17, 1987.

There were two provisions in the bill as it became law which were under the jurisdiction of the Ways and Means Committee: (1) a study by the Secretary of HHS to determine the impact of the medicare DRG system on community-based programs such as the Older Americans Act, and (2) to authorize a one-time outreach effort to SSI, medicaid and food stamp recipients to ensure more low-income elderly receive benefits to which they are entitled.

The President signed H.R. 1451 into law on Nov. 29, 1987, as Public Law 100-175.

H.R. 1580 (Mr. Dellums with cosponsors); passed House Aug. 11, 1988.

H.R. 1580, the Anti-Apartheid Act Amendments of 1988, was jointly referred to the Committees on Foreign Affairs, Ways and Means, Armed Services, Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs, Public Works and Transportation, Intelligence, Interior and Insular Affairs, and Energy and Commerce. The bill was reported to the House as amended by the Committee on Foreign Affairs on May 20, 1988; as amended by the Committee on Intelligence on June 15, 1988; as amended by the Committee on Armed Services on June 23, 1988; as amended by the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs on July 12, 1988; as amended by the Committee on Ways and Means on Aug. 3, 1988; and as amended by the Committee on Energy and Commerce on Aug. 8, 1988. H.R. 1580 passed the House with an amendment in the nature of a substitute on Aug. 11, 1988. No action was taken in the Senate.

H.R. 1580 included among broader sanctions against South Africa an expansion of the existing import ban to include all products of South Africa, with an exemption for imports of certain strategic minerals and for imports from businesses in South Africa that are wholly owned by persons economically or politically disadvantaged by apartheid. The bill as reported strengthened provisions of existing law calling for multilateral efforts to end apartheid and establishment of a nonracial democracy in South Africa. It also made miscellaneous amendments to current law relating to reporting requirements, referral of certain bills, and other matters.

H.R. 1622 (Mr. de la Garza); reported to House Dec. 4, 1987.

H.R. 1622, the Cotton Research and Promotion Program Act of 1987, was referred solely to the Committee on Agriculture. The bill contained several provisions under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means. On Oct. 5, 1987, the Committee on Agriculture reported the bill to the House. The bill was then sequentially referred to the Committee on Ways and Means until Dec. 4, 1987. The Ways and Means Committee reported the bill with amendments to the House on Dec. 4, 1987.

As amended by the committee and reported, the bill would require the Secretary of Agriculture to conduct a referendum within 8 months to determine whether the current upland cotton research and promotion order should be amended to provide (1) for an appropriate number of importers to serve on the Cotton Board, and (2) for assessments to apply to imported upland cotton.

Both cotton importers and cotton producers who have been engaged in the production or importation of upland cotton during a representative period, as determined by the Secretary of Agriculture, would be eligible to vote. Approval of the referendum would require either two-thirds of those voting in the referendum, or a majority of those voting if such majority accounts for not less than two-thirds of the cotton produced and imported during the representative period.

If the referendum is approved, the changes would automatically take effect. Both handlers of domestic upland cotton and importers of upland cotton would then be required to pay an assessment to the Cotton Board. As under current law, participation in the program would remain voluntary, and producers and importers who do not support the program would be entitled to a refund of any assessments paid by them.

The amended bill also authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture and the Commissioner of Customs to enter into an agreement under which Customs would collect and transmit to the Cotton Board the assessments on imports, with costs of collection to be reimbursed by the Cotton Board.

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, H.R. 1622 was pending on the House calendar.

H.R. 1720 (Mr. Ford of Tennessee with cosponsors); Public Law 100-485; app. Oct. 13, 1988.

H.R. 1720, the Family Support Act of 1988, was referred jointly to the Committees on Ways and Means, Education and Labor, and Energy and Commerce. The bill was reported amended to the House by the Committee on Ways and Means on June 17, 1987; reported amended from the Committee on Education and Labor on Aug. 7, 1987; and reported amended from the Committee on Energy and Commerce on Sept. 15, 1987. H.R. 1720 passed the House amended on Dec. 16, 1987.

H.R. 1720 was reported to the Senate without recommendation by the Committee on Finance on June 7, 1988, and passed the Senate with an amendment on June 16, 1988. The Senate requested a conference on June 16, 1988, and the House agreed to a conference on July 7, 1988. The conference report was filed in the House on Sept. 28, 1988. The Senate passed the conference report on Sept. 29, 1988, and the House on Sept. 30, 1988. The President signed H.R. 1720 into law on Oct. 13, 1988, as Public Law 100-485.

A summary of the act follows:

TITLE I. CHILD SUPPORT AND ESTABLISHMENT OF PATERNITY

A. Guidelines for child support award amounts

Judges and other officials would be required to use State guidelines for child support unless they are rebutted by a written finding that applying the guidelines would be unjust or inappropriate in a particular case. States must review guidelines for awards every 4 years. Beginning 5 years after enactment, States generally must review and adjust individual case awards every 3 years for AFDC cases. The same applies to other IV-D cases, except review and adjustment must be at the request of a parent.

B. Establishment of paternity

States would be required to meet Federal standards for the establishment of paternity. The standard would relate to the percentage obtained by dividing the number of children in the State who are born out of wedlock, are receiving cash benefits or IV-D child support services, and for whom paternity has been established by the number of children who are born out of wedlock and are receiving cash benefits or IV-D child support services. To meet Federal requirements, this percentage in a State must (1) be at least 50 percent, (2) be at least equal to the average for all States, or (3) have increased by 3 percentage points from fiscal year 1988 to 1991 and by 3 percentage points each year thereafter.

States would be mandated to require all parties in a contested paternity case to take a genetic test upon request of any party.

The Federal matching rate for laboratory testing to establish paternity would be 90 percent.

C. Disregard of child support

The child support enforcement disregard authorized under the 1984 Deficit Reduction Act would be clarified so that it applies to a payment made by the noncustodial parent in the month it was due even though it was received in a subsequent month.

D. Requirement for prompt State response

The Secretary of Health and Human Services would be required to set time limits within which States must accept and respond to requests for assistance in establishing and enforcing support orders as well as time limits within which child support payments collected by the State IV-D agency must be distributed to the families to whom they are owed.

E. Requirement for automated tracking and monitoring system

Every State that does not have a statewide automated tracking and monitoring system in effect must submit an advance planning document that meets Federal requirements by Oct. 1, 1991. The Secretary must approve each document within 9 months after submission. By Oct. 1, 1995, every State must have an approved system in effect. Federal matching rates of 90 percent for this activity will expire after Sept. 30, 1995.

F. Interstate enforcement

A Commission on Interstate Child Support Enforcement would be established to hold one or more national conferences on interstate child support enforcement reform, and to report to Congress on recommendations for improvements in the system and revisions in the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act.

G. Exclude interstate demonstration grants in computing incentive payments

Amounts spent by States for interstate demonstration projects would be excluded in calculating the amount of the States' incentive payments.

H. Use of INTERNET system

The Secretaries of Labor and HHS would be required to enter into an agreement to give the Federal Parent Locator Service prompt access to wage and unemployment compensation claims information useful in locating absent parents.

I. Wage withholding

With respect to IV-D cases, each State must provide for immediate wage withholding in the case of orders that are issued or modified on or after the first day of the 25th month beginning after the date of enactment unless (1) one of the parties demonstrates, and the court finds, that there is good cause not to require such withholding, or (2) there is a written agreement between both parties providing for an alternative arrangement. Present law requirements for mandatory wage withholding in the cases where payments are in arrears would apply to orders that are not subject to immediate wage withholding.

States would be required to provide for immediate wage withholding for all support orders initially issued on or after Jan. 1, 1994, regardless of whether a parent has applied for IV-D services.

J. Work and training demonstration programs for noncustodial parents

The Secretary of HHS would be required to grant waivers to no more than 5 States to allow them to provide services to noncustodial parents under the JOBS program. No new power is granted to the States to require participation by noncustodial parents.

K. Data collection and reporting

The Secretary of HHS would be required to collect and maintain State-by-State statistics on paternity determination, location of an absent parent for the purpose of establishing a support obligation, enforcement of a child support obligation, and location of an absent parent for the purpose of enforcing or modifying an established obligation.

L. Use of Social Security number

Each State would be mandated in the administration of any law involving the issuance of a birth certificate to require each parent to furnish his or her Social Security number (SSN), unless the State finds good cause for not requiring the parent to furnish it. The SSN shall not appear on the birth certificate, and the use of the SSN obtained through the birth record would be restricted to child support enforcement purposes except under certain circumstances.

M. Notification of support collected

Each State would be required to inform families receiving welfare of the amount of support collected on their behalf on a monthly basis, rather than annually as provided under prior law. States may provide quarterly notification if the Secretary of HHS determines that monthly reporting imposes an unreasonable administrative burden. This would be effective 4 years after the date of enactment.

TITLE II. JOB OPPORTUNITIES AND BASIC SKILLS TRAINING PROGRAM

A. Purpose

Each State would be required to establish and operate a Job Opportunities and Basic Skills Training (JOBS) program to assure that needy families with children obtain the education, training, and employment that will help them avoid long-term welfare dependence.

B. Requirement for a statewide program

Not later than 2 years after the mandatory effective date, the State must make the program available in each subdivision of the State where it is feasible. If the State determines that the program is not to be available in all political subdivisions, it must provide appropriate justification to the Secretary.

C. State plan requirements

Each State would be required to develop and periodically update a State plan (approved by the Secretary) describing how the State intends to implement the program in conformity with the requirements of the statute including requirements with regard to such areas as contract authority, private sector involvement, and coordination.

D. Federal administrative responsibility

A new Office of Assistant Secretary of HHS would be established as of Feb. 1, 1989, to administer the new welfare program. The Secretaries of HHS and Labor would be required to issue joint regulations with respect to working conditions, wage rates, workers' compensation, and displacement in JOBS program activities.

E. State and local administration

The State welfare agency would be responsible for the administration (or supervision of the administration) of the JOBS program.

F. Coordination with other programs

The Secretary of HHS would be required to consult with the Secretaries of Education and Labor on a continuing basis to assure maximum coordination of services. The Governor must assure that program activities are coordinated with programs operated under JTPA and other relevant employment, training, and education programs. The State job training coordinating council would have an opportunity to review and comment on State plans. The State agency would also consult with the State education agency and the agency responsible for administering job training programs.

G. Contract authority involvement of private sector

The State welfare agency would be allowed to administer the program directly or through arrangements or contracts with JTPA administrative entities, State and local educational agencies, and with other public or private organizations (including community-based organizations as defined in sec. 4(5) of JTPA). The State welfare agency would be required to use the services of each private industry council to identify and provide advice on the types of jobs available or likely to become available in each JTPA service delivery area.

H. Requirement for participation

1. Exemption from participation.—To the extent resources are available, States would require nonexempt AFDC recipients to participate in the JOBS program. Exempt applicants and recipients could participate on a voluntary basis. Exempt recipients would be those who are: (1) ill, incapacitated, or of advanced age; (2) needed in the home because of the illness or incapacity of another member of the household; (3) parents caring for a young child (under age 3 or a younger age selected by the State, but not under age 1); (4) employed 30 or more hours a week; (5) a child under age 16 or attending, full time, an elementary, secondary, or vocational school; (6) a woman who is in at least the second trimester of pregnancy; and (7) residing in an area where the program is not available.

2. Participation rates/work requirements.—The act establishes certain minimum participation standards for fiscal years 1990-95. In fiscal year 1990, at least 7 percent of the nonexempt caseload must participate in the JOBS program. The minimum participation rates in subsequent fiscal years are 7 percent in fiscal year 1991, 11 percent in fiscal years 1992-93, 15 percent in fiscal year 1994, and 20 percent in fiscal year 1995.

The act also requires that a parent in each unemployed parent (AFDC-UP) family must participate at least 16 hours per week in a work activitiy. This requirement would be effective in fiscal years 1994-98. The percentage of families required to meet this work requirement would be 40 percent in fiscal year 1994, 50 percent in fiscal year 1995, 60 percent in fiscal year 1996, and 75 percent in fiscal years 1997 and 1998.

These requirements may be waived under certain circumstances.

I. Program sanctions

1. General requirement.—Sanctions would be applied to a nonexempt recipient if he or she (1) fails without good cause to participate in the program, or (2) refuses without good cause to accept a bona fide offer of employment.

2. Nature of sanction.—When the sanction is applied, the participant's needs must not be taken into account in determining the family's benefits.

3. Length of sanction.—The duration of sanctions would be: (1) in the case of the first failure to comply, until the failure to comply ceases; (2) in the case of the second failure to comply, until the failure to comply ceases or 3 months, whichever is longer; and (3) in the case of any subsequent failure to comply, until the failure to comply ceases or 6 months, whichever is longer. Lack of child care necessary for participation, or failure of the State agency to provide necessary child care, would be good cause for refusal to participate or accept employment.

J. Fair hearing

States could use the regular AFDC hearing process or one specially designed for the JOBS program. Assistance could not be suspended, reduced, discontinued, or terminated until an individual is provided a fair hearing meeting the due process standards set forth by the U.S. Supreme Court in Goldberg v. Kelly, 1970.

K. Assessment and certification

The State agency would be required to assess: (1) the education, child care, and supportive needs of each participant; (2) the work experience and employment skills of each participant; and (3) each individual's family circumstances. The State would be allowed to review the needs of the children as well as those of the adult caretaker.

L. Employability plan

The State must develop an employability plan for each participant. The plan must be developed in consultation with the participant.

M. Contract agreement

States would be allowed to require each participant to negotiate and enter into an agreement with the agency that specifies such matters as the participant's obligations, duration of participation, and activities and services to be provided by the State. Individuals must be assisted in reviewing and understanding the agreement.

N. Case management

States would be allowed to require the assignment of a case manager to each participant's family.

O. Orientation

The State agency must assure that all applicants and recipients are encouraged, assisted and required to fulfill their responsibilities to support their children by preparing for, seeking, accepting, and retaining such employment as they are capable of performing. The State agency must inform applicants and recipients of the JOBS activities and services for which they are eligible, the obligations of the State agency, and the rights, responsibilities, and obligations of participants in the JOBS program.

With respect to child care, the State agency must: (1) provide information on the types and locations of child care services accessible to participants; (2) inform participants that assistance is available to help them select appropriate child care services; and (3) upon request, provide assistance to participants in obtaining child care services.

P. Program standards

1. Work standards.—The State agency must assure that: (1) an assignment takes into account the physical capacity, skills, experience, health and safety, family responsibilities, and place of residence of the participant; (2) individuals are not discriminated against; (3) conditions of participation are reasonable; and (4) a participant would not be required, without his consent, to travel an unreasonable distance from home or remain away from home overnight to participate.

2. Wage rates.—Under the CWEP program, for the first 9 months the maximum number of hours of required participation would be determined by dividing the AFDC payment by the higher of the applicable State or Federal minimum wage. After 9 months, the wage rate used to calculate hours of participation must be the same as for a regular employee doing the same work for the same employer, at the same site.

3. Displacement.—No work assignment may result in: (1) the displacement of a currently employed worker or position; (2) impairment of existing contracts for services or collective bargaining agreements; (3) the employment of the participant when (a) any other person is on layoff from the same or any equivalent position, or (b) the employer has terminated any regular employee or otherwise reduced his workforce with the effect of filling the vacancy with a participant under the JOBS program; and (4) any infringement of the promotional opportunities of any currently employed individual. Participants in CWEP, work experience, and work supplementation may not fill established unfilled positions.

4. Net loss of income.—Participants may not be required to accept a job under the JOBS program unless the State agency assures that the participant's family will experience no net loss of cash income resulting from acceptance of the job.

Q. Types of services and activities

State JOBS programs must provide for a broad range of services and activities including, among others, education, job training and readiness activities. Programs must include at least two out of the following four activities: job search, CWEP or other work experience, grant diversion, or on-the-job training.

R. Federal/State funding

Funding would be in the form of a capped entitlement. The Federal matching rate would be 90 percent for expenditures up to the amount allotted to the State for WIN in fiscal year 1987. Of additional amounts, the Federal match would be at the Medicaid matching rate, with a minimum Federal match of 60 percent for nonadministrative costs and for personnel costs for full-time staff working on the JOBS program. The match for other administrative costs would be 50 percent. States would receive an amount equal to their WIN allotment for fiscal year 1987 ($126 million for all States). The cap on the entitlement funding would be $600 million in fiscal year 1989, $800 million in fiscal year 1990, $1 billion in fiscal years 1991, 1992, and 1993, $1.1 billion in fiscal year 1994, and $1.3 billion in fiscal year 1995. JOBS program funds would not be permitted to be used for construction.

S. Priority/target population

Federal matching would be reduced to 50 percent unless 55 percent of funds is spent on the following target populations: (1) families in which the custodial parent is under age 24 and (a) has not completed high school or is not enrolled in high school or an equivalent course, or (b) had little or no work experience in the preceding year; (2) families in which the youngest child is within 2 years of being ineligible for assistance because of age; (3) families who have received assistance for more than 36 months during the preceding 60-month period. Volunteers must receive first consideration within target groups.

T. Grievance procedure

States must establish and maintain grievance procedures for resolving complaints by regular employees or their representatives that assignments violate displacement provisions. State decisions could be appealed to the Secretary of Labor.

U. Performance standards and reporting requirements

No later than 3 years after the mandatory effective date of the program, the Secretary must develop performance standards and submit recommendations to the congressional committees with jurisdiction over the program. Performance must be measured by outcome and not only by levels of activity or participation, and must be based on the degree of success which may be expected in helping participants increase earnings, achieve self-sufficiency, and reduce welfare dependence.

V. Evaluations/effectiveness studies

Implementation and effectiveness studies would be authorized. For the evaluation study, an advisory panel to design, implement, and monitor the study would be established.

W. WIN transition/effective date

The WIN program would be repealed effective Oct. 1, 1990, and replaced with the JOBS program. States could implement the JOBS program earlier after proposed regulations have been published.

TITLE III. TRANSITIONAL ASSISTANCE FOR FAMILIES AFTER LOSS OF AFDC ELIGIBILITY

A. Child care during participation in work, education, and training

1. General requirement.—The State agency would be required to guarantee child care if it determines that child care is necessary for an individual's employment. Child care would also be required to be guaranteed for education and training activities if the State agency approves the activity and determines that the individual is participating satisfactorily. The State would be required to take account of the individual needs of the child whenever it arranges child care.

2. Methods of providing reimbursement.—The State agency could provide care itself, arrange care by use of contract or voucher, provide cash or vouchers in advance to the caretaker relative, reimburse the caretaker relative, or adopt any other arrangements deemed appropriate by the agency. Reimbursement for the cost of care may not be less than the amount of the child care disregard for which the family is otherwise eligible nor more than actual cost or applicable local market rates, regardless of the method selected to provide care.

3. Federal matching rate.—The Federal matching rate would be the Medicaid rate.

4. Child care standards.—Child care would be required to meet applicable standards of State and local law. States would be required to develop guidelines for family day care. States would be required to establish procedures to assure that center-based child care will be subject to requirements designed to ensure basic health and safety, including fire safety protections. The State must also develop guidelines for family day care. The State would be required to provide the Secretary a description of these State and local determined requirements and guidelines, which would be used to report to Congress on the nature and content of State and local standards for health and safety. An amount of $13 million would be authorized for each of fiscal years 1990 and 1991 for grants to States to improve their child care licensing and registration requirements and procedures, and to monitor child care provided to AFDC children.

5. Income and tax treatment of child care benefits.—The value of day care provided would not be treated as income for any other Federal or federally assisted need-based program and could not be claimed as an employment-related expense for tax purposes.

B. Transitional child care assistance

1. General requirement.—Child care would be guaranteed to the extent the care is determined by the State agency to be necessary for an individual's employment in any case where a family has ceased to receive assistance as a result of increased hours of, or increased income from employment, or as a result of the loss of earnings disregards.

2. Limitations on assistance.—Child care would be limited to 12 months after the last month for which the family received assistance. The Secretary of HHS would be directed to study the extent to which individuals return to the welfare rolls to requalify for additional months of transitional benefits. If the study shows that this has occurred, the Secretary would be required to issue regulations to restrict requalification.

3. Fee requirement.—The States would be required to establish sliding-scale fee schedules based on the ability to pay of the family.

4. Study of effects.—The Secretary of HHS would be required to study the effectiveness of the child care transition and report to Congress by Jan. 1, 1993.

5. Termination of child care transition.—The provision would take effect on Apr. 1, 1990, and expire after Sept. 30, 1998.

C. Transportation and work-related expenses

The State would be required to provide payment or reimbursement for necessary transportation and other work-related supportive services that the State determines are necessary to enable an individual to participate in JOBS. Federal matching would be 50 percent, subject to the cap on JOBS funding.

D. Transitional medical assistance

The States would be required to extend Medicaid coverage for one year to families who leave cash assistance because of earnings. During the second 6-month period, States would have the option to impose an income-related premium on families with incomes above the Federal poverty level. This provision would take effect on Apr. 1, 1990, and it would expire after Sept. 30, 1988, when the current law 4-month transitional benefit would be reinstated

E. Disregard of income

1. Changes in income disregards.—The standard income disregard would increase from $75 to $90. The disregard for child care costs would increase from $160 to $175 per child per month ($200 for a child under 2 years old) and would be calculated after other disregard provisions.

2. Treatment of earned income tax credit.—The earned income tax credit would not reduce AFDC benefits.

TITLE IV. RELATED AFDC AMENDMENTS

A. Benefits for unemployed parents (AFDC-UP)

All States would be required to have an unemployed parent program. States that have an unemployed parent program as of Sept. 26, 1988, would be required to continue operating such programs without any time limit on eligibility. Other States could choose to limit benefits to as few as 6 months in any 12-month period. States would be required to provide full Medicaid coverage to all family members even in months when benefits are not paid because of the time limit. The provisions relating to benefits for unemployed parents would be effective Oct. 1, 1990, and would terminate Sept. 30, 1998.

B. Benefits for minor parents

States would be allowed to require minor parents to live with their parents in order to receive AFDC benefits.

C. Need and payment standards

Each State would be required to reevaluate its need and payment standards every 3 years.

D. Study of alternative minimum benefit proposals

Studies by the National Academy of Sciences and CBO of minimum benefit proposals would be required.

TITLE V. DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS

A. Family support demonstrations

Four family support demonstration projects would be authorized on education and training programs for children, early childhood development programs, community-based family support services, and using nonprofit organizations to create employment opportunities.

B. Other demonstrations

Other demonstration projects would be authorized, including AFDC mothers as paid day care providers, projects to provide counseling and services to high-risk teenagers, and an extension of the Minnesota Medicaid demonstration project.

TITLE VI. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

A. Uniform reporting requirements

The Secretary would be required to establish uniform reporting requirements to ensure effective implementation of the Medicaid and child care transitions.

B. State reports on social service funds

States would be required to submit annual reports including specific data. The Secretary of HHS would be directed to establish uniform definitions.

C. Provisions affecting Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa

American Samoa would be authorized to participate in all programs under title IV of the Social Security Act. Its funding would be limited to $1 million per year for AFDC, foster care, and adoption assistance. Limits on grants to Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and Guam would be raised to $82, $2.8, and $3.8 million, respectively.

D. AFDC quality control

The moratorium on collections of disallowances would be extended under the AFDC quality control system until July 1, 1989.

E. Preeligibility fraud detection

TITLE VII. FUNDING PROVISIONS

A. Collection of nontax debts extension

The refund offset program for IRS collection of nontax debts owed to Federal agencies would be extended through Jan. 10, 1994.

B. Dependent care credit and exclusion modifications

The maximum age of dependents for whom the dependent care credit and dependent care exclusion may be claimed (other than dependents who are handicapped) would be lowered from 14 to 12 years of age after Dec. 31, 1988. Dependent care expenses for which the dependent care credit may be claimed are to be reduced by amounts excluded from income under the dependent care exclusion after Dec. 31, 1988. The dependent care credit and exclusion are not available unless the taxpayer submits the name, address, and (except in the case of care providers who are churches) the taxpayer identification number of the dependent care provider after Dec. 31, 1988.

C. Taxpayer identification number required for dependents who have attained age 2

A taxpayer claiming an exemption for a dependent who is at least 2 years old must include the taxpayer identification number on the individual's tax return, effective for returns due after Dec. 31, 1989. Under prior law, the age threshold was 5 years.

D. Employee business expenses

Expenses incurred under nonaccountable account plans, that is, plans under which the taxpayer does not have to account to his or her employer for reimbursed expenses, or return to the employer reimbursements in excess of actual expenditures, are deductible only as itemized deductions subject to the 2 percent floor.

H.R. 1748 (Mr. Aspin); Public Law 100–180; app. Dec. 4, 1987.

The National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Years 1988-1989 was referred to the Armed Services Committee on Mar. 23, 1987, and reported as amended to the House on Apr. 15, 1987. The House passed the bill with an amendment in the nature of a substitute on May 20, 1987. The Senate passed the bill in lieu of S. 1174 on Oct. 2, 1987, and requested a conference with the House on Oct. 16, 1987. On Oct. 20, 1987, the House agreed to the conference report on Nov. 18, 1987 and the Senate agreed on Oct. 19, 1987. H.R. 1748 was signed into law by the President on Dec. 4, 1987, as Public Law 100–180.

The Committee on Ways and Means had jurisdictional interest in secs. 828, 856, 857, 858, and 2818 of the Senate amendment. Section 828 (sec. 1403 of Public Law 100–180) was retained; all other provisions under the committee's jurisdiction were dropped in conference. This section provides a sense of Congress that the United States should reassess whether to terminate the importation of sugars, syrups, or molasses from Panama and reallocate such quantities among other countries.

H.R. 1777 (Mr. Mica); Public Law 100–204; app. Dec. 22, 1987.

H.R. 1777, the Department of State Authorization Act of Fiscal Years 1988 and 1989, was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs on Mar. 25, 1987, and reported as amended to the House on Mar. 27, 1987. The House passed the bill with an amendment in the nature of a substitute on June 23, 1987 and the Senate passed the bill in lieu of S. 1394 on Oct. 8, 1987 and requested a conference with the House. On Oct. 20, 1987, the House agreed to a conference with the Senate. The House agreed to the conference report on Dec. 15, 1987, and the Senate on Dec. 16, 1987. H.R. 1777 was signed into law by the President on Dec. 22, 1987, as Public Law 100–204.

The Committee on Ways and Means had jurisdictional interest in secs. 522, 806, 912, and 913. Section 806 was retained; all other provisions under the committee's jurisdiction were dropped in conference. Section 806 amends sec. 802 of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended (Public Law 93–618) by expanding the sanctions available to the President, including withdrawal from Customs preclearance arrangements, against uncooperative major drug-producing or drug-transiting countries.

H.R. 2167 (Mr. Luken with cosponsors); passed House Nov. 9, 1987. (See also H.R. 4333.)

H.R. 2167, the Railroad Unemployment Insurance and Retirement Improvement Act of 1987, was jointly referred to the Committees on Ways and Means and Energy and Commerce. The bill was reported to the House by the Energy and Commerce Committee on May 21, 1987, and by the Ways and Means Committee on Oct. 19, 1987.

As passed by the House on Nov. 9, 1987, the Ways and Means provisions would implement many of the recommendations made in 1984 by the congressionally-mandated Railroad Unemployment Compensation Committee. The bill includes modest benefit improvements and establishes an experience rating tax schedule in which an employer's taxes would be directly proportional to the amount of unemployment benefits paid to employees.

In addition to revising the basic tax structure for the Railroad Unemployment Insurance program, the committee amendments to H.R. 2167 would guarantee that the debt (plus interest) owed by the Railroad Unemployment Insurance program to the retirement program is repaid gradually over the next 12 years, simplify and streamline the existing tax structure, and ease the transition to the experience-rated system for public commuter railroads.

The revenue provisions of H.R. 2167, as amended by the Committee on Ways and Means, include the following:

Taxable wage base.—Indexes the $600 per month taxable wage base to two-thirds of the increase in national average wages. In addition, the same taxable wage base would be used for all railroad unemployment taxes by changing the taxable wage base for the debt repayment tax and the surtax from $7,000 annually to $600 monthly.

Experience rating.—Establishes an "experience rating" tax schedule for employers; employer tax rates would be proportional to layoffs; tax rates could be as high as 12.5 percent.

Administrative tax rate.—Increases the administrative tax rate from 0.5 percent to 0.65 percent.

Repayment tax.—Changes the current payment tax rate to 4.0 percent, beginning in 1989 and maintains it until the debt to the retirement program plus interest is repaid.

Surcharge rate schedule.—Incorporates the present law 3.5 percent surtax, which is applied to new borrowing, into a new surcharge rate schedule. Under this approach, a surcharge of 1.5 percent would apply when net assets in the RUI account fall below $100 million. A surcharge of 2.5 percent would be in effect if net assets dropped to less than $50 million. The 3.5 percent surcharge would apply if net assets were below zero.

Public commuter railroads.—Allows public commuter railroads to cover their unemployment and sickness costs in the Railroad Unemployment Compensation program on a "reimbursable basis" for 1988 and 1989 only. Beginning in 1990, public commuter railroads would be required to participate in the experience rated system on the same basis as any other railroad.

Reporting requirements.—1Requires a separate "section 502" report on the financial condition of the Railroad Unemployment Compensation program each year.

GAO study of fraud and payment errors.—Requires a study of the frequency of fraud and payment errors in the Railroad Unemployment Compensation program. The report would include estimates of annual losses due to fraud and overpayment, a comparison of similar rates on other Federal programs, and recommendations for legislative measures that would solve any fraud and payment error problems that are identified by the study.

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, H.R. 2167 was pending in the Senate Finance Committee. Similar provisions were enacted into law as part of Public Law 100–647 (H.R. 4333).

H.R. 2310 (Mr. Mineta with cosponsors); Public Law 100–223; app. Dec. 30, 1987.

H.R. 2310, The Airport and Airway Safety and Capacity Expansion Act of 1987, was referred to the Committees on Public Works and Transportation and Science and Technology. The Science and Technology Committee reported the bill to the House on June 3, 1987, and the Public Works Committee reported it on June 26, 1987. The Ways and Means Committee approved provisions to fund a 5-year trust fund spending authorization with extension of related excise taxes for 3-years on Aug. 3, 1987. These were added as a separate title to the bill as it passed the House on Oct. 1, 1987.

The bill passed the Senate with an amendment in the nature of a substitute (text of S. 1184), and other amendments on Oct. 28, 1987. On Dec. 15, 1987, a conference report was filed. The conference report was agreed to in the Senate on Dec. 17 and in the House on Dec. 18, 1987.

The President signed the bill into law on Dec. 30, 1987, as Public Law 100–223. A summary of title IV of the act follows.

1. Extends for 3 years the present law airport and airway-related excise taxes and exemptions (Jan. 1, 1988 through Dec. 31, 1992).

2. Extends for 5 years authority to spend from the Airport and Airway Trust Fund (Oct. 1, 1987 through Oct. 1, 1992), and would update the trust fund statute to reflect trust fund authorization in H.R. 2310.

3. Automatic 50 percent reductions in air passenger ticket, cargo and fuel taxes for a calendar year, if trust fund appropriations for airport improvements, airway facilities and equipment, and research, engineering, and development for the prior fiscal year total less than 85 percent of authorized levels after Dec. 1, 1989.

4. Emergency medical helicopters owned or leased by health care facilities which do not use the federally assisted airport and airway facilities funded by these taxes are exempt from all applicable airport and airway excise taxes.

H.R. 2342 (Mr. Hutto with cosponsors); Public Law 100–448; app. Sept. 28, 1988.

H.R. 2342, the Coast Guard Authorization Act of 1988, was referred to the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. As reported to the House on June 11, 1987, the bill contained certain provisions within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means. On July 8, 1987, H.R. 2342, as amended, passed the House. The Senate passed the bill in lieu of S. 1459 on Oct. 13, 1987, amended. The House concurred in the Senate amendments with amendments on Dec. 18, 1987. On Sept. 14, 1988, the House agreed to the conference report and on Sept. 15, 1988, the Senate agreed to the conference report. The President signed the bill into law on Sept. 28, 1988, as Public Law 100–448.

The Committee on Ways and Means has jurisdiction over a provision in sec. 6 of Public Law 100–488. The provision would increase the current limit on funds transferred to the Boat Safety Account.

H.R. 2360 (Mr. Rostenskowski and Mr. Duncan); Public Law 100–40; app. May 15, 1987.

H.R. 2360, providing for a temporary increase in the public debt limit, was reported to the House by the Committee on Ways and Means on May 11, 1987. The bill provides an increase of $20 billion in the public debt limit from $2,300 billion to $2,320 billion through July 17, 1987, after which the limit reverts to $2,111 billion. The increase goes into effect on enactment.

The debt limit level in this bill is the amount estimated by the Secretary of the Treasury as sufficient to meet borrowing needs through July 17, 1987.

H.R. 2360 passed the House on May 13, 1987. A committee amendment, which was made in order by the rule, to increase the statutory limit on the debt to $2,578 trillion was rejected by the House. The bill passed the Senate on May 14, 1987, without amendment.

The President signed H.R. 2360 into law on May 15, 1987, as Public Law 100–40.

H.R. 2470 (Mr. Stark with cosponsors); Public Law 100–360; app. June 30, 1988.

H.R. 2470, the Medicare Catastrophic Protection Act of 1987, was jointly referred to the Committees on Ways and Means and Energy and Commerce. On May 22, 1987, the Ways and Means Committee reported the bill to the House. The Energy and Commerce Committee reported the bill to the House on July 1, 1987. The bill passed the House on July 22, 1987, as amended.

H.R. 2470 passed the Senate on Oct. 27, 1987, as amended. On Dec. 9, 1987, the House disagreed to the Senate amendments and requested a conference with the Senate. On Feb. 2, 1988, the Senate insisted on its amendments and agreed to a conference with the House. The conference report was filed on May 31, 1988. The conference report was agreed to in the House on June 2, 1988, and in the Senate on June 8, 1988.

The President signed the bill into law on June 30, 1988, as Public Law 100–360. A summary of the act follows:

PROVISIONS RELATING TO PART A

1. Inpatient Hospital Services

(a) Inpatient hospital deductible.—The inpatient hospital deductible would apply only to a beneficiary's first period of continuous hospitalization beginning in a calendar year.

However, if a beneficiary paid a deductible during December of a calendar year, the beneficiary would not be required to pay an additional deductible for a hospitalization beginning in January of the following year. The deductible is estimated to be approximately $564 in 1989.

(b) Elimination of day limitation on inpatient hospital services.—The Medicare limits on payment for days of inpatient hospital care (90 days of inpatient hospital care plus a lifetime reserve of 60 days) would be eliminated so that Medicare would pay for an unlimited number of hospital days for covered services. The 190-day lifetime limit on inpatient psychiatric hospital services would be retained.

(c) Elimination of coinsurance amounts for inpatient hospital services.—The current hospital inpatient coinsurance amounts for days 61 through 90 and coinsurance for the 60 lifetime reserve days would be eliminated.

(d) Elimination of "spell of illness".—The "spell of illness" methodology would be eliminated for determining: the number of hospital days Medicare would cover, the skilled nursing facility coinsurance and the part A blood deductible.

(e) Adjustments in payments for inpatient hospital services.—When adjusting for Medicare hospital payment system, the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) would be required to take into account the reductions in beneficiary payments to hospitals because of the elimination of the day limitation.

The Secretary, when appropriate, would adjust the payment rates under the prospective payment system (PPS) (including the outlier cutoff points, and the weighting factors), and would be required on a hospital-specific basis to adjust the target amounts for paying non-PPS hospitals.

(f) Chronic ventilator-dependent unit demonstration program.—The Secretary would be required to initiate up to five projects to demonstrate the feasibility of including chronic ventilator- dependent unit services as rehabilitation services under the Medicare program. The services would be reimbursed on a cost basis as are other rehabilitation services.

2. Extended Care Services (Skilled Nursing Facility)

(a) Coinsurance on first 8 days.—Beneficiaries would be required to pay coinsurance amounts for the first 8 days of such services in a calendar year.

(b) Coinsurance equal to 20 percent.—The coinsurance amount per day would be equal to 20 percent of the National average per diem Medicare reasonable cost for a skilled nursing facility (SNF) services. The coinsurance amount is estimated to be approximately $20.50 per day in 1989.

(c) Cover 150 days of care.—The Medicare program would cover 150 days of skilled nursing care services in a calendar year.

(d) Prior hospitalization requirement.—The 3-day prior hospitalization requirement for skilled nursing facility benefits would be eliminated effective for skilled nursing facility stays beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1989.

3. Hospice Care

(a) Extending day limit.—The Medicare program would extend the hospice benefit, and reimburse a hospice, beyond the current 210-day benefit period if the beneficiary's physician or hospice director recertified that the beneficiary was still terminally ill. The current-law cap on hospice reimbursement would be maintained.

4. Blood Deductible

(a) Change blood-deductible requirement.—A Medicare beneficiary would be responsible for payment of a deductible equal to the expenses incurred for the first 3 pints of whole blood (or equivalent quantities of packed red blood cells) furnished each calendar year. The blood deductible could be met by replacing the blood, in accordance with regulations. The part A blood deductible would be reduced to the extent that a blood deductible had been paid under part B.

5. Part A Premium

(a) Recalculation.—Requires the Secretary (beginning in 1989) to establish a new part A monthly premium amount equal to the estimated actuarial value of the part A benefit. The premium is estimated to be $158 a month in 1989.

6. Effective Date

The above part A benefits would be effective for services provided on or after Jan. 1, 1989.

PROVISIONS RELATING TO PART B

1. Limitation on Medicare Out-of-Pocket Expenses Under Part B

(a) Limit out-of-pocket expenses.—After a Medicare beneficiary had incurred out-of-pocket part B covered expenses in a calendar year which exceeded the part B catastrophic limit, (1) Medicare would be required to pay 100 percent of reasonable costs or reasonable charges for any additional part B covered services in the year, and (2) no further deductibles would be required.

Out-of-pocket part B expenses would be defined to include the part B $75 deductible, the part B blood deductible, and the 20-percent coinsurance required to be paid by beneficiaries for part B benefits.

The part B catastrophic limit is estimated, according to preliminary estimates by the Congressional Budget Office, to be $1,370 in 1990. The limit would be indexed so that a constant share of Medicare beneficiaries, 7.0 percent according to preliminary estimates by the Congressional Budget Office, would be eligible for benefits from the catastrophic limit each year.

For prepaid health care organizations paid on the basis of aggregate reasonable cost, the Secretary would be required to provide for an appropriate adjustment to their payment amounts to reflect the increase in protection as if payment were made on an individual-by-individual basis.

Medicare carriers would be required to provide individuals, who have incurred sufficient out-of-pocket expenses, to qualify for catastrophic benefits, with a notice to that effect.

(b) Institutional-provider limitation.—Institutional providers with agreements with the Medicare program would be prohibited from charging Medicare beneficiaries for services for which catastrophic benefit payments are made to the provider.

2. Home Health Services

(a) Extension of home health services.—The "intermittent" skilled nursing care definition for home health services would be expanded so that "daily" would be defined as up to 7 days a week for up to 38 days in any given period, instead of 5 days a week for up to 2 or 3 weeks. Current guidelines allowing for continuation of services under unusual circumstances would be recognized.

3. Mammography Screening

(a) Coverage of mammography screening.—Mammography screening would be covered for elderly and disabled Medicare beneficiaries. For women 65 years of age and over, exams would be available every other year.

For disabled women under 65 years of age, a baseline screening would be available between age 35 and 40; between age 40 and 49 exams would be available every other year, except high risk individuals could receive a screening each year; and between age 50 and 64 an annual screening would be available.

The reasonable charge would be limited to the lower of $50 in 1990 indexed to the Medicare Economic Index (MEI), or the current-law fee schedule. Quality standards would be required beginning in 1990.

By May 1, 1990, the Physician's Payment Review Commission would be directed to study and report to Congress on the appropriate payment limit and how the limit would affect access to the benefit. By the same date, the General Accounting Office (GAO) would be required to study and report on the quality of care provided by clinics providing mammography screenings.

4. Respite-Care Benefit

(a) Coverage of in-home care for certain chronically dependent individuals.—In-home care for a chronically dependent individual would be provided for up to 80 hours a year. The individual would be eligible to receive such services for 12 months after the individual first meets the part B catastrophic limit or the prescription drug deductible. A "chronically dependent individual" would be defined as someone who is dependent on a voluntary care-giver for assistance with at least two activities of daily living (eating, bathing, dressing, toileting or transferring in and out of bed or in and out of a chair).

5. Provisions Relating to Home IV-Drug Therapy

(a) General.—Effective Jan. 1, 1990, Medicare would cover home intravenous (IV) drugs and associated items and services (including supplies, equipment and nursing and pharmacy services).

(b) Coverage.—All IV antibiotics would be covered initially. Other IV drugs would be covered only if the Secretary first makes a finding that such drug generally can be safely and effectively administered in a home setting.

(c) Deductible and coinsurance.—There would be no deductible or coinsurance for the home IV-drug services. Covered home IV drugs, however, would be subject to the standard drug benefit deductible and to 20-percent coinsurance. The drug benefit deductible would be waived if the course of home therapy is part of a continuous course of therapy initiated in a hospital.

(d) Payment.—Payment for home IV drugs would follow the reimbursement principles outlined in the preceding section. Payment for associate items and services would be based on a per diem fee schedule established by the Secretary. There would be limitations on referrals to a home IV provider by a physician who receives compensation from, or has an ownership interest in, the provider.

(e) Quality assurance.—A plan of care must be developed by the physician prescribing the home IV-drug therapy. In addition, through 1993, prior approval by a PRO would be required as a condition of payment. PROs would be required to complete review determinations within 1 working day of a request. Home IV-drug therapy providers must meet a number of requirements to assure quality.

(f) Intermediate sanctions.—Intermediate sanctions would be established for providers which fail to comply with certain requirements.

6. Effective Dates

The above part B benefits would be effective for services furnished on or after Jan. 1, 1990.

PROVISIONS RELATING TO OUTPATIENT PRESCRIPTION DRUGS

1. Coverage and Phase-in

(a) General.—Effective Jan. 1, 1990, Medicare would cover home intravenous (IV) therapy drugs and immunosuppressive drugs used after the first year after transplantation. A 20-percent coinsurance would apply to IV drugs, and a 50-percent coinsurance for immunosuppressives. Effective Jan. 1, 1991, Medicare would cover all other prescription drugs subject to a 50-percent coinsurance in 1991, 40-percent in 1992, and 20-percent thereafter.

(b) Coverage.—Subject to the phase-in described above, all prescription drugs approved by the FDA as safe and effective, would be covered.

(c) Prohibition of formulary.—The Secretary would be prohibited from implementing a formulary to exclude from coverage any drug otherwise covered.

2. Deductible

(a) General.—The deductible would be $550 for 1990; $600 for 1991; $652 for 1992. After 1991, the deductible would be indexed so that approximately 16.8 percent of Medicare beneficiaries would exceed the deductible limit.

(b) Special rule for home IV-drug therapy.—The deductible would be waived in the case of home IV-drug therapy initiated during a hospital admission.

3. Payment for Single-Source Drugs and Multiple-Source Drugs With a Restrictive Prescription

(a) General.—Subject to the coinsurance amount, payment would be limited to the lowest of the pharmacy's actual charge, the 90th percentile of pharmacy charges, or the sum of the average wholesale price (AWP) for the drug dispensed, plus an administrative allowance. The 90th-percentile limit would not apply until 1992 and would be based on pharmacy charges from the second preceding payment period.

(b) Survey.—HHS would conduct a biannual survey of direct sellers, wholesalers, or pharmacists to determine the applicable wholesale price (excluding discounts). For other appropriate circumstances, HHS could rely on published sources instead of a survey. Participating pharmacies would be required to take part in the survey.

(c) Restrictive prescriptions.—A multiple-source drug would be considered to be subject to a restrictive prescription if the physician writes in his own handwriting on the prescription that a particular brand must be dispensed. For telephone prescriptions, within 30 days after the date of the prescription, the physician must send a written confirmation to the pharmacy that the particular brand must be dispensed.

4. Payment for Multiple-Source Drugs Not Subject to Restrictive Prescriptions

(a) General.—Subject to coinsurance, payment would be limited to the lower of the pharmacy's actual charge or the sum of the unweighted median of AWPs, plus an administrative allowance.

(b) Definition of multiple-source drugs.—The term "multiple-source drug" is defined as a covered outpatient drug for which there are two or more drug products rated as therapeutically equivalent by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Specific requirements regarding pharmaceutical equivalence and bioequivalence would also apply until such time as the FDA changes its definition of therapeutic equivalence by regulation, allowing 90 days for public comment.

(c) Calculation and update.—The median AWP for a particular multiple-source drug would be based on the AWPs for all available products rated as therapeutically equivalent by the FDA. AWPs for multiple-source drugs would be updated twice a year and would be determined either on the basis of published sources or on the basis of a survey conducted by HHS as described above.

5. Administrative Allowance

(a) General.—The administrative allowance for participating and nonparticipating pharmacies would be $4.50 and $2.50 respectively for 1990 and 1991. The allowances would be subsequently updated once a year based on the percent increase in the GNP deflator.

(b) Mail-service pharmacies.—HHS could reduce the administrative allowance for mail-service pharmacies by regulation based on differences between such pharmacies and other pharmacies with respect to operating costs and other economies.

6. Special Reports and Cost Control Authority

(a) Reports.—Beginning June 30, 1989, HHS would be required to submit a report every 6 months to the House Committee on Ways and Means and Committee on Energy and Commerce and to the Senate Finance Committee. The report would include information concerning increases in prices charged by pharmacists and manufacturers for covered outpatient drugs, and would review information regarding use of covered outpatient drugs by Medicare beneficiaries. Between October 1991 and April 1993, HHS would submit monthly reports to Congress showing outlays and receipts of the Federal Catastrophic Drug Insurance Trust Fund.

(b) Secretarial authority.—Based on information provided in these reports, including expenditure data from 1991, the Secretary of HHS shall, beginning in 1992, provide Congress with an annual report on the budgetary status of the trust fund, including recommended changes necessary to achieve the established contingency margin in the subsequent year. The Secretary would have a limited authority to implement special cost-control measures by regulation for 1993 and 1994. The authority would apply if the Secretary's May 1, 1992, or 1993, report to Congress recommends changes necessary to achieve the established reserve levels, and the Congress has not enacted these or comparable changes by Jan. 1, 1993, or 1994. Any such regulation would be effective for 1 year only, and would lapse at the beginning of the next year.

(c) Limitations.—In exercising this authority, the Secretary would be prohibited from implementing a formulary, excluding a class of drugs, changing the method for calculating the deductible, or altering coinsurance, except to set the coinsurance at the previous year's level, or next year's level, or an intermediate level.

7. Utilization and Quality Assurance

(a) General.—HHS would be required to establish a program to identify and correct utilization and quality problems.

(b) Standards.—In carrying out this program, the Secretary would establish prescribing standards based on accepted medical practice. The standards would be based on authoritative medical compendia, except that the Secretary could modify such standards by regulation on the basis of scientific and medical information.

8. Administration and Miscellaneous Provisions

(a) Electronic point-of-sale claims processing.—HHS would be required to establish an electronic point-of-sale claims system by Jan. 1, 1991. This system would track drug purchases by beneficiaries to facilitate determination of deductible status. HHS could contract with entities other than carriers to implement the electronic system and to carry out related functions.

(b) Participating pharmacies.—A participating pharmacy must be licensed under State law, must provide counselling regarding drug use and availability of generics, and must submit information on all drug purchases by beneficiaries through the electronic system.

(c) Assignment.—Payment could be made on an assigned-claims basis only to participating pharmacies. Participating pharmacies would be required to accept assignment on all covered outpatient drugs upon receiving notice from Medicare that a beneficiary has satisfied the deductible requirement.

(d) Limitation on charges.—Participating and nonparticipating pharmacies would be prohibited from charging Medicare beneficiaries more than they charge the general public.

(e) Supply dispensed.—Payment would generally be limited to a 30-day supply although the Secretary could authorize payment for up to 90 days (or beyond in exceptional circumstances).

(f) Payment of HMOs.—The average adjusted per capita cost (AAPCC) for health maintenance organizations (HMOs) would be adjusted to reflect this new benefit.

(g) Prescription Drug Payment Review Commission.—A Prescription Drug Payment Review Commission would be established by Jan. 1, 1989, to provide Congress with recommendations concerning administration of the program. The Commission would consist of 11 members appointed by the Office of Technology Assessment.

(h) Studies.—A number of studies would be required.

PROVISIONS RELATING TO THE FINANCING OF BENEFITS

1. Supplemental and Flat Part B Premiums

(a) Premium structure.—The catastrophic and prescription drug benefits would be financed through the combination of a supplemental premium based on income tax liability and an additional, flat part B premium.

The supplemental premium would be mandatory for all part A eligible individuals (generally, individuals age 65 or over and disabled individuals who receive Social Security benefits, other than qualified nonresidents). The supplemental premium would not be treated as a medical expense for income tax purposes.

For 1993 revenues from the supplemental premium are estimated to provide approximately 63 percent of financing, and revenues from the flat premium, 37 percent of financing. After 1993, this mix might change to reflect limitations on the allowable increase in the supplemental premium [see (e)(iii) below].

(b) Supplemental premium rates.—Supplemental premium rates would be set in the statute from 1989 through 1993. Preliminary estimates by the staff of the Joint Committee on Taxation indicate that the premium rate for each $150 of Federal tax liability in each of these years would be:

| Year: | Total |
|---|---|
| 1989 | $22.50 |
| 1990 | 37.50 |
| 1991 | 39.00 |
| 1992 | 40.50 |
| 1993 | 42.00 |

After 1993, rates would be indexed according to the procedure described in (e) and (f) below.

(c) Flat-premium rates.—The flat premium would be set in the statute from 1989 through 1993. Premium estimates by the staff of the Congressional Budget Office indicate that the premium is not likely to exceed $4 per month in 1989 or $10.20 per month in 1993.

After 1993, the flat premium would be increased according to the indexing procedure described in (e) and (f) below.

(d) Social Security hold-harmless.—An individual's Social Security benefit would not decrease due to an increase in flat premiums.

(e) Premium indexing—Catastrophic—

(i) Supplemental and flat premiums.—After 1993, the flat and supplemental premium would be indexed according to data on (a) program costs and premium revenues in the second and third preceding years (with an adjustment for recent trends in the Consumer Price Index); and (b) actual shortfalls in reserves (as described at (h) below) at the end of the second preceding year.

(ii) Cap on increases.—The combined annual increase in the supplemental premium rates for catastrophic and drug benefits would be limited to $1.50 per $150 of tax liability.

(iii) Revenue shortfall.—After 1993, if the increase in the supplemental premium is limited by the $1.50 cap, then notwithstanding the 63/37-percent mix of supplemental and flat premium financing, the Secretary would increase the flat premium to replace revenue which would have been collected if the limit was not in place.

(f) Premium indexing—prescription drugs—

(i) Supplemental and flat premiums.—For 1994 through 1977, rates would be adjusted to maintain a reserve fund at the specified percent of program outlays (as described in (h) (ii) below) based on data from the second preceding year. For 1998 and thereafter, premium rates would be indexed according to the method used to index catastrophic benefit premiums, according to data on (1) program costs and premium revenues for the second and third preceding years (with an adjustment for recnt trends in the Consumer Price Index); and (2) actual reserve shortfalls at the end of the second preceding year.

(ii) Cap on increases.—As noted in (e)(ii) above, the combined annual increase in the supplemental premium rates for catastrophic and drug benefits would be limited to $1.50 per $150 of tax liability.

(iii) Cost controls.—The Secretary would be authorized to implement cost-control measures effective for 1 year on both Jan. 1, 1993, and Jan. 1, 1994.

(iv) Revenue shortfall.—After 1993, if the growth in the supplemental premium is limited by the $1.50 cap, then (as described at (e)(iii) above), the Secretary would increase the flat premium to replace revenue which would have been collected if the cap were not in place.

(g) Premium indexing—procedure.—Effective in 1993, the following procedure would be followed in setting the premium:

July 1.—HHS would publish program costs and reserve funds through December of the prior year. HHS and Treasury would publish preliminary notice of premium rates for the subsequent year.

September 1.—HHS and Treasury would report to Congress on the premium rates for the subsequent year. GAO would send Congress a study of HHS and Treasury notifications.

By October 5.—HHS and Treasury would publish final premium rates.

(h) Reserves—

(i) Catastrophic.—Before 1994, premium rates would be set in the statute to achieve an estimated reserve fund of 20 percent of the current year's program outlays, phased in through Dec. 31, 1993. After 1993, premiums would be set by Treasury and HHS to achieve a reserve fund of 20 percent of program outlays, based on data from the second preceding year.

(ii) Prescription drug.—Premiums would be set in the statute to establish an estimated reserve fund of 100 percent in 1991, 75 percent in 1992, and 50 percent in 1993. After 1993, premiums would be set by Treasury and HHS to achieve a reserve fund of 25 percent in 1994 and 1995, and 20 percent after 1995, based on data from the second preceding year.

(i) Maximum supplemental premium.—The maximum supplemental premium for the first 5 years would be set in the statute according to the following schedule:

| Year: | Total |
|---|---|
| 1989 | $800 |
| 1990 | 850 |
| 1991 | 900 |
| 1992 | 950 |
| 1993 | 1,050 |

After 1993, the cap would be indexed by the increase in the subsidized portion of part B benefits (including prescription drugs) from the third to the second preceding year. Drug benefit costs would be disregard for years before 1998. The cap would be rounded to the nearest $50.

(j) Part year enrollees.—Enrollees who participate 6 full months or less in any calendar year would be exempt from the supplemental premium in that year, and enrollees who participate for more than 6 full months in any calendar year would be subject to the full supplemental premium for that year.

(k) Married couples with one enrollee.—In the case of a married couple with only one member enrolled in Medicare, the supplemental premium would be computed on the basis of half the couple's joint tax liability.

2. Drug Trust Fund and Catastrophic Account

(a) Drug trust fund.—A Prescription Drug Trust Fund would be established. Prescription drug benefit premiums would be transferred to the Drug Trust Fund.

(b) Catastrophic account.—A separate account for catastrophic health benefits would be established in the Medicare budget. No real cash transfers to the account would be made. If the account were depleted, Medicare part B trust fund amounts could be expended, but the account would be debited for principal and interest owed. Portions of the supplemental premium would be transferred into the part B trust fund.

A Hospital Insurance Trust Fund Catastrophic Coverage Reserve Fund would be established. Amounts equal to the payments from the Hospital Insurance Trust Fund for catastrophic benefits would be transferred to the reserve fund from the supplemental premium.

3. Government Retirees

(a) Special credit.—A special credit would be available for individuals with taxable Government annuities and small amounts of Social Security income. The credit reflects the fact that a substantial portion of Government annuities are subject to Federal income taxation, while for moderate income individuals Social Security income is not subject to tax.

4. Special Circumstances

(a) Monthly premiums for residents of U.S. commonwealths and territories.—For residents of U.S. commonwealths and territories, in 1989 and 1990 catastrophic premiums would be set in the statute to cover the costs of catastrophic benefits in each territory (or commonwealth). For years after 1990, the premium would be indexed to projected increases in the actuarial value of catastrophic benefits in the United States. A prescription drug premium would be set in the statute to cover the costs of the prescription drug benefits in each territory (or commonwealth) for 1990 and 1991; the premium would thereafter be indexed to the projected increase in the actuarial value of the prescription drug benefit in the United States.

(b) Monthly premiums for individuals enrolled under part B but not entitled to benefits under part A.—For individuals enrolled in part B but not entitled to part A benefits under Medicare, the catastrophic premium would be set in the statute for 1990 based on the cost of the part B catastrophic benefit, and adjusted thereafter to increases in the projected actuarial value of the part B catastrophic benefit.

The prescription drug portion of the premium would be set in the statute for 1990 and 1991, and thereafter adjusted to the projected increase in the actuarial value of the prescription drug benefit.

OTHER PROVISIONS

1. Notice to Medicare Beneficiaries

(a) Mailing of notice.—The Secretary of HHS would be required to prepare an annual notice to be sent to all Medicare beneficiaries which would provide a simple, clear explanation of Medicare benefits, coinsurance and deductibles. This notice would also include an explanation of the limits of the Medicare and Medicaid programs with regard to long-term care benefits.

(b) Notice concerning participating physicians.—A special notice would be included on the explanation of medical benefits for unassigned claims. The notice would contain information concerning assignment and participation. In addition, a booklet would be sent to Medicare beneficiaries once a year with information concerning the participating physician program.

2. Benefits Counseling Demonstration

(a) Demonstration.—The Secretary of HHS would be required to establish a 3-year demonstration project through an agreement with a private or public nonprofit agency or organization for the purpose of training volunteers. The volunteers would provide counseling to elderly individuals about eligiblity for Medicare and Medicaid and assist in preparing documents that may be required to receive such benefits.

3. Case Management Demonstration

(a) Demonstration.—The Secretary of HHS would be required to establish four demonstration projects for 2 years to provide case management services to Medicare beneficiaries with selected high-cost illnesses. At least one demonstration would be conducted by a PRO. Some $2 million would be authorized in each of 2 years for administrative costs.

4. Certification of Medicare Supplemental Health Insurance Policies

(a) Establishment of new Medigap standards.—If the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) revises the existing model standards within 90 days after enactment, the new NAIC standards would be the standards for certification. If the NAIC does not amend the standards within 90 days the Secretary would be required to issue Federal model standards within 60 days of enactment.

(b) Required mailing of notice.—Companies that issue Medicare supplemental policies in effect on Jan. 1, 1989, would be required by Jan. 31, 1989, on a one-time basis, to send a letter to their policyholders who are entitled to Medicare, explaining the improved benefits contained in the catastrophic legislation passed by the Congress, and how these improvements will affect the benefits contained in the policies and the cost of the premium.

The Secretary would be required to inform Medicare beneficiaries about current laws prohibiting marketing abuses and the way to report them, and to allow beneficiaries to use a toll-free number to report suspected violations.

(c) Required submission of advertising.—Companies that issue Medicare supplemental policies would be required to submit their advertising files to the State Insurance Commission for review as to whether their marketing practices comply with State law with respect to advertising used on or after Jan. 1, 1989. There is no Federal requirement for State review.

(d) Transition for current policies.—If by Jan. 1, 1989, a State does not adopt either the NAIC model transition regulation, or the new model minimum standards, policies which are otherwise in compliance with existing medical supplemental insurance policy standards, would be deemed to conform to the benefit changes in the catastrophic legislation, if they gave appropriate notice to their policyholders and filed for appropriate coverage and premium adjustments with the State.

(e) Free-look period.—Would require a uniform 30-day free-look period for all Medigap policies.

(f) Reporting loss ratios.—Insurers would have to report actual loss ratios.

5. Maintenance-of-Effort

(a) Employer obligation.—Any employer who provides health benefits to an employee or retired former employee (other than Federal employees or retired Federal employees) that duplicate at least 50 percent of new or improved part A and part B health benefits provided under the catastrophic legislation on the date of enactment, would be required to: (1) provide additional benefits to the employee or retired former employee that are at least equal in value to the duplicative benefits; or (2) refund to the employee or retired former employee an amount described in (b) below. The Secretary of HHS would be required to provide guidelines to employers to assist them in determininig whether or not they met the 50-percent rule.

(b) Employer option on refund.—In providing a refund, an employer would have the option of using the average actuarial values promulgated by the Secretary of HHS or the employer's own present value of the duplicative benefits based on the Secretary's guidelines.

(c) Effective period.—The provision would be effective for the later of 2 years on the expiration of the collective-bargaining agreement. Employers would be required to rebate the duplicative part A benefits in 1989 and the duplicative part B benefits in 1990.

6. Long-Term Care Research

(a) Long-term care research.—The Secretary of HHS would be authorized to support research on long-term care for each of the next 5 years. The research would focus on issues of delivering and financing of long-term care services. Eact year, $5 million would be authorized.

7. Study of Adult Day Care Services

(a) Study.—The Secretary of HHS would be required to study adult day care services and report to Congress within 1 year after enactment.

8. Commission on Comprehensive Health Care

(a) Establishment of commission.—A commission would be established to study and recommend to Congress ways to finance comprehensive long-term care, comprehensive health-care services for the elderly and disabled and comprehensive health care services for all individuals. The Commission would submit a report on long-term care services for the elderly and disabled no later than 6 months after enactment. It would also submit a report on comprehensive health care services for all Americans no later than 1 year after enactment.

9. Provisions Relating to Federal Retirees

(a) Study on offering Medicare supplemental plans to Federal Medicare eligibles.—The Director of the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) would be required to conduct a study regarding changes to the Federal employee health benefit plan (FEHBP) that may be required to incorporate plans designed specifically for Medicare-eligible individuals.

(b) Rate reduction for Medicare-eligible Federal employees.—The Director of OPM would be required to reduce the rates charged to Medicare-eligible individuals participating in FEHBP plans.

10. Other Provisions

(a) Protection of Medicare beneficiaries enrolled in risk-sharing contracts.—Civil monetary penalties and intermediate sanctions against HMOs/CMPs would be increased for certain practices.

(b) Repeal of authority to administer proficiency examinations.—Sec. 1123 of the Social Security Act would be repealed, effective Oct. 1, 1987. This does not affect the qualifications of individuals to perform their duties and responsibilities who were certified by reason of previously administered exams.

(c) Advisory Committee on Medicare Home-Health Claims.—The HCFA Administrator would be required to appoint an 11-member advisory committee. The committee would be required to study the reasons for the increase in home-health claims denials and to report its findings and recommendations to Congress 1 year after enactment.

(d) Authority for Secretary.—The Secretary of HHS would have authority to take action against entities which use the emblem or name of Social Security programs in a manner that they knew or should have known would convey a false impression of official authorization. Violations would be subject to civil monetary penalties.

(e) Technical amendments.—Various technical and minor amendments to the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (OBRA) of 1987 and title XVIII of the Social Security Act would clarify the statutory authority for the Medicare program.

PROVISIONS RELATING TO MEDICAID

1. Medicaid Buy-In of Premium and Cost-Sharing for Poor Medicare Beneficiaries

(a) Phasing in buy-in coverage.—State Medicaid programs would be required, on a phased-in basis, to pay the Medicare premiums, deductibles, and coinsurance for elderly and disabled individuals with incomes below the Federal poverty level ($5,770 per year for an individual in 1988) and resources at or below twice the standard under the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program ($3,800 in 1988).

With respect to all but five States, this requirement would be phased in over the next 4 years as follows: effective Jan. 1, 1989, individuals with incomes at or below 85 percent of poverty; effective Jan. 1, 1990, at or below 90 percent of poverty; effective Jan. 1, 1991, at or below 95 percent of poverty; and effective Jan. 1, 1992, at or below 100 percent of poverty.

In the five States using Medicaid income standards more restrictive than those under SSI, the buy-in requirement would be phased in over the next 5 years, with the income threshold set at 80 percent of poverty on Jan. 1, 1989, and increasing 5 percentage points each year.

(b) Phasing in buy-in coverage for drug benefits.—Under the act, coverage for outpatient prescription drugs would be offered to Medicare beneficiaries effective Jan. 1, 1991, subject in the first year to a deductible of $600 and coinsurance of 50 percent. States would be required, on a phased-in basis, to pay the additional premiums, deductibles, and coinsurance amounts under this new drug coverage for Medicare beneficiaries with incomes at or below the Federal poverty level and resources at or below twice the SSI standard.

States would have the option to cover the deductible by either (1) covering incurred drug charges below the Medicare deductible or (2) providing the same drug coverage as the State offers to its Medicaid beneficiaries. This requirement would be phased in on the same basis as the general buy-in requirement, described above.

(c) Coverage of pregnant women and infants.—States would be required to extend Medicaid coverage to pregnant women and infants up to age 1 with incomes at or below 100 percent of the Federal poverty level ($9,690 per year for a family of 3 in 1988). This requirement would be phased in over the next 2 years as follows: effective July 1, 1989, pregnant women and infants with incomes at or below 75 percent of the poverty level; effective July 1, 1990, below 100 percent of the poverty level.

2. Protection of Income and Resources of Couple for Maintenance of Community Spouse

(a) Protection of income.—After an institutionalized individual has established eligibility for Medicaid, States would be required to allow that an individual's spouse living in the community receive a sufficient amount of the institutionalized spouse's income each month to raise the community spouse's income to at least the following levels: effective Sept. 30, 1989, 122 percent of the Federal poverty level for a couple (currently $786 per month); effective July 1, 1991, 133 percent; and effective July 1, 1992, 150 percent. The monthly protected income level for a community spouse could not exceed $1,500, except where a higher level is determined necessary for fair hearing or court order.

(b) Protection of resources.—Effective Sept. 30, 1989, in determining eligibility for Medicaid coverage for an institutionalized individual with a community spouse, States would be required to total all nonexempt resources held by either spouse and divide them equally, subject to the following minimum and maximum amounts: States would have to protect a minimum of $12,000 for the community spouse; States could raise this minimum as high as $60,000, except where a higher amount is provided under a fair hearing or a court order.

(c) Transfer of assets.—Effective with respect to transfers occurring on or after July 1, 1988 (or enactment, whichever is later), States would be required to determine, at the time of application for Medicaid benefits, whether an institutionalized individual has disposed of resources for less than fair market value within the 30 months. Where such a disposal has occurred, States would have to delay eligibility for Medicaid benefits for a number of months equal to the quotient of the uncompensated value of the assets transferred divided by the cost of nursing home care.

The current SSI transfer of assets policy would be repealed with respect to cash assistance benefits; the new Medicaid rules would apply to disposals of resources by SSI beneficiaries for purposes of eligibility for Medicaid benefits.

Minor adjustments in Medicaid effective dates may be necessary to accommodate final cost estimates.

H.R. 2792 (Mr. Lowry and cosponsors); passed the House June 20, 1988. (See also H.R. 4333 and H.Res. 479.)

H.R. 2792 as introduced clarified the tax treatment of income arising from the exercise of Indian tribe fishing rights protected by treaties, Executive orders, and acts of Congress. The bill was reported favorably on Sept. 21, 1987, by the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs to whom it was jointly referred. The Committee on Ways and Means reported the bill as amended on June 15, 1988. As amended the bill provides that income derived by individual members of an Indian tribe, or by a qualified Indian entity, from fishing-rights-related activity is exempt for Federal and State tax, including income, Social Security, and unemployment compensation insurance taxes. The bill further provides that income derived from protected Indian fishing activities is exempt from Federal taxes only to the extent provided for by the bill. Provisions securing any fishing right for any Indian tribe in any treaty, law, or Executive order would not be construed to provide an exemption from Federal tax. The bill passed the House under suspension of the rules on June 20, 1988. H.R. 2792 was referred to the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs on June 22, 1988.

S. 727, a bill identical to H.R. 2792 as originally introduced, passed the Senate on May 13, 1987. That bill was returned to the Senate pursuant to H.Res. 479, which passed the House on June 22, 1988, because it contravened the constitutional requirement that revenue legislation originate in the House.

The Senate Committee on Finance included a provision similar to H.R. 2792 in S. 2238, the Miscellaneous Revenue Act of 1988, reported to the Senate on Aug. 3, 1988. During Senate consideration on Oct. 11, 1988, of S. 2238, an amended version was substituted for all the provisions of H.R. 4333. In the conference agreement on H.R. 4333, the Technical and Miscellaneous Revenue Act of 1988 (Public Law 100-647), the Senate provision regarding Indian fishing rights was agreed to. The Senate provision did not provide that provisions securing any fishing right for any Indian tribe in any treaty, law, or Executive order shall not be construed to provide an exemption from tax. Instead, the Senate provision and act provides that nothing in the bill shall create any inference as to the existence or nonexistence, or the scope, of any exemption from tax for income derived from fishing rights secured by any treaty, law, or Executive order.

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, H.R. 2792 was pending in the Senate Indian Affairs Committee.

H.R. 3022 (Mr. Rostenkowski and Mr. Duncan); Public Law 100-80; app. July 30, 1987.

H.R. 3022 temporarily extends the $2,320 billion debt limit by restoring the temporary increase of $209 billion to the permanent public debt limit of $2,111 billion that was enacted on May 15, 1987 (P.L. 100-40). The extension will go into effect on enactment.

The act restores the $2,320 billion temporary limit through Aug. 6, 1987. This limit expired on July 17, 1987. The limit provided in the act has been estimated by the Secretary of the Treasury to be sufficient to meet borrowing needs through Aug. 6, 1987.

H.R. 3022 was reported by the Committee on Ways and Means on July 28, 1987, and passed the House and Senate on July 29, 1987.

The President signed H.R. 3022 into law on July 30, 1987, as Public Law 100-80.

H.R. 3030 (Mr. de la Garza with cosponsors); Public Law 100-233; app. Jan. 6, 1988.

H.R. 3030, the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987, was referred to the Agriculture Committee. As reported to the House on Aug. 28, 1987, the bill contained several provisions within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means, including provisions regarding the Federal tax treatment of certain obligations of the Temporary Assistance Corporation, mergers of unlike institutions (tax-exempts with taxables) in the farm credit system, the reorganization of Federal land banks and Federal intermediate banks into service banks, the allocation of patronage dividends, and the creation of the Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corporation. The language of the bill was modified and statements were made on the floor of the House both as it passed the House on Oct. 6, 1987, and during debate on the conference report on Dec. 18, 1987, to insure that the changes made by the legislation as passed would not depart from normal and traditional Federal tax principles. H.R. 3030 passed the Senate amended, on Dec. 4, 1987. The conference report was filed and passed by the House on Dec. 18, 1987. The Senate passed the conference report on Dec. 19, 1987.

The President signed H.R. 3030 into law on Jan. 6, 1988, as Public Law 100-233.

H.R. 3190 (Mr. Rostenkowski); Public Law 100-84; app. Aug. 10, 1987.

H.R. 3190, providing for a temporary increase in the public debt limit, was engrossed and deemed passed by the House on Aug. 7, 1987. The bill will increase the public debt limit to $2,352 billion through Sept. 23, 1987, effective upon enactment. The Senate passed the bill without amendment on Aug. 7, 1987.

The President signed the bill into law on Aug. 10, 1987, as Public Law 100-84.

H.R. 3391 (Mr. Rostenkowski with cosponsors); passed House Oct. 6, 1987.

H.R. 3391, to prohibit the importation into the United States of all products of Iran, and for other purposes, was reported by the Committee on Ways and Means on Oct. 5, 1987 and passed the House on Oct 6, 1987.

As passed the House, H.R. 3391 would place United States trade policy on the same footing as our foreign policy—namely, in opposition to the hostile actions being taken by Iran in the Persian Gulf. The bill would put an end to United States imports from Iran and thus an end to United States financial support for Iranian belligerency, as long as that may continue.

The bill prohibits United States imports from Iran as of the date of enactment. It also authorizes the Commissioner of Customs to implement appropriate regulations to guard against circumvention of the import ban. H.R. 3391 allows the President to waive temporarily the import ban on any article, if he determines that a delay is in the national economic interest. It authorizes the President to terminate the sanctions if certain conditions are met by Iran and to reinstate sanctions if Iran is no longer in compliance with those conditions. Finally, H.R. 3391 urges the President to seek multilateral import sanctions against Iran.

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, H.R. 3391 was pending in the Senate Finance Committee.

H.R. 3545 (Mr. Gray of Pennsylvania with cosponsors); Public Law 100-203; app. Dec. 22, 1987. (See also S. 1793, S. 1937, and S. 1994.)

H.R. 3545, the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987, was reported from the Committee on the Budget on Oct. 26, 1987, and passed the House on Oct. 29, 1987 (second legislative day).

The Senate considered S. 1920, which was reported to the Senate on Dec. 4, 1987, with no written report. H.R. 3545 passed the Senate on Dec. 10, 1987, after substituting the text of S. 1920 and other amendments. On Dec. 10, 1987, the Senate requested a conference with the House. The House agreed to a conference on Dec. 11, 1987. The conference report was filed on Dec. 21, 1987, and agreed to in both the House and Senate on that date.

The President signed the bill into law on Dec. 22, 1987, as Public Law 100-203.

Following is a summary of titles IV, IX, and X of the act.

TITLE IV—MEDICARE, MEDICAID, AND OTHER HEALTH RELATED PROGRAMS

SUBTITLE A—MEDICARE

A. PART A PROVISIONS

1. Hospital prospective payment rates

The act sets the fiscal year 1988 update at 1.5 percent for PPS hospitals in urban areas greater than 1 million, 3.0 percent for PPS hospitals in rural areas, and 1.0 percent for other PPS hospitals; and sets the fiscal year 1989 update at market basket minus 2.0 percentage points for hospitals in urban areas greater than 1 million, market basket minus 1.5 percentage points for rural hospitals, and market basket minus 2.5 percentage points for other hospitals. The act sets the update factor at the market basket rate of increase for all PPS hospitals in fiscal year 1990 and later years.

For PPS-exempt hospitals, the agreement sets the annual increase for reporting periods beginning in fiscal year 1988, excluding the first 51 days of such periods, at 2.7 percent, and sets the annual increases for fiscal year 1989 and fiscal year 1990 equal to the projected increase in the market basket.

The agreement establishes a regional floor on payments to PPS hospitals during a 3-year period and requires a ProPAC analysis of hospital nonlabor costs and input prices. The act also reduces the indirect medical education adjustment to 7.70 percent and removes the existing 15 percent cap on disproportionate share hospitals effective Oct. 1, 1988. In addition, the act increases the disproportionate share adjustment to 25 percent for hospitals which qualify based upon their receiving more than 30 percent of their net revenues from public sources. The act requires that ProPAC analyze the desirability of adjusting the nonlabor portion of hospital payments based upon the input prices which hospitals face in purchasing goods and services.

2. Rural hospitals

The act revises standards for including an adjacent rural county in an urban area, expands the swing bed program to rural hospitals with up to 100 beds, expands availability of payment adjustments for small and isolated rural hospitals with declining admissions, changes the definition of rural referral centers to include all rural hospitals with more than 275 beds, and authorizes $15 million per year in fiscal years 1988-90 to fund rural demonstration projects restricted to nonprofit hospitals.

3. Payments for capital

The act reduces payments for capital costs by 12 percent in fiscal year 1988 effective Jan. 1, 1988, and by 15 percent in fiscal year 1989; requires payment for capital on a prospective basis beginning Oct. 1, 1991; and excludes capital from PPS until then.

4. Extension of reductions under sequester order

The act provides that reductions in payments under the Nov. 20, 1987 sequester order shall continue for all hospital services until Mar. 31, 1988, and for other part A services until Dec. 31, 1987.

5. Hospital reporting

The act requires the Secretary to create a new data base for the hospital reporting system utilizing information from hospitals with cost reporting periods beginning during the first 4 months of the Federal fiscal year. The act also requires the Secretary to conduct a 2-year demonstration program using a new hospital reporting format in two States.

6. Delay in effective date for requiring hospital protocols for organ procurement

The act delays the date by which the Secretary must complete designation of orgaan procurement agencies until Mar. 31, 1988.

7. Miscellaneous and technical provisions relating to part A

The act increases the maximum civil monetary penalty for violation of Medicare requirements regarding emergency cases to $50,000; delays recoupment of any overpayments which may have been made to certain hospitals under sec. 1886(c) State waiver authority for 1 year; clarifies the sec. 1814(b) State waiver authority; prohibits the Secretary from making a change in policy or method regarding bad debt recognition for hospital services; increases payments for outlier cases classified in DRG's relating to burns; amends prior law regarding a miscellaneous accounting provision; requires, under certain conditions, that the Secretary determine that a pediatric hospital meets the criteria of a Medicare heart transplant facility; extends indefinitely the current waiver of certain inpatient requirements for Connecticut Hospice, Inc.; revises the appointment process for the Prospective Payment Assessment Commission; requires the Secretary to prepare a rural regulatory impact analysis for any rule or regulation that may have significant impact on small rural hospitals; clarifies that part A covers the inpatient hospital services of clinical psychologists; modifies Medicare's conditions of participation related to individual's responsible for care of a Medicare patient; and clarifies that hospitals which qualify for disproportionate share status based upon the percentage of their revenues derived from State and local government sources do so based upon their net revenues.

B. PART A AND B PROVISIONS

1. Payment standards

The act requires fiscal intermediaries to hold claims for 10 days after the date of receipt during the last 3 months of fiscal year 1988 and for 14 days during fiscal year 1989.

2. Health maintenance organization (HMO) reforms

The act broadens the use of sanctions and civil monetary penalties against HMO's and CMP's, provides for extended supplemental coverage for enrollees of an HMO which terminates its contract, and requires HMO's to notify new enrollees of the possibility that the contract will be terminated in the future. The HMO's option to have Medicare pay directly for hospital services is eliminated, while the option to deposit Medicare payments in a benefit stabilization fund is extended until 1990. The prohibition of physician incentive payments is delayed for 1 year, to April 1990. The waivers for social health maintenance organizations are extended, and other waivers are provided for a variety of organizations in special circumstances.

Finally, the act provides for new capitation demonstrations to test revisions in the rate-setting process and requires a General Accounting Office report on rate methodologies. The administration is permitted to carry out its proposal for demonstrations of contracts with employer-related groups, subject to special restrictions.

3. Publication of policies

The act includes a number of provisions to improve communications between the Secretary, fiscal intermediaries and carriers, and providers. Significant policy changes would be required to be promulgated as regulations, and providers of home health care and other extended services would receive prompt notice of other policy decisions.

4. Coverage of the disabled

The act provides that disabled beneficiaries who cease to receive Social Security disability insurance and who regain disability coverage after a period of employment may resume Medicare coverage without another 2-year waiting period.

5. Home health care quality improvements

The act establishes new conditions of participation and new survey procedures for home health care providers. Exceptions, including leaving home for medical treatment, are created to the requirement that an individual be confined to home in order to be eligible for home health care. A new procedure for appeal of determinations of eligibility for home health care or other extended care is established, along with a toll-free hotline and investigative unit for beneficiary problems. The agreement includes a demonstration of prospective payment for home health care. It also delays the Secretary's authority to make certain program changes, including requiring prior authorization for extended care and deeming privately accredited agencies as eligible providers.

6. Other provisions

The act also: (1) makes technical changes in the ESRD program and requires a report on the program from the Secretary; (2) clarifies that government entities are the primary payers for disabled employees who are Medicare beneficiaries; (3) delays the Secretary's plan to use administrative law judges employed by the Health Care Financing Administration, rather than those in the Social Security Administration, to hear Medicare appeals; and (4) establishes rural health medical education demonstration projects.

C. PART B

1. Sequester and delay in update

The act continues the sequester through Mar. 31, 1988. The physician payment update is delayed until Apr. 1, 1988.

2. Physician payments

The act provides that for the 9-month period beginning Apr. 1, 1988, the increase in the Medicare economic index for participating physicians is 3.6 percent for primary care services and 1 percent for other physicians' services. For nonparticipating physicians, the increase is 3.1 percent for primary care services and 0.5 percent for other services.

For physicians' services furnished in 1989, the percentage increase for participating physicians is 3.0 percent for primary care services and 1.0 percent for other services. For nonparticipating physicians, the increase is 2.5 percent for primary care services and 0.5 percent for other services.

The act provides for a 5-percent incentive payment for primary care services furnished by physicians in class I or II rural health manpower shortage areas effective Jan. 1, 1989. Urban health manpower shortage areas would be included in 1991.

3. Overpriced procedures

The act provides for a 2-percent across-the-board reduction in the prevailing charges for selected overpriced procedures plus an additional reduction of between 0 and 15 percent for physicians in areas with prevailing charges between 85 and 150 percent of the national average effective Apr. 1, 1988. In no case would prevailing charges be reduced below 85 percent of the national average.

The following are the procedures for which reductions are made: Coronary artery bypass surgery; total hip replacement; cataract surgery; transurethral prostatectomy; suprapubic prostatectomy; dilation and curettage; carpal tunnel repair; pacemaker surgery; bronchoscopy; upper gastrointestinal endoscopy; knee arthroscopy; and knee arthroplasty.

The act also limits Medicare reimbursement for ophthalmic ultrasound procedures to 5 percent of the prevailing charge for cataract surgery with intraocular lens implantation.

4. New physicians

The act sets the customary charge for new physicians at 80 percent of the prevailing charge. The provision does not apply to primary care services or to services furnished in rural health manpower shortage areas.

5. Anesthesia/radiology

The act reduces payments to anesthesiologists for concurrent supervision of certified registered nurse anesthetists. It establishes a fee schedule for radiology services provided by board-certified and board-eligible radiologists or by physicians whose charges for radiologic services account for 50 percent or more of their Medicare charges.

6. Clinical labs

The act makes the following changes to clinical laboratory provisions. There would be no fee schedule update for 1988. The differential between hospital outpatient labs and independent labs would be eliminated except for sole community hospitals. Fee schedule allowances for automated tests and tests subject to the lowest charge provision (except for cytopathology tests) would be reduced by 8.3 percent. The nationwide limit on fee schedule allowances would be reduced to 100 percent of the median of carrierwide fee schedules effective Apr. 1, 1988. The act also establishes intermediate sanctions for labs which no longer substantially meet the conditions of participation for clinical laboratories and requires quality certification of high-volume physician office labs effective in 1990.

7. Durable medical equipment

The act establishes a 1-year freeze on durable medical equipment payment screens effective Jan. 1, 1988, at the levels in effect on Dec. 31, 1987. Beginning in 1989 a new payment mechanism, based on fee schedules, is established for durable medical equipment, prosthetic devices, orthotics, and prosthetics.

8. Payments to hospital outpatient departments for radiology

The act contains a limit on aggregate payments for hospital outpatient radiology departments based on payment screens for comparable services provided in physicians' offices.

9. Coinsurance for ambulatory surgery

The act does not include an increase in the part B deductible. It does include restoration of beneficiary cost sharing for physician services provided in ambulatory surgical centers.

10. Part b premium

The act extends for 1 year through calendar year 1989 the current 25 percent payment provision.

11. Influenza

The act directs the Secretary to conduct a major demonstration project to evaluate the cost effectiveness of providing influenza vaccines to aged Medicare beneficiaries.

12. Therapeutic shoes

The act provides for a demonstration project concerning coverage of therapeutic shoes for individuals with diabetic foot disease.

13. Mental health

D. MEDICARE AND MEDICAID NURSING HOME STANDARDS REFORM

1. Nurse staffing

The act retains Medicare's current law nurse staffing and registered nurse requirements and waiver provisions applying to the RN requirement. For Medicaid, the act requires as of Oct. 1, 1990, that all SNF's and ICF's, in urban and rural areas, provide 24-hour licensed practical nurse care 7 days a week, with at least one RN employed 7 days a week, 8 hours a day. The act authorizes States to waive the RN and LPN requirements if (1) the institution demonstrates to the satisfaction of the State that it has been unable, despite diligent efforts (including offering wages at the prevailing rates at other nursing facilities), to recruit appropriate personnel, and (2) the State determines that a waiver of the requirement will not endanger the health or safety of individuals staying in the institution. The act also authorizes the Secretary to exercise States' authority to grant such waivers if the Secretary finds, based on a clear pattern and practice of allowing waivers in the absence of diligent efforts, that a State had abused its discretion.

2. Social workers

The act requires facilities with more than 120 beds to employ full-time at least one social worker (with at least a bachelor's degree in social work or similar professional qualifications).

3. Nurse aide training

The act requires nurse aides to complete a training and competency evaluation or separate competency evaluation program. Nursing facilities may not use an individual as a nurse aide after Jan. 1, 1990, who has not completed or is enrolled in such a program approved by the State. The Secretary's standards for nurse aide training must include a minimum of 75 hours of initial training.

4. Activities program professionals

The act requires that the facility's on-going program of activities be directed by a qualified professional.

5. Nursing facility administrators

The act requires the Secretary to establish standards for nursing facility administrators.

6. Transfer and discharge requirements

The act applies transfer and discharge requirements to all transfers and discharges.

7. Nurse aide registry

The act requires establishment of a nurse aide registry and that the State provide through the survey and certification agency for a process for the investigation of allegations of resident neglect and abuse (including the misappropriation of personal funds) by a nurse aide. A nurse aide so accused would be granted an opportunity for a hearing before the State survey and certification agency. No nurse aide's name would be placed on the registry until the individual had been notified of the right of a hearing, and either a hearing had taken place and the allegations had been substantiated, or the individual had waived, after being given a reasonable opportunity, his/her right to a hearing.

8. Survey and certification

The act expands the standard survey to include a review of residents' rights and requires the Secretary to conduct validation surveys with respect to no fewer than 5 percent of the facilities surveyed by the State in a year, but in no case less than five facilities in a State.

9. Enforcement

The act establishes Federal and State intermediate sanctions and provides that only Federal intermediate sanctions be applied to Medicare skilled nursing facilities.

E. PEER REVIEW ORGANIZATION PROVISIONS

The act authorizes 3-year PRO contract periods with staggered expiration dates; requires that a preliminary notice of denial be sent to providers and practitioners 20 days before a denial could become effective; requires publication in the Federal Register of specified information on PRO contracts; encourages competition for contracts held by out-of-State PRO's which are subject to renewal; prohibits physicians, in the case of assigned claims, from billing Medicare beneficiaries for payments denied on substandard quality grounds; requires PRO's, in establishing review standards, to take into account the special problems associated with delivering care in remote rural areas, the availability of service alternatives to inpatient hospitalization, and social factors that could adversely affect the safety or effectiveness of outpatient treatment; requires PRO's to perform substantial on-site review in 20 percent of the rural hospitals in the PROs' areas; requires PRO's to meet several times each year with hospital medical and administrative staff about PRO review; requires PRO's to determine whether health maintenance organizations or competitive medical plan enrollees have adequate access to health care services, and to require beneficiary outreach programs; requires that initial PRO review of psychiatric and physical rehabilitation services be made by physicians with corresponding specialties; requires the Secretary to establish demonstration projects on instruction and oversight through video communications; entitles providers or practitioners, in rural health manpower shortage areas and in countries with a population of less than 70,000, to a hearing before an administrative law judge prior to temporary exclusion from the Medicare program for reasons of substandard quality; and requires the Secretary to report to Congress on improving procedures for imposing sanctions.

TITLE IX—INCOME SECURITY AND RELATED PROGRAMS

SUBTITLE A—OASDI PROVISIONS

A. COVERAGE AND BENEFITS

1. Extend FICA tax to certain earnings

The act approves several items to extend FICA taxes and social security coverage to forms of employment currently exempt, effective Jan. 1, 1988:

Armed Services reservists.—Extends FICA taxes to "inactive duty training" (generally weekend training drill sessions).

Agricultural workers.—Modifies FICA tax treatment of agricultural labor such that: (a) any remuneration for agricultural labor paid by an employer to an employee would constitute wages if the employer pays more than $2,500 to all employees for such labor during the taxable year; (b) the $150 annual cash pay test would continue to be applied if the $2,500 annual payroll test is not met; and (c) the 20-day test would be eliminated.

Individuals aged 18-21.—Extends FICA taxes to services performed by individuals between the ages of 18 and 21 who are employed in their parent's trade or business.

Spouses.—Extends FICA taxes to services performed by an individual in the employ of his or her spouse's trade or business.

Tips.—Extends the employer's share of FICA taxes to include all cash tips (up to the social security wage base).

2. Treatment of group-term life insurance wages under FICA

The act includes employer-provided group-term life insurance in wages for FICA tax purposes if such insurance were includible for gross income tax purposes, effective Jan. 1, 1988.

3. Correction in Government pension offset

The act provides that Federal employees who switch from the Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS) to the Federal Employees' Retirement System (FERS) on or after Jan. 1, 1988, will be exempt from the Government pension offset if they have 5 or more years of Federal employment covered by social security after Dec. 31, 1987.

4. Modification of voluntary coverage agreement with the State of Iowa

The act permits the State of Iowa to modify retroactively its voluntary agreement with the Secretary of Health and Human Services to validate coverage for certain police officers and fire fighters.

5. Continuation of disability benefits pending appeal

The act extends for 1 year the provision for continued payment of disability benefits during the administrative appeal process. This provision expires on Dec. 31, 1988, with continued benefits last payable in July 1989.

6. Lengthening of the extended period of eligibility for disability benefits

The act lengthens the extended period of eligibility during which a disability beneficiary who returns to work may become automatically reentitled to benefits, from the current 15 months to 36 months. Medicare eligibility is not continued beyond the period provided under current law. The provision is effective Jan. 1, 1988.

B. OTHER SOCIAL SECURITY PROVISIONS

1. Payment of attorneys' fees

The act reinstates the administrative policy which permits ALJ's to authorize attorneys' fees of up to $3,000 without approval by the SSA regional office. It also prohibits the issuance or amendment of any rules concerning the payment of attorneys' fees until July 1, 1989, and calls for two simultaneous studies, one by SSA and a second by the General Accounting Office, of the fee payment process. Both studies must be submitted to Congress by July 1, 1988.

2. Treatment of corporate directors' earnings

The act requires that corporate directors' earnings be treated as received when services are performed, regardless of when actually paid, for purposes of both the SECA tax and the earnings test. The provision is effective for services performed in taxable years beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1988.

C. RAILROAD RETIREMENT PROGRAM

1. Increase in railroad retirement tier II tax rate and extension of transfer of revenues to railroad retirement account

The act increases the railroad retirement tier II taxes by 2.0 percentage points, effective Jan. 1, 1988. It divides the 2.0 percentage point increase so as to increase employer contributions by 1.35 percentage points and employee contributions by 0.65 percentage point, respectively.

Additionally, the agreement establishes a seven-member Commission on Railroad Retirement Reform to perform a comprehensive study of alternative methods of securing the long-term viability of the railroad retirement system. The President would appoint four members, one of whom would represent rail labor, one of whom would represent rail management, one of whom would represent commuter railroads, and one of whom would represent the general public. The President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives would each appoint one public member. The Comptroller General of the United States would appoint one public member with expertise in pension matters. The Commission would submit its report and recommendations to Congress by Oct. 1, 1989.

The act also extends for 1 year, until Oct. 1, 1989, the transfer of revenue from income taxes paid on tier II benefits from the general fund to the railroad retirement account.

SUBTITLE B—PROVISIONS RELATING TO PUBLIC ASSISTANCE AND UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

A. AID TO FAMILIES WITH DEPENDENT CHILDREN PROVISIONS

1. Fraud control under AFDC program

The act authorizes 75 percent Federal funding for costs of a State's fraud control program. Statutory language is added to clarify the uses of these matching funds and to require written notice of the fraud control penalties at the time of application. AFDC fraud control procedures will parallel those in use in the food stamp program.

2. Assistance to homeless AFDC families

The act prohibits the Department of Health and Human Services from implementing regulations proposed on Dec. 14, 1987, which would have restricted the use of AFDC funds for homeless families.

3. Washington State demonstration program

The act would allow the State of Washington to conduct a demonstration of its proposed Family Independence Program.

4. New York State demonstration project

The act would allow the State of New York to test its child supplement demonstration program as an alternative to the AFDC program.

B. CHILD SUPPORT ENFORCEMENT PROVISIONS

1. Continuation of child support enforcement services for families no longer receiving AFDC

The act requires State child support enforcement agencies to continue child support services for families no longer eligible for AFDC on the same basis and under the same conditions as other non-AFDC families, except that no application (or application fee) for services could be required.

2. Child support services for certain families receiving Medicaid

The act requires State child support enforcement agencies to provide services to all families with an absent parent who receive medicaid and have assigned to the State their rights to support, regardless of whether they are receiving AFDC.

3. Repeal of child support revolving fund

The act replaces the present revolving fund mechanism with a requirement that any amounts collected by IRS under the authority to collect certain child support obligations be transferred directly to the State requesting the IRS assistance.

C. UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION PROVISIONS

1. Retroactive change in effective date for certain extended benefit requirements

The act amends the Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1980 retroactively to give States 6 additional months, until Oct. 31, 1981, to comply with the job search requirements.

2. Self-employment demonstration program

The act authorizes a demonstration project under which States could continue paying unemployment benefits to unemployed persons who attempt to set up their own businesses.

3. FUTA tax extension

The act extends the current 0.2 percentage point surtax for 3 years, raises the ceilings in the Extended Unemployment Compensation and Federal Unemployment Accounts to help avoid future debts to the general fund, and establishes interest charges on any new loans to these accounts from the general fund.

D. SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME PROVISIONS

1. Permanent extension of disregard of certain in-kind assistance

The act permanently extends the mandatory SSI disregard and the optional AFDC disregard of in-kind assistance.

2. Exclusion of real property when it cannot be sold

The act excludes (and does not require the sale of) real property for so long as it cannot be sold because it is jointly owned, its sale is barred by a legal impediment, or, as determined by regulations issued by the Secretary of HHS, the owner's reasonable efforts to sell it have been unsuccessful.

3. Transfer of assets for less than fair market value

The act requires the Secretary of HHS to issue regulations for suspending the transfer of assets rule in cases where he determines that the suspension is necessary to avoid undue hardship.

4. Exclusion of interest in burial accounts

The act requires that any interest on designated burial accounts must be excluded in determining whether an individual meets the SSI resource requirements, regardless of the amount of the individual's other resources.

5. Treatment of AFDC benefits under SSI retrospective accounting

The act provides that for purposes of the SSI program, certain income will be counted only in the month it is received. This provision applies to the following forms of income: AFDC, foster care, refugee cash assistance, Cuban/Haitian entrant assistance, or general and child welfare assistance provided by the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

6. Treatment of certain couples in institutions

The act permits States to treat a husband and wife residing in the same Medicaid institution as a couple if doing so would prevent a reduction or termination of Medicaid benefits.

7. Extension of deadline for certain widow(er)s to apply for Medicaid

The act extends from July 1, 1987, to July 1, 1988, the deadline for applying for special Medicaid eligibility for certain disabled widows or widowers who lost eligibility for SSI and Medicaid because of the 1983 Social Security Amendments.

8. Increase in SSI emergency advance payments

The act increases the allowable emergency advance payment to the maximum amount of the regular Federal SSI monthly benefit rate plus, if any, the federally-administered State supplement.

9. Extension of interim assistance reimbursement

The act permits States to receive reimbursement for interim assistance in cases where they have provided cash assistance to individuals whose SSI benefits were terminated or suspended, but who subsequently were found eligible for benefits.

10. Special notice to blind recipients

The act requires the Social Security Administration to give blind SSI applicants and recipients the option to receive program notices in a form other than writing.

11. Continued SSI benefits for recipients of rehabilitation services whose blindness has ceased

The act continues SSI benefits to individuals whose blindness has ceased if they are participating in an approved vocational rehabilitation program.

12. SSI eligibility for individuals in public emergency shelters

The act provides that an individual in a public emergency shelter may receive SSI for up to a total of 6 months in any period of 9 consecutive months beginning after December 1987.

13. Exclusion of underpayments from resources

The act provides that retroactive SSI and social security payments received during the 2-year period beginning Oct. 1, 1987, will be disregarded as a resource for 9 months.

14. Full benefits for SSI recipients temporarily in institutions

The act provides full SSI benefits, including State supplementary payments, for a person who enters a medical or public psychiatric institution if a physician certifies that the person's stay is not likely to exceed 3 months and he must continue to maintain a home to which he may return.

15. Retention of Medicaid for certain widow(er)s

The act requires that an individual who would otherwise qualify for SSI on the basis of disability or blindness, but beginning at age 60 qualifies for social security early aged widow's or widower's benefits and loses eligibility for SSI, nevertheless be deemed an SSI recipient for purposes of Medicaid eligibility until they become eligible for Medicare.

16. Demonstration to assist homeless individuals in obtaining SSI

The act authorizes 10 State demonstration projects to test alternative approaches to helping homeless individuals obtain SSI benefits. These projects would include testing the SSI outreach teams proposed in the House bill.

17. Increase in personal needs allowance

The act increases the SSI personal needs allowance by $5 for an individual and $10 for a couple.

18. Exclusion of death benefits spent on last illness and burial

The act excludes from income payments occasioned by the death of another person, to the extent that the payments do not exceed the amount spent for purposes of the deceased person's last illness and burial.

E. SOCIAL SERVICES, CHILD WELFARE SERVICES, AND OTHER PROVISIONS RELATING TO CHILDREN

1. Extension of authority for voluntary foster care placements

The act permanently extends the authority for Federal matching funds for voluntarily-placed foster care children.

2. Extension of authority to transfer foster care funds

The act extends the foster care ceilings and transfer authority through Sept. 30, 1989.

3. Mother/infant foster care

The act requires that in cases where an individual placed in foster care is the parent of a son or daughter who is in the same foster home or institution, the foster care maintenance payments for the individual shall include amounts necessary to cover costs of items provided on behalf of the son or daughter. The infant would also be deemed to be a foster care child for purposes of Medicaid eligibility or for eligibility under the adoption assistance program.

4. Increase in funding for title XX block grant

The act provides for an increase in the title XX entitlement cap by $50 million for fiscal year 1988; the cap reverts to $2.7 billion in 1989. The additional funds must be used for additional services and may not supplant existing State social services funds.

5. Extension of title XX and child welfare services to American Samoa

The act makes American Samoa eligible to participate in both the title XX and child welfare services programs.

6. National Commission on Children

The act establishes a bipartisan National Commission on Children which would make recommendations regarding health of children, social and support services for children and their parents, education, income security, and tax policy.

7. Boarder babies demonstration projects

The act authorizes $4 million yearly for 3 years to fund demonstration projects to provide residential care for newborn infants whose parents abandon them to the care of hospitals.

8. Study of children with AIDS in foster care

The act authorizes a study by the Department of Health and Human Services to determine the number of infants and children in the United States who have been diagnosed as having AIDS, the problems encountered by social services agencies in placing such infants and children, and the potential growth in the number of such children over the next 5 years.

SUBTITLE C—MANUFACTURERS EXCISE TAX ON CERTAIN VACCINES

1. Excise tax to fund the vaccine injury compensation trust fund

The act imposes a per-dose excise tax on the sale of commonly prescribed vaccines at a rate of $4.56 on DPT, $4.44 on MMR, $0.29 on polio, and $0.06 on diphtheria-tetanus, effective for vaccines sold after Dec. 31, 1987. An amount equivalent to the net revenue raised by this tax is to be deposited in a new Vaccine Injury Compensation Trust Fund, used to compensate injuries from vaccines administered after Sept. 30, 1987, and before the termination of the program. The act also places new restrictions on the eligibility for compensation.

SUBTITLE D—PENSION PROVISIONS

1. Minimum funding standards and deductions

The act imposes new minimum funding standards on all single-employer defined benefit pension plans. The stricter funding standards are designed primarily to apply to currently underfunded pension plans. The act further specifies that: estimated contributions to plans would be required on a quarterly basis; the liability for contributions would be extended to an employer's entire controlled group; the availability of funding waivers would be restricted; the amortization period for unfunded liabilities would be shortened; experience gains and losses, and changes in plan assumptions would be more rapidly amortized; and, plan actuarial assumptions must be individually reasonable.

2. Employer access to plan assets

The act would modify present law rules applicable to a determination of the extent to which excess assets in an overfunded pension plan are attributable to earnings on employee contributions. Further, rules are established governing the timing of plan amendments providing for an employer reversion.

3. Treatment of plan terminations

The act increases the employer's liability to the participants to the full amount of benefit liabilities. In addition, the employer's liability to the PBGC is increased to the full amount of unfunded guaranteed benefits. In addition, the agreement increases the benefits that must be paid in a standard plan termination. In cases of distress termination, the new criteria are established for use by the courts during a reorganization. New security and lien rules are now applicable to underfunded plans.

4. PBGC premiums

The act increases the annual per-participant premium charged for single-employer defined benefit plans by the PBGC from $8.50 to $16. In addition, the act imposes a variable rate, risk-related premium on an employer who maintains an underfunded pension plan. The amount of the additional premium is $6 per $1,000 of unfunded vested liability. However, when added to the base premium, it cannot exceed $50 per participant. In addition, the maximum premium is reduced for 5 years by $3 for each year preceding the effective date for which the employer made the maximum deductible contribution to the plan.

5. Miscellaneous provisions

The act provides that notification be given to employees when certain actions regarding the pension plan are taken. Also, effective for plans established after Dec. 17, 1987, in an arrangement which consists of a defined benefit plan and an individual account plan, where the benefits from the individual account plan are taken into account in determining the benefits payable under the defined benefit plan, the arrangement will be treated as a single plan for purposes of the 10 percent limit on a plan's investments in the plan sponsor's securities.

SUBTITLE E—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

1. Repeal limitation on long-term bonds

The act increases the amount of long-term bonds which may be issued under the exception to the 4¼ percent limitation on the interest rates paid on such bonds by $20 billion, to a total of $270 billion.

2. Trust funds and other federal funds made whole

The act requires that the Secretary of the Treasury make the necessary adjustments of investments and interest payments on behalf of all federal trust funds, demand deposit SLGS, and all other federal funds denied financial transactions during a period when sufficient debt limit authority did not exist to allow such transactions, retroactive from the date of enactment to July 18, 1987.

The authority to make such adjustments does not apply to a future debt issuance suspension period.

3. Extension of program for IRS collection of nontax debts owed to Federal agencies

The act extends the tax refund offset program for 6 months (i.e., through June 30, 1988). In addition, the act expands the program so that it applies to debts owed to all Federal agencies, and it applies to debts owed by either individuals or corporations.

SUBTITLE F—PROVISIONS RELATING TO THE CUSTOMS SERVICE AND OTHER TRADE AGENCIES

1. Customs Service user fees

The act continues the ad valorem user fee level at 0.17 percent for fiscal year 1988 and continues the ceiling at 0.17 percent in future years. This fee applies to formal entries of merchandise imported for consumption.

The act also (1) extends the expiration date for 1 additional year, until Sept. 30, 1990; (2) clarifies the treatment of fees as offsetting expenditures; (3) clarifies that fees are to be deposited in the same dedicated account; (4) precludes Customs from assessing an annual fee on operators of foreign trade zones and customs bonded warehouses; (5) modifies the schedule 8 exemption; (6) requires customs services to be "adequately provided" for the clearance or preclearance of passengers and vehicles; (7) clarifies that user fees designated to reimburse an appropriation for overtime shall be reimbursed directly without being subject to apportionment; (8) requires a GAO study of the CES program and suspension of current CES operations at airports; and (9) authorizes the refund of certain user fees.

2. International Trade Commission authorization of appropriations

The act provides a fiscal year 1988 authorization of $35,386,000.

3. Customs Service authorization of appropriations

The act provides a fiscal year 1988 authorization of $1,081,501,000.

The act also requires that the Customs Service notify Congress 180 days in advance of any action which would result in a significant reduction in force of employees or reduction in hours of operation, elimination or relocation of any office, elimination of any port of entry, or reduction in the number of employees assigned to an office or port of entry. It further establishes in lieu of the existing user fee advisory committee a new private sector advisory committee.

4. U.S. Trade Representative

The act provides a fiscal year 1988 authorization of $15,172,000.

Title X—Individual Tax Provisions

SUBTITLE A—INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAX PROVISIONS

1. Limitations on deduction for mortgage interest

The act limits the interest deduction for debt to acquire or substantially improve a principal residence or second residence to debt of $1 million, plus up to $100,000 of other debt secured by a principal or secondary residence. The taxpayer would not be required to use the home equity loan debt to pay for educational or medical expenses.

2. Child and dependent care credit

The act denies eligibility of overnight camp expenses for the child and dependent care credit.

3. Exemption of mutual fund shareholder expenses from 2 percent floor

Beginning in 1987, miscellaneous itemized deductions generally are allowable only to the extent they exceed 2 percent of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income. The act delays for 1 year, until taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1987, the application of the 2 percent floor to indirect deductions with respect to publicly offered mutual funds.

SUBTITLE B—BUSINESS DEDUCTIONS

A. ACCOUNTING PROVISIONS

1. Vacation pay reserves

The act repeals deductions for additions to vacation pay reserves. Existing reserves are taken into income over a 4-year period.

2. Completed contract method

The act requires that 70 percent of income from long-term contracts be reported as the contract is completed (under the percentage of completion method). Thirty percent of the income would be deferred until completion. Under prior law, 40 percent of income from the contract was reported under the percentage of completion method.

3. Treatment of past service pension costs under uniform capitalization rules

The act applies the uniform capitalization rules to past service pension costs and applies the rules to long-term contracts.

4. Installment sales rules

The act repeals use of the installment sale method for dealers. Nondealers will be allowed to use the installment method for sales below $5 million each year. With respect to nondealer installment obligations exceeding $5 million, interest is payable annually on the amount of deferred tax attributable to the use of the installment method. Also, for nondealers the installment method will be used in determining alternative minimum taxable income. Prior law continues to apply to timeshares and residential lots.

5. Accrual accounting for certain farm corporations

Family-owned farms with gross receipts in excess of $25 million will be required to use the accrual method of accounting. Income attributable to the prior use of the cash method of accounting will be put into a suspense account which will be taken into income when the entity ceases to be a family corporation, is sold outside the family group, or when the gross receipts of the entity decline (to the extent of the decline).

6. Election of taxable year

The act provides an election for a partnership, S corporation, or personal service corporation that is otherwise required to change its taxable year to retain the taxable year currently used by the partnership, S corporation, or personal service corporation. An election also is provided for such entities to adopt or change to taxable years with limited deferral periods, which will be the lesser of the deferral in the year currently in use, or 3 months.

An electing partnership and an electing S corporation will be required to make a payment approximately equal to the tax on the deferral. An electing personal service corporation will be limited in the amount of deductions it can take for payments to employee-owners unless certain minimum distributions are made to employer-owners before the end of the calendar year.

B. PARTNERSHIP PROVISIONS

1. Taxation of master limited partnerships as corporations

The act provides that certain publicly traded partnerships will be taxed as corporations. Existing partnerships and partnerships filing with certain Federal or State agencies on or before Dec. 17, 1987, will not be taxed as corporations until Jan. 1, 1997.

2. Treatment of publicly traded partnerships under the passive loss rule

The act treats net income from publicly traded partnerships (that are not treated as corporations) as portfolio income rather than passive income for purposes of the passive loss rules, except in the case of rehabilitation and low-income housing credits.

3. Treatment of publicly traded partnerships for unrelated business income tax

The act subjects income from publicly traded partnerships to the unrelated business income tax.

C. CORPORATE PROVISIONS

1. Computation of earnings and profits for purposes of intercorporate dividends and stock basis adjustments (overruling of Woods Investment Co. case)

The act overrules the Woods Investment Company case and provides that in determining its gain or loss on disposition of a subsidiary, the parent company's gain is not reduced by certain adjustments the subsidiary has made to the subsidiary's earnings and profits.

Disposition pursuant to a written binding contract on or before Dec. 15, 1987, or pursuant to a governmental order, a letter of intent or preliminary agreement, or a stock acquisition agreement, on or before Dec. 15, 1987, are not affected by the change provided in each case that the disposition is completed before Jan. 1, 1989.

2. Reduction of tax avoidance in certain corporate dispositions ("mirror" subsidiary transactions)

The act makes changes in the rules regarding liquidations to insure that certain transactions which are designed to dispose of subsidiaries will result in the appropriate tax on the unrealized gains of such subsidiary. In general, the provisions would not apply to certain affiliated groups of corporations existing before Dec. 15, 1987, or certain corporations becoming affiliated before Jan. 1, 1988 pursuant to a binding contract or tender offer in effect on Dec. 15, 1987, if the distribution or certain transfers are made before Jan. 1, 1993.

3. Special rules for hostile corporate acquisitions

Greenmail.—The act imposes a nondeductible 50 percent excise tax on "greenmail" (gain received from a corporation's repurchase of stock from a shareholder who held the stock for less than 2 years and who made or threatened a public tender offer for the stock of the corporation). The tax will not apply if the redemption of stock is made on the same terms to all shareholders.

The excise tax will not apply to stock repurchased under a binding agreement to redeem stock entered into prior to Dec. 16, 1987.

4. Limitations on net operating loss carryforwards

The act limits the net operating loss carryforwards of a company when a majority owner of the company claims a worthless stock deduction. The act also imposes limitations on the use of a company's built-in depreciation where there is an ownership change. In addition, loss corporations will be limited in the use of their losses to shelter built-in gains of an acquired company.

5. LIFO recapture on conversion from C corporation to S corporation

The act provides that LIFO reserves be recaptured over a 4-year period on conversion from C corporation status to S corporation status.

The recapture provision applies to S corporation elections made after Dec. 17, 1987, unless on or before Dec. 17, 1987, either of the following events occurred: (1) a board of directors' resolution to elect S status, or (2) the filing of an IRS ruling request indicating an intent to elect S status; as long as the S-election is made before Jan. 1, 1989.

6. Denial of graduated tax rates for personal service corporations

The act denies the benefit of lower graduated corporate tax rates for personal service corporations.

7. Regulated investment companies (mutual funds)

The distribution required of a mutual fund to avoid a penalty excise tax is increased from 90 to 98 percent of capital gain net income.

D. PENSIONS: MODIFY FULL-FUNDING LIMITATION

The act denies deductions to a defined benefit pension plan if the plan's assets exceed 150 percent of the plan's termination liability. The Treasury is required to issue a regulation by Aug. 15, 1988, adjusting the 150 percent figure in a budget-neutral manner, to reflect the age and service of the plan participants.

E. FOREIGN TAX PROVISIONS

1. Treatment of South African income

The act denies foreign tax credits and deferral of U.S. tax on income of a U.S.-owned corporation with respect to South African income.

F. INSURANCE PROVISIONS

1. Interest rate on tax reserves of life insurance companies

The act provides that the interest rate to be used in determining the amount of the deduction for increases in life insurance reserves for any contract is the greater of the applicable Federal rate (AFR) or the prevailing State assumed rate. A company may make a one-time election to adjust the rate every 5 years. Also, if the AFR changes by less than 50 basis points, no adjustment will be made.

2. Treatment of investment income of foreign insurance companies

The act amends a prior law provision taxing foreign insurance companies on a portion of their U.S. investment income.

3. Treatment of mutual life insurance company policyholder dividends for the alternative minimum tax book preference

The act provides generally that, for purposes of the book income preference, mutual life insurance companies may not reduce book income for policyholder dividends paid or accrued during the year by more than the amount allowable in computing life insurance company taxable income. The Treasury Department is given regulatory authority to require certain adjustments in the calculations for both stock and mutual insurance companies.

4. Treatment of certain insurance syndicates (Lloyds of London)

The act does not require corporate level tax on certain United Kingdom insurance syndicates doing business in the United States. However, the Treasury Department is required to study this issue and renegotiate certain closing agreements exempting the income of these syndicates from U.S. tax.

SUBTITLE C—ESTIMATED TAX PROVISIONS

SUBTITLE D—ESTATE AND GIFT TAX PROVISIONS

1. Extension of 1987 tax rates

The act extends the prior law top estate tax rate of 55 percent for 5 years. This rate applies to estates of over $3 million in value.

2. Graduated rates and unified credit

The act phases out the benefit of the lower graduated estate and gift tax rates and the unified estate and gift tax credit for estates in excess of $10 million in value.

3. Estate tax deduction for sales to an ESOP

The act corrects an error in the Tax Reform Act of 1986 relating to estate tax relief through the sale of employer securities to an employee stock ownership plan (ESOP).

4. Estate freezes and minority discounts for estate and gift tax valuation purposes

The act generally limits estate and gift tax benefits from estate freezes where a person holding a substantial interest in an enterprise transfers a disproportionate share of the appreciation and retains the possession or enjoyment of the right to income from the property. The act does not change present law with regard to minority discounts.

SUBTITLE E—PROVISIONS RELATING TO EXCISE TAXES AND USER FEES

1. Telephone excise tax

The act provides a 3-year extension of the present 3 percent telephone excise tax.

2. Collection of excise tax on nongasoline fuels

The act imposes nongasoline motor fuel excise taxes at the wholesale level (rather than the retail level). Discretionary authority is provided to the Treasury to exempt sales of (a) diesel fuel for use in trains; (b) aviation fuel for use in commercial aviation; and (c) sales to State and local governments.

3. Coal excise tax

The termination for the coal excise tax rate is extended from Jan. 1, 1996, to the earlier of (1) Jan. 1, 2014, or (2) the date the Black Lung Disability Trust Fund achieves solvency.

SUBTITLE F—EMPLOYMENT TAXES

For an explanation of railroad retirement and FUTA tax provisions, see title IX, supra.

SUBTITLE G—OTHER REVENUE-INCREASE PROVISIONS

1. Application of targeted jobs tax credit

The act denies targeted jobs tax credit for hiring strikebreakers.

2. Tax-exempt bonds for purchase of existing output facilities

The act subjects tax-exempt bonds for the purchase of facilities from private utilities to the private activity volume cap with exceptions for facilities to serve areas presently served by public power agencies and areas annexed by governments served by public power agencies.

3. Tax-exempt bonds issued by Indian tribes

The act limits the issuance of tax-exempt bonds by Indian tribal governments to governmental activities customarily financed by State and local governments. An exception is provided for facilities of tribal enterprises located on reservations and providing significant Indian employment.

SUBTITLE H—LOBBY PROVISIONS

The act requires tax-exempt organizations to meet certain requirements regarding the disclosure of the nondeductibility of contributions and certain other information, public inspection of exemption application and annual information returns, and additional information on certain annual information returns. The act imposes penalties for noncompliance. With regard to political campaign activities and lobbying activities of sec. 501(c)(3) organizations, the act provides a clarification of prohibited political campaign activities, changes the status of an organization after loss of exemption of a 501(c)(3) organization because of political campaign activities, provides excise taxes on political expenditures of charitable organizations, provides additional enforcement authority in the case of flagrant political expenditures by charitable organizations, and provides excise taxes on lobbying expenditures, where exemption has been revoked, of certain charitable organizations.

H.R. 4189 (Mr. Studds with cosponsors); Public Law 100–711; app. Nov. 23, 1988.

H.R. 4189, the Marine Mammal Protection Act Amendments of 1988, was reported to the House as amended from the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries on Sept. 23, 1988. The bill as amended passed the House on Sept. 26, 1988, under suspension of the rules. On Oct. 14, 1988, the Senate amended and passed the bill in lieu of S. 2810. The House agreed to the Senate amendment with an amendment on Oct. 19, 1988. The Senate agreed to the House amendment to the Senate amendment on Oct. 21, 1988. H.R. 4189 was signed into law by the President on Nov. 23, 1988, as Public Law 100–711.

There was one provision in the bill as it became law which was under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means. H.R. 4189 included an amendment to the Fisherman's Protective Act of 1967. The amendment to that act expanded the definition of "fish products" to include "any aquatic species (including marine mammals and plants) and all products thereof . . ." for purposes of the import ban authorized by the act against countries violating the terms of an international fishery conservation program.

H.R. 4264 (Mr. Aspin with cosponsor); Vetoed by President on Aug. 3, 1988.

H.R. 4264, the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 1989, was referred to the Armed Services Committee on Mar. 28, 1988. The bill was reported as amended to the House by the Armed Services Committee on Apr. 5, 1988, and passed the House with an amendment in the nature of a substitute on May 11, 1988. The Senate passed the bill in lieu of S. 2355 on May 27, 1988, and requested a conference. The House agreed to a conference on June 10, 1988. On July 14, 1988, the House and Senate agreed to the conference report. The President vetoed H.R. 4264 on Aug. 3, 1988.

The Committee on Ways and Means had jurisdictional interest in secs. 938 and 949. Section 949 was retained; sec. 938 was dropped in conference. Section 949 authorizes the President to impose economic sanctions against Ethiopia, depending on certain actions by Ethiopia. Authorized sanctions include restrictions on imports.

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, H.R. 4264 was pending in the Committee on Armed Services.

H.R. 4333 (Mr. Rostenkowski and Mr. Duncan of Tennessee); Public Law 100–647, app. Nov. 10, 1988. (See also H.R. 2167, 2792, 3545, 4845, H.Res. 479.)

On March 31, 1988, Chairman Rostenkowski and Mr. Duncan introduced H.R. 4333, the Technical and Miscellaneous Revenue Act of 1988. The bill contained technical corrections to the Tax Reform Act of 1986, the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987, and other recent tax legislation. On July 14, 1988, the committee reported the bill, incorporating various extensions of expiring provisions, revenue provisions, and miscellaneous provisions into the legislation. In addition, certain pension related technical corrections were removed from the bill and introduced as separate legislation (See summary description of H.R. 4845.).

On Aug. 4, 1988, the House passed H.R. 4333. Following Senate passage, with amendments, on Oct. 11, 1988, a conference was held on the legislation and both the House and Senate agreed to a conference report on Oct. 21, 1988. The bill was signed into law as Public Law 100-647 by the President on Nov. 10, 1988.

TITLES I AND II

Technical Corrections to Tax Reform Act of 1986 and Amendments Related to Tax Provisions in Other Legislation

The act makes technical corrections to the Tax Reform Act of 1986, the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987, the Superfund Revenue Act of 1986, the Harbor Maintenance Revenue Act of 1986, the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1986, and the Pension Protection Act. The purpose of technical corrections is to correct errors in legislation and to provide technical clarifications in order to assist taxpayers in complying with the law.

TITLE III

Additional Simplification and Clarification Provisions

SUBTITLE A—DIESEL FUEL EXCISE TAX COLLECTION AND EXEMPTION PROCEDURES

The act makes mandatory and extends the current provisions allowing certain tax-free purchases of diesel and nongasoline aviation fuels to all off-highway business users including private buses currently eligible for a full or partial refund of the diesel fuel tax. Exempt users may purchase such fuels tax-free when they purchase in bulk directly from a producer (including a wholesale distributor) and when Treasury-prescribed registration, financial responsibility, and information reporting requirements are met. Marine retail dealers who exclusively sell diesel fuel to purchasers as supplies for commercial or noncommercial vessels are treated as producers. The act provides a special, one-time refund for off-highway exempt users newly authorized to purchase diesel fuel tax-free from producers or importers.

SUBTITLE B—HEALTH CARE CONTINUATION RULES

Present law requires that group health plans satisfy certain health care continuation rules. The act replaces the disqualification sanction for failure to comply (i.e., loss of deductibility of the employer-provided health plan) with an excise tax. In general, the tax is $100 per failure for each day the violation is outstanding. The act also provides circumstances under which the tax liability for failures to comply is imposed on persons in addition to the employer providing the plan.

SUBTITLE C—EMPLOYEE BENEFIT NONDISCRIMINATION RULES

The act provides certain modifications simplifying the application of the nondiscrimination rules for employee benefits under Code sec. 89. The act provides a temporary special rule for valuing health benefits which employers may use until 1 year after the date of the issuance of Treasury guidance with respect to valuation on which taxpayers may rely. In addition, the act provides certain safe harbor methods for aggregating different health plans for testing purposes.

SUBTITLE D—ESTATE AND GIFT TAXES

1. Estate tax valuation freezes

The act makes technical corrections to, and clarifies the scope of, the rules which generally limit estate and gift tax benefits from estate freezes where a person holding a substantial interest in an enterprise transfers a disproportionate share of the appreciation and retains the possession or enjoyment of the right to income from the property. The act creates certain exceptions to the operation of the rules, clarifies the effect of transferring an interest in a frozen enterprise before death, and provides relief from the rules to the extent that the original transfer to a family member is for consideration.

SUBTITLE E—INDIAN FISHING RIGHTS

The act provides that income derived by individual members of an Indian tribe, or by a qualified Indian entity, from fishing rights-related activity is exempt from Federal and State tax, including income, Social Security, and unemployment compensation insurance taxes. Nothing in the act creates any inference as to the existence or nonexistence, or the scope, of any exemption from tax for income derived from fishing rights secured by any treaty, law, or Executive order.

TITLE IV

Extensions and Modifications of Expiring Tax Provisions

1. Employer-provided educational assistance

The act restores the exclusion from employee income of up to $5,250 of employer education assistance (without regard to whether the education was job-related) if such amounts were pursuant to an educational assistance program that met certain requirements. Under prior law the exclusion expired on Dec. 31, 1987. The act extended the expiration date to Dec. 31, 1988. Effective after 1987 graduate level education would not qualify for the exclusion, though such education could qualify for exclusion under a permanent provision for graduate teaching and research assistants at colleges and universities. The act also clarified that education with respect to a sport, game, or hobby does not qualify.

2. Employer-provided group legal services

The act restores the exclusion from employee income for group legal services and the exemption for group legal services organizations. Under prior law, the provision expired on Dec. 31, 1987. The act extended the expiration date to Dec. 31, 1988, and limited the exclusion to a $70 annual premium value per participant.

3. Low-income rental housing tax credits

The act modifies the low-income housing tax credit to permit a building to be placed in service either in the year the credit allocation is received or in one of the two succeeding years provided that at least 10 percent of the taxpayer's basis (land and depreciable basis) in the project is incurred in the year of allocation. The act also removes a restriction on corporate ownership for certain large partnerships qualifying for special recapture treatment.

4. Qualified mortgage bond and mortgage credit certificate provisions

The act extends authority to issue qualified mortgage bonds and mortgage credit certificates until Dec. 3, 1989. Applicable income limits were adjusted for high housing cost areas and family size. Such bonds are subjected to the arbitrage rebate rule and a loan origination period. A recapture provision is established for loans originated after Dec. 31, 1990, and GAO is directed to study the provision.

5. Business energy tax credits

The act extends until Dec. 31, 1989, the placed-in-service date for property to qualify for the 10-percent business solar, the 10-percent geothermal, and the 15-percent ocean thermal credits.

6. Credit for increasing research activities

The act extends the prior law credit through Dec. 31, 1989, and reduces qualified research expenses and basic research payments otherwise allowable as deductions by one-half of the credit amount for taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1988. A GAO study of the credit is mandated.

7. Allocation of research and experimental expenditures

The act provides that 64 percent of U.S. R&D expenses, not allocated to one geographical source, be allocated to U.S. source income and 64 percent of foreign R&D expenses be allocated to foreign source income, effective for the first 4 months of the first taxable year beginning after Aug. 1, 1987.

8. Targeted jobs tax credit

The act extends the targeted jobs tax credit with respect to individuals employed before 1990. The category of economically disadvantaged youth is modified to include only those aged 18 and 20. The credit for disadvantaged summer youth is reduced from 85 to 40 percent. These two provisions are made effective beginning Jan. 1, 1989. Appropriations for administration of the program are authorized for fiscal year 1989.

9. Treatment of mutual fund shareholder expenses for purposes of the 2-percent floor on miscellaneous itemized deductions

The act excludes expenses of publicly offered mutual funds from treatment as miscellaneous itemized deductions subject to the 2-percent floor through 1989.

10. Financially troubled financial institutions

The act extends through 1989 and modifies, generally by cutting back to 50 percent, special rules applying to financially troubled thrift institutions. The special rules relate to assistance payments from the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation (FSLIC), FSLIC-assisted acquisitions of financially troubled thrift institutions, and the carryforward of net operating losses, built-in losses, and excess credits of a thrift institution following certain ownership changes. The provisions are also clarified with respect to assistance payments made by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

TITLE V

Revenue Increase Provisions

SUBTITLE A—CORPORATE ESTIMATED TAX PROVISIONS

SUBTITLE B—INSURANCE PROVISIONS

The act modifies the income tax treatment of loans and other amounts received from a class of life insurance contracts which do not satisfy a specific premium payment test, in order to discourage the purchase of life insurance contracts as tax-sheltered investment vehicles, as opposed to contracts purchased for insurance protection. The act also modifies the calculation of mortality and expense charges for all insurance contracts in order to assure that such charges are reasonable.

SUBTITLE C—LOSS TRANSFER RULES FOR ALASKA NATIVE CORPORATIONS

The act repeals rules which allowed Alaska Native corporations to transfer tax losses to other corporations. Accordingly, the rules governing the transfer of losses and other tax attributes of Alaska Native corporations are now the same as rules applicable generally to all corporations.

SUBTITLE D—ESTATE AND GIFT TAX PROVISIONS

1. Valuation Tables

The act requires that annuities, life estates, terms of years, remainders and reversions be valued by tables that reflect current-month Federal interest rates. Exceptions are provided with respect to qualified plans and charitable transfers.

2. Rate schedule for tax on estates of nonresidents not citizens

The act conforms gift and estate tax rates for nonresident aliens to the rates presently applicable to U.S. citizens and residents. Except where a treaty provides otherwise, the estate of a nonresident alien is allowed a unified credit of $13,000.

3. Disallowance of marital deduction where spouse is not a citizen of the United States

The act generally denies the marital deduction for Federal estate tax purposes for property passing to an alien spouse. An exception is provided where the property passes in a qualified domestic trust. Gifts to an alien spouse exceeding $100,000 per year are made taxable under the Federal gift tax.

SUBTITLE E—LONG-TERM CONTRACT PROVISIONS

The act requires that 90 percent of income from long-term contracts be reported based on the percentage of the contract that is completed each year (under the percentage-of- completion method). Ten percent of the income would be deferred until contract completion. Home construction contracts are excluded from the long-term contract reporting requirements, and other residential construction contracts are allowed to retain prior law, which required 70 percent of income to be reported under the percentage-of-completion method.

SUBTITLE F—TAX-EXEMPT BOND PROVISIONS

1. Treatment of certain pooled financing bonds

The act provides that issuers of tax-exempt bonds must reasonably expect, on some basis other than anticipated increases in interest rates or tax law changes, that at least 95 percent of the proceeds of an issue intended to be lent will be lent within 3 years of the date of issue. All cost of issuance must be substantially paid within 180 days.

2. Treasury regulations relating to student loan bonds

The act directs the Treasury Department to report to Congress its reasons for inaction if it fails to exercise by July 1, 1989, its regulatory authority with respect to arbitrage on student loan bonds.

3. Restrictions on bonds to provide residential real property for family units

The act requires rental residential property financed with governmental bonds to be located within the jurisdiction of the issuer unless such financing is pursuant to a court ordered or approved housing desegregation plan. Bonds for 501(c)(3) housing would not be tax-exempt if used to acquire existing property unless such property is substantially rehabilitated or meets the low-income targeting rules applicable to other private activity bonds for rental housing.

SUBTITLE G—EXCISE TAXES

1. Imposition of excise tax on manufacture or importation of pipe tobacco

The act imposes an excise tax of $0.45 per pound on pipe tobacco manufactured in or imported into the United States. "Pipe tobacco" means any tobacco which, because of its appearance, type, packaging, or labeling, is likely to be offered to, or purchased by, consumers as tobacco to be smoked in a pipe.

2. Modification of distilled spirits tax credit for flavors content

The act provides restrictions on the use of flavors credit allowed against the distilled spirits tax related to the alcohol content of taxable beverages derived from wine and/ or flavor components. The flavors credit is to be available only where the flavors remain in the distilled spirits beverage after completion of distillation.

SUBTITLE H—OTHER REVENUE INCREASE PROVISIONS

1. Increase in penalty for bad checks

The act increases the penalty for tendering a bad check to the IRS in payment of taxes.

2. Reversion of pension plan assets

The act increases from 10 to 15 percent the excise tax imposed on employer reversions from qualified plans. The act also accelerates the time for payment of the excise tax.

3. Denial of deduction for certain residential telephone service

The act denies individual taxpayers any business deduction for charges for local telephone service with respect to the first telephone line in the taxpayer's residence.

4. Partnership reporting of unrelated business taxable income

The act requires partnerships to report information necessary to enable each tax-exempt partner to compute its share of the partnership's income or loss that is subject to tax as unrelated trade or business income.

5. Options subject to wash sale rules

The act extends the wash sale rules to contracts or options to sell or acquire stocks or securities.

6. Interest charge on installment sales of certain property

The act extends the special installment sales rules that apply to the sale of nonfarm real property to sales of any property with a sales price over $150,000, except for personal use property, property used in a farming business, and timeshares and residential lots. Under these rules, an interest charge is imposed on tax deferred under the installment method for aggregate sales over $5 million.

TITLE VI

Other Substantive Revenue Provisions

SUBTITLE A—PROVISIONS RELATING TO INDIVIDUALS

1. Treatment of certain amounts paid to or for the benefit of an institution of higher education

The act provides that if a taxpayer makes a payment to or for the benefit of a college or university that would be deductible as a charitable contribution but for the fact that the taxpayer thereby receives (directly or indirectly) the right to purchase seating at an athletic event in the institution's athletic stadium, 80 percent of such payment is treated as a charitable contribution. As under present law, no amount paid for the actual purchase of tickets is deductible as a charitable contribution.

2. Nonrecognition of gain where one spouse dies before occupying new residence

The act provides that the deferral of recognition of the capital gain on the sale of a principal residence will not be denied merely because one spouse dies after the time the old residence is sold and the new residence is purchased. This provision is effective with respect to sales and exchanges of old residences after Dec. 31, 1984.

3. Meals on certain vessels and offshore oil platforms exempt from 80 percent limitation on deduction for meals

An otherwise allowable business deduction for any expense for food or beverages (including employer-provided meals to employees) is reduced by 20 percent, subject to certain exceptions. The act provides that the percentage reduction rule does not apply to an otherwise allowable deduction for expenses of food or beverages that (1) are required by Federal law to be provided to crew members of a commercial vessel, or (2) are provided to crew members of a commercial vessel operating on the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence Seaway, or the U.S. inland waterways that is of a kind that would be required by Federal law to provide food or beverages to crew members if operated at sea. The percentage reduction also does not apply to an otherwise allowable deduction for expenses of food or beverages that are provided by an employer on an oil or gas platform or drilling rig if such platform or rig is located either offshore or in the United States north of 54 degrees north latitude, or at a support camp that is in proximity to, and that is integral to, such oil or gas drilling rig or platform.

4. Treatment of certain innocent spouses

The act provides certain circumstances in which a spouse may be relieved of liability for tax (including interest and penalties) arising from understatement of income attributable to overstated deductions on a joint return. The provision applies with respect to joint returns filed before Jan. 1, 1985.

5. Interim treatment of certain amounts awarded to Christa McAuliffe fellows

The act provides that the amount of a Christa McAuliffe Fellowship that is expended, in accordance with the terms of the award, on an approved school project for the benefit and use of a school or school system is to be treated as an award to the school, and hence is not to be includible in the teacher's gross income.

6. Election to claim certain unearned income of child on parent's return

The act permits a parent in certain circumstances to elect to include the unearned income of a child under the age of 14 on the parent's income tax return if the income of the child is less than $5,000.

7. Above-the-line deduction for jury duty pay that employee must surrender to the employer

The act permits an above-the-line deduction for the amount of jury duty pay surrendered by an employee on his or her employer in return for the employer's payment of compensation to the employee for the period of jury service. This provision is effective for taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1986.

8. Medical expense deduction for costs of service animals to assist handicapped individuals

The act provides that the costs incurred with respect to a dog or other service animal in order to assist individuals with any type of physical disabilities are eligible for the medical expense deduction. This provision is effective on the date of enactment.

9. Education savings bonds and modification of student dependency exemption

a. Education Savings Bonds.—The act provides that interest income earned on a qualified U.S. series EE savings bond is excluded from gross income if, instead of being redeemed, the bond is transferred to an eligible education institution as payment of tuition and required fees for a taxpayer, or the taxpayer's spouse or dependents. The exclusion is available to sole owners of the bonds or those who own such bonds jointly with their spouse. The exclusion is phased out for a married couple filing jointly with adjusted gross income (AGI) of $60,000; the exclusion is unavailable when AGI is $90,000 or more. For single taxpayers and heads of households, the phaseout range is from $40,000 to $55,000. The provision is effective for taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1989, with respect to U.S. savings bonds issued after Dec. 31, 1989. The exclusion is not available for any bonds which might be obtained as part of a tax-free rollover of matured series E savings bonds into series EE savings bonds.

b. Dependency exemption for certain students.—The act provides that a taxpayer may not claim a dependency exemption for a dependent who is a student who has attained 24 years of age before the close of the calendar year, unless the child's gross income for the year is less than the exemption amount ($1,950 in 1988). The provision is effective for taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1989.

10. Exclusion of gain on sale of principal residence by certain incapacitated taxpayers age 55 or over

Present law provides an exclusion for the proceeds up to $125,000 of the gain from the sale of a principal residence for any taxpayer who has attained age 55 and has used the house as a principal residence for 3 out of the 5 years preceding the sale. The act provides that a taxpayer who has attained age 55, and is mentally or physically incapacitated, and has actually used the property as his or her principal residence for periods during the 5 years preceding the sale aggregating a least 1 year, will be treated as having used the house as a primary residence during any portion of the 5 years preceding the sale in which the taxpayer lived in a nursing home. The provision is effective for any sale or exchange after Sept. 30, 1988.

11. Business use of automobiles by rural letter carriers

The act provides that a rural letter carrier may compute his or her deduction for business use of an automobile in performing mail delivery and collection services by using 150 percent of the standard mileage rate that applies to the first 15,000 miles of business use of an automobile that is not fully depreciated. The provision is not available to a taxpayer with respect to any automobile for which the taxpayer claimed depreciation deductions before any taxable year beginning after Dec. 31, 1987. The provision is effective for taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1987.

SUBTITLE B—PROVISIONS RELATING TO ACCOUNTING WITH AGRICULTURE

1. Amendments to uniform capitalization rules

The act exempts freelance authors, photographers, and artists from the uniform capitalization rules, retroactive to 1986. The act also exempts certain producers of animals from the uniform capitalization rules after Dec. 31, 1988. In addition, the act extends to producers of pistachio nuts the election to deduct preproduction costs currently, as already available to taxpayers in other farming businesses.

2. Treatment of single-purpose agricultural or horticultural structures

The act extends the recovery period for single-purpose agricultural or horticultural structures under modified ACRS from 7 years to 10 years.

3. Treatment of property used in the farming business

The act changes to the 150-percent declining balance method the depreciation of farming property that previously was eligible for the 200-percent declining balance method.

4. Treatment of certain trees

The act provides specific depreciation recovery periods for trees or vines bearing fruit or nuts.

5. One-year deferral of proceeds from livestock sold on account of drought

The act extends to sales of cattle, horses, and other livestock held for draft, breeding, dairy, or sporting purposes an election to defer the income for 1 year where the sale is made on account of drought conditions in an area designated as eligible for Federal assistance.

6. Certain pledges permitted

The act provides that certain repledgings of indebtedness will not be treated as payment on a nondealer real property installment obligation for purposes of the installment sale rules.

7. Treatment of indirect holdings through trusts under sec. 448

The act requires the Secretary of the Treasury to issue regulations regarding the attribution of ownership of stock from nongrantor trusts to the beneficiaries of such trusts for purposes of determining whether a corporation is a qualified personal service corporation.

8. Disaster assistance act payments included in special rule for taxable year of inclusion

The act includes certain Disaster Assistance Act payments received as a result of crop losses due to drought conditions within the scope the rule permitting an election to defer for 1 year the recognition of insurance proceeds for such losses as income.

SUBTITLE C—PENSION AND EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PROVISIONS

1. Employee benefit rules for church plans and cafeteria plans

The act provides that nondiscrimination rules for employee benefit plans under sec. 89 do not apply to plans maintained by churches. The act also provides that postretirement life insurance funded under a cafeteria plan is tested for discrimination when it is funded, rather than when it is provided. The provisions are effective as if included in the Tax Reform Act of 1986.

2. Eligible deferred compensation plans—modifications to sec. 457

The act (a) codifies IRS notice 88-68 by providing that sec. 457 does not apply to compensation deferred under an eligible vacation pay, sick leave, disability pay, and compensatory time; (b) provides a grandfather for certain nonelective deferred compensation under governmental plans deferred under agreements in effect on July 14, 1988; (c) provides a grandfather for deferred compensation provided under certain collective bargaining agreements; (d) provides that, under certain conditions, sec. 457 does not apply to independent contractors; and (e) provides that sec. 457 does not apply to church plans.

3. Sec. 403(b) nondiscrimination rules and certain other pension requirements

The act provides that the sec. 403(b) nondiscrimination rules may be applied without regard to full time student employees, and employees who normally work less than 20 hours per week. The provision is effective as if included in the Tax Reform Act of 1986.

4. Required beginning date for public employees

The act provides that distributions from public plans are required to begin no later than the Apr. 1 following the later of the date the employee attains age 70½, or retires.

5. Limitations on contributions and benefits under qualified plans maintained by public employer

The act provides a grandfather with respect to the limits on pension plan benefits for certain participants of plans maintained by State or local governments. The grandfather does not apply unless the employer elects to have the normal sec. 415 limits apply to all plan participants other than qualified plan participants. The provision is effective for employees who become participants before Jan. 1, 1990, with respect to plans maintained by employers who make the required election by the close of the first plan year beginning after Dec. 31, 1988.

6. Minimum participation rule

The act provides that the minimum participation rules under sec. 401(a)(26) may be applied separately with respect to qualified safety employees who provide police, firefighting, or emergency medical service. The act also provides a grandfather with respect to the minimum participation rules for employees who were participants in a governmental plan on July 14, 1988. Both provisions are effective as if included in the Tax Reform Act of 1986.

7. Permit IRA acquisition of State-issued coins

The act provides that coins issued under the law of any State are not treated as collectibles for purposes of the IRA prohibition on investments in collectibles. The provision is effective with respect to coins acquired by an IRA after the date of enactment.

8. Application of pension funding rules to multiple employers plans

The act provides that, generally, in the case of a plan established after Dec. 31, 1988, each employer participating in a multiple employer pension plan is treated as maintaining a separate plan for purposes of the minimum funding standard. The act also provides that this rule is elective with respect to plans established on or before Dec. 31, 1988.

9. Application of sec. 415 limits to police and firefighters

The act provides that in the case of police and firefighters, 15 years of service (rather than 20 as under prior law) are required for eligibility for the special rule for public employees which provides that the actuarial reduction for pension benefits payable before age 62 may not reduce such benefits below $50,000.

10. Air transportation of cargo and passengers treated as same service for purposes of fringe benefit inclusion

The act provides that the transportation of cargo by air and the transportation of passengers by air is treated as the same service for purposes of the exclusion for no-additional-cost service. The provision is effective for transportation furnished after Dec. 31, 1987.

11. Excise tax on dispositions of stock by an ESOP not to apply to certain involuntary dispositions

Present law provides that if an employee stock ownership plan (ESOP) acquires stock pursuant to a sale that qualifies for a special estate tax deduction for sales of stock to an ESOP, an excise tax applies if the ESOP disposes of the stock within 3 years of the acquisition. The act provides that the excise tax does not apply to forced dispositions occurring by operation of State law, provided that the securities are readily traded on an established securities market at the time the securities were acquired by the ESOP.

12. Exclusion of interest paid on refinanced ESOP loans

The act modifies a provision in technical corrections by providing that in the case of the refinancing of a securities acquisition loan that was made before Oct. 22, 1986, the partial interest exclusion under sec. 133 is available for the greater of the term of the original loan, or the amortization period used to determine the regular payments under the original loan. The provision is effective on the date of enactment.

13. Application of sec. 415 limits to collective bargaining plans

The act extends the effective date of a transition rule provided by the Tax Reform Act of 1986 for collective bargaining plans with respect to the limitations on pension benefits under code sec. 415.

14. Application of sec. 89 nondiscrimination rules for small employers

The act provides a phasein for the coverage of part-time employees under the employer benefit nondiscrimination rules of code sec. 89 for employers with less than 10 employees.

15. Allocation of assets in case of plan spinoffs—special rule for bridge banks

The technical corrections portion of the act provides that in the case of plan spinoffs and similar transactions involving defined benefit plans within a controlled group, excess assets are to be allocated proportionately among the spun off plans. The provision of the act provides that the allocation rule applies to 50 percent of the excess assets with respect to a spun off plan involving a plan maintained by a bank that has been closed by appropriate bank authorities and a plan maintained by a bridge bank (as described in 12 U.S.C. 1821(i)). The provision is effective with respect to transactions occurring after July 12, 1988.

16. Sec. 401(k) plans available to employees of rural telephone cooperatives

The act provides that rural telephone cooperatives are permitted to maintain sec. 401(k) plans on the same basis as rural electric cooperatives. The provision is effective for years beginning after date of enactment.

17. Study of treatment of certain technical service personnel

The act directs the Treasury Department to conduct a study of certain issues with respect to sec. 1706 of the Tax Reform Act of 1986, regarding the employee status of certain technical service personnel.

18. Taxation of pension distributions to former spouses

The act makes income averaging available with respect to distributions to an alternate payee who is a spouse or former spouse of the employee. The provision is effective for taxable years ending after Dec. 31, 1984.

SUBTITLE D—INSURANCE PROVISIONS

The act contains several miscellaneous insurance provisions, including: (i) clarification of the timing for the deductibility of certain payments made by workers' compensation funds, (ii) modification of the reserve discounting rules for property and casualty companies to allow the payment of certain estimated taxes, (iii) clarification of the treatment as life insurance of certain self-funded death benefit plans, (iv) clarification regarding the treatment of structured settlements for minimum tax and other purposes, and (iv) clarification of permitted government securities investments by variable contracts.

SUBTITLE E—EXCISE TAX PROVISIONS

1. Authority to prescribe tolerances for the volume of wine in bottles for purposes of the excise tax on wine

The act provides that the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to prescribe de minimis tolerances for the amount of wine contained in commercial containers. If the amount of wine in a container is within these tolerances, tax will be collected for any excess wine actually in the container.

2. Wholesale distributors to administer claims for refund of gasoline tax

The act provides that wholesale distributors (defined as under the present-law diesel fuel excise tax provisions) are permitted to claim refunds of tax for gasoline sold by them for (1) export, (2) use by States and local governments, (3) use in aircraft or vessels, or (4) use by certain nonprofit educational organizations.

3. Authority to exempt articles from excise tax on heavy trucks and trailers where benefit accrues to United States

The act provides that the retail excise tax on heavy trucks and trailers is added to the category of excise taxes for which the Treasury Department can provide exemptions if the benefit accrues to the Federal Government.

4. Application of reduced gasoline tax rate to blenders

Under present law, registered gasohol blenders pay a 3.43 cents per gallon excise tax on gasoline at the time of removal or sale of any gasoline purchased for producing gasohol. The act provides that the reduced excise tax rate would apply whether or not the gasoline and alcohol are purchased at an identical location, so long as the purchases are reasonably contemporaneous; i.e., within a 24-hour period, and the blender and seller comply with applicable registration, reporting and recordkeeping requirements imposed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

5. Certain educational institutions exempt from user fees on permits for industrial use of specially denatured distilled spirits

6. Small procedures exempt from occupational tax on distilled spirits plants

The act provides for an exemption from the annual occupational tax imposed on persons dealing in specially denatured distilled spirits for distilled spirits plants which (1) produce distilled spirits exclusively for fuel use, and (2) produce no more than 10,000 proof gallons per year.

7. Quarterly payment of archery excise tax

The act provides that persons liable for payment of the manufacturers' excise tax on bows and arrows are to be excused from the semi-monthly excise tax deposit requirements. Thus, the tax would be paid when the regular quarterly excise tax returns are required to be filed.

8. Extension of time for enacting authorizing legislation relating to the oil spill liability trust fund

The act provides that the commencement of the Oil Spill Liability Trust Fund and the 1.3-cents-per-barrel petroleum tax will take effect on the same date if qualified legislation authorizing an oil spill liability program is enacted by Dec. 31, 1990.

9. Donated cargo exempt from harbor maintenance tax

The act excludes from the harbor maintenance user tax levied on commercial cargo loaded or unloaded at a U.S. port, cargo that is donated for humanitarian and development assistance overseas, where such cargo is owned or financed by a nonprofit organization or cooperative and where the Customs Service certifies that the cargo is, in fact, intended for donation overseas.

10. Relay cargo

The act provides that the harbor maintenance user tax levied on commercial cargo loaded or unloaded at a U.S. port is to be imposed only once on cargo (other than Alaska crude oil) that is loaded or unloaded in a continuous transportation under a single bill of lading to or from a port in Alaska, Hawaii, or a U.S. possession.

11. Clarification of meaning of manufacture under truck excise tax

Under present law, extensive repairs on a truck or trailer after it has been in use for several years may trigger liability under the 12 percent retail excise tax because the repairs are considered to have resulted in the manufacture of a new vehicle. The act provides that the criteria found in certain Treasury Department rulings which are employed to determine whether manufacture of a new truck has occurred are consistent with the intent of the statute. In the case of the test in which repair or manufacture extends the useful life of a vehicle, a ratio of 75 percent of the price of a comparable new truck is adopted as a safe harbor for determining when repairs are treated as manufacture.

SUBTITLE F—FOREIGN PROVISIONS

1. Dual resident companies

The act provides that a U.S. corporation, with respect to whose stock there is an excess loss account which arose prior to Jan. 1, 1988, and while the corporation was a dual resident company, would be allowed to reorganize as a new foreign corporation without triggering the potential tax associated with the excess loss account. Instead, the excess loss account would be suspended until the stock in the new foreign corporation is disposed of outside of the affiliated group.

2. Election to be treated as qualified electing fund to be made by taxpayer

Under the provisions of the code related to the treatment of passive foreign investment companies, the act provides that the election to be subject to the qualified electing fund rules would be made at the U.S. shareholder level, on a shareholder-by-shareholder basis, rather than at the company level.

3. Treatment of certain United States affiliate obligations

The Tax Reform Act of 1984, along with the repeal of the U.S. withholding tax on U.S. source interest paid to foreign persons, provided assurance that interest paid on certain debt obligations issued by U.S. corporations to certain controlled foreign corporations, which in turn had issued debt to foreign persons, would not be subject to U.S. withholding tax so long as the controlled foreign corporations met certain requirements. One of those requirements was that the controlled foreign corporations could have a debt/equity ratio of no greater than 5-to-1. The act provides that a qualified controlled foreign corporation could increase its debt/equity ratio to 25-to-1 and still satisfy the requirements of the 1984 act.

4. Treatment of certain insurance branches of foreign corporations

The act provides that a qualified insurance branch of a controlled foreign corporation is treated as a separate corporation for purposes of applying the same-country exception to insurance underwriting income derived by controlled foreign corporations.

5. Treatment of certain instruments under foreign currency rules

The act provides that foreign currency-related regulated futures contracts and nonequity options are not treated as sec. 988 transactions if they are or would be marked to market under sec. 1256 if held at yearend. Foreign currency-related forwards, other types of futures and options, and similar financial instruments are generally treated under the agreement as sec. 988 transactions without regard to whether the instruments are or would be marked to market under sec. 1256 if held at yearend. The act also allows a special class of partnerships to receive capital treatment on foreign exchange gains and losses from certain forwards and futures which would otherwise be sec. 988 transactions under the general rules.

6. Treatment of insurance companies under chain deficit rule

The act provides an election to controlled foreign corporations to treat same-country insurance income as subpart F income so long as all related, controlled foreign corporations organized in the same country so elect (thus making same-country insurance income eligible for reduction under the deficit rules of supart F), and, for purposes of determining whether investment income is derived from qualified activities, treats electing corporations as one corporation.

7. Virgin Islands treated as qualified Caribbean Basin country

Under present law, a possession tax credit is available on qualified possession source investment income (QPSII) of certain electing domestic corporations engaged in a trade or business in Puerto Rico or the U.S. Virgin Islands. Under the 1986 act, investments in certain financial intermediaries are treated as investments for use in Puerto Rico if the intermediary makes appropriate investments in qualified Caribbean Basin countries, which do not include the U.S. Virgin Islands. The act treats the U.S. Virgin Islands as a qualified Caribbean Basin country for purposes of determining whether investments in financial intermediaries give rise to QPSII.

8. Treatment of certain U.S. obligations held by possession banks

The act excludes banks organized and doing business in any U.S. possession from net basis U.S. taxation on interest on U.S. Government obligations that is portfolio interest, and from the branch level taxes on earnings that arise from, and interest expense that is allocated against, interest income on U.S. obligations derived by those banks (unless those banks are engaged in a U.S. trade or business and the interest is actually effectively connected therewith).

9. Treatment of certain gambling winnings received by nonresident aliens

The act excludes winnings from blackjack, roulette, baccarat, craps, and big six wheel from the 30 percent withholding tax which is imposed on certain U.S. source income not effectively connected with a U.S. trade or business.

10. Election to be treated as domestic corporation

The act provides an election to be treated as a U.S. corporation to controlled foreign corporations engaged in the insurance business.

11. Tax exemption for Enjebi Community Trust Fund

The act exempts earnings on and distributions from the Enjebi Community Trust Fund from Federal, State, and local taxation.

12. Application of sec. 912 to judicial employees

The act excludes from gross income cost-of-living allowances received by judicial branch employees stationed outside the contiguous 48 States and the District of Columbia if they are received under regulations approved by the President or under rules similar to such regulations.

13. Study of definition of U.S. resident

The act requires the Treasury Department to complete a study before May 1, 1989, of the code definition of resident alien, in order to examine the administrability of the definition, its effect on investment flows into the United States, the definitions used by U.S. trading partners, the relationship of the definition with U.S. treaties, and the estimated revenue impact of changing the definition.

14. Sunset of treaty provisions

The act provides that neither the Barbados nor Bermuda income tax treaty with the United States, if either or both are in force on Dec. 31, 1989, shall prevent application of the U.S. gross basis excise tax to premiums paid on or after Jan. 1, 1990 (or, if paid prior to that date, to premiums allocable to insurance coverage for taxable years beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1990).

15. Treatment of certain awards by the District Court of Guam

The act provides, for purposes of the internal revenue laws of both Guam and the United States, that gross income does not include amounts received pursuant to the claims over which the District Court of Guam has jurisdiction by reason of sec. 204 of the Omnibus Territories Act of 1977, thus rendering exempt from tax the amounts these claimants receive on their claims against the United States.

SUBTITLE G—ESTATE TAX PROVISIONS

The act allows a surviving spouse to cash rent property without losing the benefit of the special use valuation for farm property.

2. Clarification of treatment of joint and survivor annuities under qualified terminable interest properties rules

The act permits transfer to a spouse of an interest in a joint and survivor annuity to qualify for the marital deduction.

SUBTITLE H—TAX-EXEMPT BOND PROVISIONS

1. Clarification of small issue bond definition of manufacturing facility

The act clarifies that up to 25 percent of the proceeds of a qualified small issue may be used to finance ancillary activities which are carried out at the manufacturing site.

2. Rules applicable to tax and revenue anticipation bonds

The act extends the period of time for compliance with arbitrage rebate rules for certain tax and revenue anticipation note (TRAN) proceeds.

3. Amendment to mortgage bond purchase price regulations

The act directs the Treasury Department to provide regulations related to the treatment of certain ground leases in the calculation of purchase price limits for mortgage revenue bond and mortgage credit certificate programs.

4. Application of security interest test to bond financing of hazardous waste cleanup activities

The act directs the Treasury to issue guidance before Jan. 1, 1989, concerning the application of the private activity bond test to tax-exempt bond financing for State programs that finance hazardous waste cleanup activities.

5. Tax-exempt financing for certain rail facilities

The act permits certain high-speed rail facilities to be financed with tax-exempt bonds provided 25 percent of each issue receives an allocation from the State's private activity bond volume limitation.

6. Rules relating to rebate on earnings on bona fide debt service fund

The act generally provides that the arbitrage rebate requirement will not apply to bona fide debt service funds.

7. Bonds issued by volunteer fire departments

The act permits certain volunteer fire departments to issue tax-exempt bonds for land which is functionally related and subordinate to a firehouse qualifying for tax-exempt financing and expands the type of volunteer fire departments eligible to issue tax-exempt bonds.

8. Disregard of pooled financing in determination of qualification for small issuer exception

The act provides that, in the case of pooled financing where the ultimate borrowers are governmental units the issuer shall not count those bonds for purposes of the $5 million small-issuer exception to the arbitrage rebate rule.

SUBTITLE I—PROVISIONS RELATING TO EXEMPT ORGANIZATIONS

1. Certain games of chance not treated as unrelated trade or business

Sec. 311 of the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984 provided that the unrelated business income tax does not apply to income of a tax-exempt organization derived from conducting a game of chance in a State having a statute, in effect as of Oct. 5 1983, providing that only nonprofit organizations could conduct such activities. The technical corrections title of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 specified that the only State law to which the 1984 act provision was intended to apply was a particular North Dakota law. The act provides that the 1986 act technical correction is made effective for games of chance conducted after Oct. 22, 1986, so that the treatment of income derived by tax-exempt organizations from games of chance conducted prior to Oct. 23, 1986, is governed by sec. 311 of the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984 as originally enacted.

2. Purchase of insurance by cooperative hospital service organizations

Under present law, sec. 501(e) of the code provides tax-exempt status for hospital service organizations operated solely to perform, on a centralized basis, one or more of several services including purchasing. The act provides that the purchasing activities that may be carried on by a tax-exempt hospital service organization include the acquisition, on a group basis, of insurance (such as malpractice and general liability insurance) for its hospital members.

3. Cancellation of certain debts originated by or guaranteed by the United States not taken into account in determining tax-exempt status of certain organizations

Under current law, a mutual or cooperative telephone, electric, or water company qualifies for exemption from Federal income tax if at least 85 percent of its gross income consists of amounts collected from members for the sole purpose of meeting losses and expenses of providing service to its members. The act provides that the 85-percent test would be determined without regard to any discharge of indebtedness income arising in 1987, 1988, or 1989 on debt that either originated with, or is guaranteed by, the Federal Government.

4. Determination of operating foundation status for certain purposes

The act provides that for purposes of sec. 302(c)(3) of the Deficit Reduction Act of 1984, a private foundation that constituted an operating foundation for its last taxable year ending before Jan. 1, 1983, is treated as constituting an operating foundation as of Jan. 1, 1983, and therefore as meeting the requirements of sec. 4940(d)(2)(B).

SUBTITLE J—TAXPAYER RIGHTS AND PROCEDURES

Part I—Taxpayer Rights

1. Disclosure of rights of taxpayers

The act requires the IRS to provide taxpayers a written statement of their rights during the audit, appeals, refund, and collection processes.

2. Procedures involving taxpayer interviews

The act requires the IRS to publish regulations specifying standards for determining if the time and place for conducting a taxpayer examination are reasonable. The act also permits taxpayers to make audio recordings of IRS interviews, requires an explanation of the taxpayer's rights prior to an audit interview, and provides procedures to ensure that taxpayers have the opportunity to be represented during the administrative process.

3. Taxpayers may rely on written advice of Internal Revenue Service

The act requires the IRS to abate penalties that are attributable to erroneous written advice provided by the IRS in response to the taxpayer's specific written request and reasonably relied upon by the taxpayer. The provision applies for advice requested after Dec. 31, 1988.

4. Taxpayer assistance orders

The act provides procedures whereby the Taxpayer Ombudsman may issue a binding order providing relief to a taxpayer who is suffering hardship because of the way in which the IRS is administering the tax laws.

5. Basis for evaluation of Internal Revenue Service employees

The act prohibits the IRS from using records of tax enforcement results to evaluate employees involved in collection activities and their immediate supervisors.

6. Procedures relating to Internal Revenue Service regulations

The act requires the IRS to solicit the views of the Small Business Administration on the impact of proposed regulations on small businesses and provides other rules governing the issuance and expiration of temporary and proposed regulations.

7. Content of tax due, deficiency, and other notices

The act requires that various tax due and deficiency notices itemize and describe the basis for amounts of tax due, interest, additions to tax, and penalties.

8. Installment payment of tax liability

The act authorizes the IRS to enter into installment payment agreements to facilitate the collection of tax, and specifies the conditions for modifying or terminating these agreements.

9. Assistant Commissioner for Taxpayer Services

The act establishes statutorily an Assistant Commissioner for Taxpayer Services.

Part II—Levy and Lien Provisions

1. Levy and distraint

The act extends from 10 to 30 days the notice period required before the IRS may collect a tax by levy. The act also broadens the amounts and types of property exempt from levy, prohibits uneconomic levies, and specifies conditions under which the IRS must release a levy.

2. Review of jeopardy levy and assessment procedures

The act extends the existing rules relating to the review of jeopardy assessments to the review of jeopardy levies.

3. Administrative appeal of liens

The act requires the IRS to issue regulations providing taxpayers with an administrative procedure to appeal the filing of a notice of a tax lien.

Part III—Proceedings by Taxpayers

1. Awarding costs and certain fees in administrative and court proceedings

The act permits the awarding of certain administrative costs to a taxpayer who is a "prevailing party" in a tax case in any Federal court, if the position of the United States was not substantially justified. As under prior law, such prevailing parties may also be awarded reasonable litigation costs.

2. Civil cause of action for damages sustained due to failure to release lien

The act grants taxpayers the right to bring an action for actual, direct economic damages and costs resulting from the wrongful failure to remove a lien on a taxpayer's property.

3. Civil cause of action for damages sustained due to certain unauthorized actions by Internal Revenue Service

The act grants taxpayers the right to bring an action against the Government for actual damages and costs (in total not to exceed $100,000) sustained where an IRS employee has recklessly or intentionally disregarded the tax laws in connection with the collection of tax.

4. Assessable penalty for improper disclosure or use of information by preparers of returns

The act provides a civil penalty in cases where a return preparer improperly discloses or uses information furnished to him or her in connection with the preparation of an income tax return. The provisions of prior law for criminal sanctions are retained in modified form.

Part IV—Tax Court Jurisdiction

1. Jurisdiction to restrain certain premature assessments

The act grants the Tax Court jurisdiction to restrain the assessment and collection of tax by the IRS if the tax is the subject of a petition pending before the Tax Court.

2. Jurisdiction to enforce overpayment determinations

The act grants the Tax Court jurisdiction to provide the taxpayer relief if the IRS fails to refund or credit an overpayment previously determined by the Tax Court.

3. Jurisdiction to review certain sales of seized property

The act grants the Tax Court jurisdiction during the pendency of proceedings before it to review an IRS determination to sell seized property under one of the present-law exceptions to the stay of the sale.

4. Jurisdiction to redetermine interest on deficiencies

The act grants the Tax Court jurisdiction to resolve disputes regarding interest computations on deficiencies previously determined by the Tax Court.

5. Jurisdiction to modify decisions in certain estate tax cases

The act grants the Tax Court jurisdiction to modify a final decision in an estate tax case to reflect the estate's entitlement to a deduction for certain subsequent interest payments.

SUBTITLE K—OTHER ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS

1. Exchange of information

The act changes from 2 million to 250,000 the population threshold for a city to be eligible to enter an agreement with the Secretary of the Treasury for sharing tax return information.

2. Provisions relating to previously required studies

The act deletes or modifies various requirements for specific Treasury studies.

3. Repeal of secretarial authority to prescribe class lives

The act removes the authority of the Treasury to shorten or lengthen depreciable lives of assets.

4. Amendments related to Crude Oil Windfall Profit Tax Act of 1980

The act repeals reporting requirements for the repealed crude oil windfall profit tax.

SUBTITLE L—PROVISIONS RELATING TO CORPORATIONS AND PERSONAL HOLDING COMPANIES

The act provides relief from the corporate level tax for housing cooperatives converting to condominium ownership in a manner similar to the relief provided for sales of homes by principal residents. The act also provides miscellaneous clarifications to the rules governing personal holding companies and the net operating loss rules.

SUBTITLE M—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

1. Repeal of limit on long-term bonds

The act repeals the prior law limitation on the amount of U.S. Government long-term bonds which can be issued with interest rates in excess of 4¼ percent.

2. One-year extension of credit for producing fuel from a nonconventional source

The act extends until Dec. 31, 1990, the placed-in-service date for facilities the output from which qualifies for the nonconventional fuels production credit.

3. Certain discharge of debt income not included in adjusted book income

The act provides that the transfer of a corporation's own stock in exchange for the corporation's debt in a title 11 case (or to the extent the corporation is insolvent) does not give rise to adjusted net book income for alternative minimum tax purposes.

4. Nonconventional fuels credit

The act provides a carryover of nonconventional fuels credits in cases where the credit is not allowed solely by reason of the limitation based on the taxpayer's tentative minimum tax.

5. Treatment of certain family services providers

The act provides that under certain circumstances a person who renders dependent care or similar services may be treated as other than an employee for employment tax purposes.

TITLE VII

Railroad Unemployment and Retirement Programs

The act provides that the railroad unemployment compensation program be reformed by: (1) indexing the monthly taxable wage base to two-thirds of the rise in wage levels in the economy; (2) implementing an "experience rating" tax schedule for railroad employers, which would impose tax rates on employers in proportion to the benefits paid to their employees; (3) increasing the administrative tax rate from 0.5 to 0.65 percent; (4) imposing a 4-percent debt repayment tax indefinitely until the debt to the retirement program is repaid; (5) repealing the contingent 3.5 percent surtax and replacing it with an additional surcharge to be added to tax rates when fund balances are low; (6) establishing a 2-week waiting period for benefits; and (7) increasing the daily unemployment benefits from $25 to $30.

The act provides that the railroad retirement program be reformed by: (1) lump sum refund of tier II taxes paid on severance payments that do not result in additional credits for service; (2) a repeal of the so-called "last-person service" rule and creation of a new rule that would reduce tier II benefits by 50 percent of any earnings from a worker's last nonrailroad employer; and (3) an increase in the earnings limit on disability annuities from $400 per month to $4,800 per month. The act further provides for a 1-year extension of the reporting date for the Railroad Retirement Reform Commission until Oct. 1, 1990.

TITLE VIII

Amendments Relating to the Social Security Act Programs

SUBTITLE A—OLD-AGE, SURVIVORS, AND DISABILITY INSURANCE AND RELATED PROVISIONS

1. Interim disability benefits in cases of delayed final decisions

In cases where an administrative law judge has determined that an individual is eligible for disability benefits and the Secretary of Health and Human Services has not acted within 110 days to issue a final decision, interim benefits are required to be provided to the individual pending the issuance of a final decision.

2. Application of earnings test in year of individual's death

The provision permits Social Security beneficiaries to earn the full annual exempt amount under the Social Security earnings limit in the year in which they die, rather than a prorated exempt amount. In addition, the provision extends the annual exempt amount applicable to those age 65 and over to people who die at age 64 in the year that they otherwise would have attained age 65.

3. Phaseout of reduction in "windfall" benefit

The provision modifies the exemption from the reduction in the windfall benefit. Under current law, a person with 30 years of Social Security coverage is exempt from the reduction resulting from the application of the windfall benefit formula. Further the reduction is phased out in 10 percent increments for each year between 25 and 30 years of Social Security coverage.

The new provision continues to exempt only those persons with 30 years of Social Security coverage, but phases out the reduction in 5 percent increments for each year between 20 and 30 years of Social Security coverage, as follows:

FIRST FACTOR IN FORMULA

| Years of Social Security coverage: | Percent |
|---|---|
| 20 or fewer | 40 |
| 21 or fewer | 45 |
| 22 or fewer | 50 |
| 23 or fewer | 55 |
| 24 or fewer | 60 |
| 25 or fewer | 65 |
| 26 or fewer | 70 |
| 27 or fewer | 75 |
| 28 or fewer | 80 |
| 29 or fewer | 85 |
| 30 or more | 90 |

Prepared by the staff of the Subcommittee on Social Security, Committee on Ways and Means, Oct. 24, 1988.

The provision applies to those with pensions from State, local or Federal employment not covered by Social Security. The provision is effective for benefits paid after 1988.

4. Denial of benefits to Nazi war criminals

The provision prohibits payment of benefits to any individual against whom a final order of deportation has been issued on the basis of being a Nazi war criminal.

5. Modification of terms for public members of the Social Security Board of Trustees

The provision clarifies current law to assure that a public member of the Social Security Boards of Trustees who is nominated and confirmed to fill a vacancy occurring before the end of a term can be nominated and confirmed only for the remainder of such term. In addition, the provision permits a public member to serve after the expiration of his or her term until the earlier of the issuance of the next report of the Board of Trustees or the date on which a successor has taken office.

6. Continuation of disability benefits pending appeal

The provision extends for 1 additional year the payment of disability benefits during the administrative appeal process. The provision expires on Dec. 31, 1989, with continued benefits last payable in July 1990.

7. Extend Social Security exemption for members of certain religious faiths

The provision extends to certain employees the present law exemption from Social Security for self-employed members of qualifying religious faiths. To obtain the exemption, both the employee and his or her employer must be members of a religious sect or division whose teachings lead them to oppose acceptance of public or private insurance benefits.

8. Use of Social Security numbers to locate blood donors

The provision permits States or authorized blood donor facilities to require donors to furnish Social Security numbers for the sole purpose of later locating and notifying donors whose blood is found to contain the AIDS virus. The provision imposes strict confidentiality requirements on the authorized State agencies and blood donor facilities.

9. Requirement of Social Security number as a condition for receipt of Social Security benefits

The provision requires individuals applying for Social Security benefits to have a Social Security number in order to receive benefits.

10. Substitution of certificate of election for application to establish entitlement for certain widow(er)'s benefits

The provision permits certain widow(er)s who are eligible to convert from one type of benefit to another to file a certificate of election rather than an application for benefits.

11. Calculation of windfall benefit guarantee in month of concurrent entitlement

The amount of a pension considered when determining the windfall benefit guarantee will be the amount payable in the first month of concurrent entitlement to, rather than the first month of eligibility for, both Social Security benefits and the pension from noncovered employment.

12. Consolidation of reports on continuing disability reviews

The provision permits the consolidation of two types of reports on continuing disability reviews into one annual report.

13. Exclusion of certain employees from FICA tax on group-term life insurance

The provision excludes from FICA tax group-term life insurance provided to individuals who separated from service before Jan. 1, 1989.

14. Clarification of applicability of the Government pension offset to certain Federal employees

The provision exempts an employee who elected the Federal Employees' Retirement System (FERS) on or before Dec. 31, 1987, from the Government pension offset even if that person retired from Government service before his or her FERS coverage became effective.

15. Clarification regarding Social Security coverage for certain civil servants

The provision clarifies that the Secretaries of Health and Human Services and the Treasury, not the head of any other Federal agency, have the authority to make the final determination as to whether an individual's services constitute Social Security covered employment, including those of Presidential appointees. This clarification will prevent certain high level civil servants from avoiding mandatory Social Security coverage. In addition, the provision clarifies that any civil servant who becomes covered as a result of taking a mandatorily covered Federal job would retain Social Security coverage in any subsequent Federal job.

16. Exemption from FICA tax for certain agricultural workers

The provision excludes wages paid to an employee who receives less than $150 in annual cash remuneration by an agricultural employer from FICA tax even if the employer pays more than $2,500 in the year to all employees, provided the employee: (1) is a hand harvest laborer and is paid on a piece-rate basis in an operation which has been customarily recognized as having been paid on a piece-rate basis in the region of employment, (2) commutes daily from his or her permanent residence, and (3) has been employed in agriculture less than 13 weeks during the preceding calendar year.

17. Exclusion of certain employer pension contributions from the FICA wage base

The provision relieves State and local governments from FICA tax liability for employer "pick-ups" for which FICA taxes were not paid due to reliance on a letter ruling of the Internal Revenue Service.

18. Study of disability applications involving AIDS-related complex (ARC)

The provision requires the Secretary of Health and Human Services to report on the number of applications for AIDS-related complex as well as the number of approvals and denials of applications and the cost of benefits.

SUBTITLE B—PUBLIC ASSISTANCE PROVISIONS

1. Moratorium on emergency assistance and AFDC special needs regulations

The provision extends the moratorium on changing current policy regarding emergency assistance and special needs for homeless families to Oct. 1, 1989.

2. Disregard of certain housing assistance for SSI recipients

The provision clarifies that housing assistance is not considered income or resources for SSI applicants and recipients.

3. Foster care independent living initiatives

The provision extends the authority for State independent living initiatives for foster care children for one year, through fiscal year 1989.

SUBTITLE C—NATIONAL COMMISSION ON CHILDREN

The provision delays the reporting dates for the National Commission on Children requiring an interim report by Mar. 31, 1990 and a final report by Sept. 30, 1990.

SUBTITLE D—UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

The provision delays the reporting dates for self-employment demonstration projects requiring the due date for the interim and final reports be extended to 3 and 6 years, respectively, after the date of enactment of Public Law 100–203.

SUBTITLE E—MEDICARE AND MEDICAID

1. Provisions relating to part A of Medicare

The authority for disproportionate share payments is extended to Sept. 30, 1995. The provision of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987 (OBRA 87) regarding continuation of bad debt recognition is clarified. The provision of OBRA 87 regarding revision of standards for including a rural county in an urban area is amended to require that if the application of the new standards results in a reduction in the wage index for an urban area, the Secretary shall compute wage indices separately for the original urban counties and for the rural counties added as a result of the provision. The provision of the Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988 regarding demonstration projects with respect to chronic ventilator- dependent units in hospitals is amended to clarify that the Secretary is required to conduct at least five demonstration projects for at least 3 years each. The provisions of OBRA 87 regarding personnel policy for Commission employees is amended to clarify that with respect to the Prospective Payment Assessment Commission, the provision of OBRA 87 is effective only for employees hired on or after Dec. 22, 1987.

2. Provisions relating to parts A and B of Medicare

The Secretary is required to establish graduate nursing education demonstration programs in five hospitals, under which the reasonable costs of education under the program will be allowable costs under Medicare. The Secretary is also required to establish one joint undergraduate nursing education program and to include reasonable costs of education under the program as allowable costs under Medicare.

The provison of OBRA 87 regarding assignment of members of HIP Health Maintenance Organization and treatment of Michigan Blue Care HMO Network under 50 percent rule are repealed. The authorization of appropriations for a program of research on patient outcomes of selected medical treatments and surgical procedures is increased to $10 million for fiscal year 1989, and authorizations are provided in the amount of $20 million for fiscal year 1990 and $30 million for fiscal year 1991.

The reporting deadline for the United States Bipartisan Commission on Comprehensive Health Care is extended until 6 months after funds are appropriated for the Commission.

3. Provisions relating to part B of Medicare

The Secretary would be required to provide for payment of specimen collection charges for certain labs on a per mile basis. The Secretary would also be required to submit a report to Congress by May 1, 1989, concerning reimbursement of specimen collection.

The budget neutrality provision is clarified by specifying that the comparison between payment levels under the fee schedule and the 1986 reimbursement rules for payment of medical direction and CRNA services should take coinsurance into account on both sides of the equation.

Rules regarding coverage of pyschologists services provided in a community mental health center are clarified to specify that such services would also be covered if necessarily provided off-site due to physical or mental impairment or similar reason.

An addition would be made to the list of statutory responsibilities for the Physician Payment Review Commission. The Commission would be required to make recommendations for moderating the rate of increase in total part B payment per capita and in the use of services under Medicare part B in its annual report to Congress.

The current moratorium on competitive bidding demonstrations for clinical lab services is extended for an additional year.

The Secretary would be authorized to pay for such services on commercial air flights where such flights are covered as ambulance services under regulations currently in effect. This authorization would be in effect for a 5-year period.

TITLE IX

Trade Provisions

1. Trade technical amendments

The act makes a number of technical amendments to correct drafting errors in trade statutes resulting from the enactment of the Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1988 (P.L. 100–418).

2. Foreign trade zones

The act amends the Foreign Trade Zones Act to clarify the accounting procedures with regard to the calculation of relative values in the operations of petroleum refineries in a foreign trade zone.

3. Report on Small Business Innovation Research Program

The act extends from Dec. 31, 1988 to July 1, 1989, the due date for completion of a GAO report evaluating the effectiveness of certain phases of the Small Business Innovation Research Program. This report was mandated by sec. 6 of the Small Business Innovation Development Act of 1982.

4. Extension of certain existing suspensions of duty and duty reductions

The act extends the effective date to Dec. 31, 1992 for a number of provisions in the Appendix of the Tariff Schedules of the United States providing for suspended or reduced duties on specified imported articles.

TITLE X

Manassas National Battlefield Park

The act requires immediate acquisition of the area adjacent to the Manassas National Battlefield Park (south of U.S. Route 29, north of Intersate Route 66, east of Route 705, and west of Route 622), to be added to the Park by legislative taking. The United States is to pay just compensation to the owners of such property. The payment is to be made from the permanent judgment appropriation ("Claims and Judgments Fund") established under 31 U.S.C. 1304.

H.R. 4352 (Mr. Vento with cosponsors); Public Law 100–628; app. Nov. 7, 1988.

H.R. 4352, the Omnibus McKinney Homeless Assistance Act of 1988, was jointly referred to the Committees on Agriculture, Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs, Education and Labor, Energy and Commerce, Veterans' Affairs, and Ways and Means. The bill was reported to the House as amended from the Committees on Energy and Commerce on June 22, 1988, Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs on June 29, 1988, and Ways and Means on July 28, 1988. H.R. 4352 passed the House as amended on Aug. 3, 1988, and passed the Senate as amended on Sept. 28, 1988. The House requested a conference on Oct. 4, 1988, and the Senate agreed to a conference on Oct. 5, 1988. The conference report was agreed to by the House on Oct. 19, 1988, and by the Senate on Oct. 20, 1988. H.R. 4352 was signed into law by the President on Nov. 7, 1988, as Public Law 100–628.

The Committee on Ways and Means has juridiction over title IX of the act. Title IX extends the moratorium on any regulations under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program which restrict special needs payments or the AFDC emergency assistance program. The Department of Health and Human Services is directed to study current policy and recommend changes designed to improve the ability of the AFDC program to respond to emergency needs of homeless families and eliminate the use of AFDC funds for shelter costs in so-called welfare hotels. Public Law 100-628 also includes a provision authorizing at least 2 but not more than 3 demonstration projects designed to reduce the number of homeless AFDC families living in hotels by encouraging the rehabilitation or construction of transitional facilities. Finally, the act permits the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, or a public housing agency, to request wage and unemployment compensation data from State unemployment agencies for the purpose of verifying tenant eligibility.

H.R. 4481 (Mr. Armey with cosponsors); Public Law 100–456; app. Sept. 29, 1988.

H.R. 4481, the Defense Savings Act of 1988, was referred jointly to the Committees on Armed Services, Government Operations, and Merchant Marine and Fisheries. The bill was reported to the House as amended from the Committees on Armed Services and Government Operations on June 28, 1988, and Merchant Marine and Fisheries on June 29, 1988. H.R. 4848 passed the House as amended on July 12, 1988, and passed the Senate as amended on Sept. 15, 1988. The Senate requested a conference on Sept. 15, 1988 and the House agreed to a conference on Sept. 28, 1988. The House and Senate agreed to the conference report on Sept. 28, 1988. H.R. 4848 was signed into law by the President on Sept. 29, 1988, as Public Law 100–456.

There was one provision in the bill as it became law which was under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means. Division A, part D, title XIII, sec. 1310 of Public Law 100–456 authorizes the President to impose economic sanctions, including import sanctions, against Ethiopia if Ethiopia engages in any of six specific activities, including forced resettlement or seizure of international relief assets provided by the United States.

H.R. 4845 (Mr. Rostenkowski); sequentially rereferred to the Committee on Ways and Means on Oct. 3, 1988. (See also H.R. 4333.)

H.R. 4845, a bill making certain pension-related technical corrections, was introduced on June 16, 1988. As introduced, the bill was comprised exclusively of those provisions in the introduced version of H.R. 4333 which made technical corrections to the Internal Revenue Code and to titles I or IV of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA). With certain exceptions, the ERISA provisions were dropped from H.R. 4333. The committee requested and received written comments on the ERISA-related technical corrections contained in the bill. H.R. 4845 was ordered reported to the House, with amendments, on July 14, 1988.

Subsequently, on Sept. 5, 1988, the Committee on Education and Labor ordered reported its version of H.R. 4845, as amended. Included in the Education and Labor version was the text of H.R. 1961, the Pension Portability Act of 1988, as amended. Because of the number of new tax-related provisions in H.R. 4845 as reported by the Committee on Education and Labor, including H.R. 1961, a bill on which the Committee on Ways and Means had taken no action, H.R. 4845 was sequentially rereferred to the Committee on Ways and Means. No further legislative action was taken on H.R. 4845.

In the Senate, ERISA provisions corresponding to those in H.R. 4845 were included in S. 2238, the Senate version of the technical corrections bill. S. 2238 was introduced on Mar. 31, 1988, and ordered reported by the Senate Finance Committee on Aug. 3, 1988. However, with certain exceptions, the ERISA provisions were stripped from S. 2238 by a floor amendment offered on behalf of the Senate Committee on Finance, and agreed to by the Senate on Sept. 12, 1988. Accordingly, those ERISA-related provisions that were removed from both H.R. 4333 and S. 2238 were not subjects of the conference on these bills, and were not included in the Technical and Miscellaneous Revenue Act of 1988, H.R. 4333.

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, H.R. 4845 was pending in the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 4848 (Mr. Rostenkowski with cosponsors); Public Law 100–418; app. Aug. 23, 1988. (See also H.R. 3).

H.R. 4848, the Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1988, consolidates legislation considered by 14 different committees in the House of Representatives. The bill was referred to the Committees on Ways and Means, Agriculture, Armed Services, Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs, Education and Labor, Foreign Affairs, Government Operations, Energy and Commerce, Judiciary, Merchant Marines and Fisheries, Public Works and Transportation, Rules, Small Business, and Science, Space and Technology.

Titles I, II, and VIII of H.R. 3, as reported by the Committee on Ways and Means on Apr. 6, 1987, were incorporated into H.R. 4848 as title I. (See summary description of H.R. 3.) The Committee on Ways and Means had additional jurisdiction over all of title VII and sections of titles II, IV, and V of H.R. 4848.

H.R. 4848 passed the House July 13, 1988 without any further action by the Committee on Ways and Means. The Senate passed the bill on Aug. 3, 1988. H.R. 4848 was signed into law by the President on Aug. 23, 1988, as Public Law 100–418.

H.R. 5090 (Mr. Foley and Mr. Michel); Public Law 100–449; app. Sept. 28, 1988.

H.R. 5090, the United States-Canada Free-Trade Agreement Implementation Act of 1988, was reported by the Committees on Ways and Means and Interior and Insular Affairs on Aug. 3, 1988, by the Committees on Foreign Affairs and the Judiciary on Aug. 4, 1988, and by the Committees on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs, Government Operations, and Energy and Commerce on Aug. 5, 1988. The bill passed the House on Aug. 9, 1988 and the Senate on Sept. 19, 1988. H.R. 5090 was signed by the President on Sept. 28, 1988, as Public Law 100–449.

A summary of the act follows:

H.R. 5090, the "United States-Canada Free-Trade Agreement Implementation Act of 1988," approves the United States-Canada Free-Trade Agreement transmitted by the President to the Congress on July 25, 1988. The law contains in five titles the provisions which are necessary and appropriate to implement the Agreement in U.S. domestic law.

Sections 1 and 2 set forth the short title, a table of contents, and the purposes of the act.

Title I. Approval of United States-Canada Free-Trade Agreement and Relationship of Agreement to United States Law

Title I contains general provisions concerning approval and entry into force of the Agreement and the relationship of the Agreement to U.S. laws. The Agreement, certain accompanying exchanges of letters, and the Statement of Administrative Action submitted to the Congress on July 25, 1988, are approved, and conditions for entry into force of the Agreement on or after Jan. 1, 1989, are set forth.

U.S. laws prevail over the Agreement if there is a conflict; the Agreement prevails over any conflicting State or local law. No person other than the United States has a cause of action or defense under the Agreement.

Changes in U.S. law necessary or appropriate to implement an amendment to the Agreement may be approved under "fast track" congressional procedures during the 30-month period after the Agreement enters into force. Certain provisions of the act authorizing implementation of actions by Presidential proclamation are subject to prior consultation and 60 calendar day congressional layover requirements.

Authority is given to proclaim implementation of U.S. obligations under the Agreement in terms of the Tariff Schedules of the United States if the Harmonized System is not implemented prior to entry of the Agreement into force.

Title II. Tariff Modifications, Rules of Origin, User Fees, Drawback, Enforcement, and Other Customs Provisions

Title II implements in U.S. domestic law the customs provisions of the Agreement. The President is authorized to proclaim the modifications in U.S. duties to implement the scheduled phaseout and elimination of all tariffs on United States-Canada trade within 10 years, and to maintain the general level of concessions. The rules of origin in the Agreement to ensure application of preferential tariff treatment only to goods originating in Canada are enacted in the statute.

U.S. obligations under the Agreement to phase out customs user fees on Canadian goods, to eliminate drawback with certain exceptions, and to exempt Canada from the lottery ticket embargo are implemented in domestic law, penalties and recordkeeping requirements are provided to enforce the rule of origin requirement, and a reporting and monitoring requirement of the consistency of Canadian production-based duty remission programs with the GATT and the Agreement.

Title III. Application of Agreement to Sectors and Services

Title III implements in U.S. domestic law various provisions of the Agreement concerning particular economic sectors, including agricultural products, procedures and criteria for application of bilateral and global import relief measures on Canadian articles, exports to Canada of Alaskan oil, exemption of Canadian uranium from United States enrichment restrictions, a lower contract threshold for exemption from Buy American restrictions of certain Government procurement from Canada, temporary entry of business persons, and extension of financial services. In addition, various U.S. negotiating objectives to expand the Agreement are set forth with respect to services, investment, intellectual property rights, automotive products, procurement, Canadian agricultural transportation subsidies, potato trade, and enforcement of United States rights against Canadian controls on fish, and a clarification that the Agreement does not preclude voluntary restraint agreements on steel products.

Title IV. Binational Panel Dispute Settlement in Antidumping and Countervailing Duty Cases

Title IV implements in U.S. domestic law the institutional provisions of the Agreement establishing binational panel and extraordinary challenge committee review of final antidumping and countervailing duty determinations, in lieu of judicial review, including procedures and criteria for the selection of panelists appointed by the United States, establishment of the U.S. Secretariat, and authorizations of appropriations for administrative expenses. Objectives and authority to negotiate an agreement on subsidies and special procedures for industries facing subsidized competition pending development of subsidy rules are also included.

Title V. Effective Dates and Severability

Title V sets forth the effective dates of the various provisions of the act, and provides for the severability of any provision or amendment held to be invalid from the remainder of the act.

H.R. 5210 (Mr. Foley); Public Law 100–690; app. Nov. 18, 1988. (See also S. 2033.)

H.R. 5210, the Omnibus Drug Initiative Act of 1988, was jointly referred to the Committees on Ways and Means, Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs, Education and Labor, Foreign Affairs, Government Operations, Energy and Commerce, Interior and Insular Affairs, Judiciary, Merchant Marine and Fisheries, and Public Works and Transportation. H.R. 5210 passed the House amended on Sept. 22, 1988, and the Senate in lieu of S. 2852 with an amendment on Oct. 14, 1988. The House agreed to the Senate amendment with an amendment on Oct. 14, 1988. The Senate agreed to the House amendment to the Senate amendment on Oct. 23, 1988. The President signed H.R. 5210 into law on Nov. 18, 1988, as Public Law 100-690.

Public Law 100-690 contains numerous provisions to toughen efforts to fight drug abuse. Titles VI and VII of the act contain a number of recommendations by the Committee on Ways and Means to strengthen the enforcement capability of the U.S. Customs Service.

Tax-related provisions

1. The act provides a procedure under which State and local law enforcement agencies, at the discretion of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, may be reimbursed by the IRS for costs of investigations producing information that substantially contributes to the recovery of Federal taxes with respect to drug-related cases.

2. The act increases penalties for intentional disregard and willful failure with respect to reporting requirements under Code sec. 6050I (information reporting on cash transactions over $10,000), expands application of the penalties to those who aid and abet, and allows expanded disclosure of these information returns to officers and employees of Federal law enforcement agencies.

3. The act permits the IRS to use moneys generated in its undercover operations to purchase properties, to establish and operate business entities, and to offset expenses incurred in such operations. Annual audits of such operations must be conducted, and the proceeds of the undercover operations must be deposited into the Treasury once they are no longer required for the conduct of the operations. The provision expires on Dec. 31, 1989.

4. The act would make the sanctions of title 18, sec. 1956 apply to attempts to evade tax or make false statements on tax returns where the violation occurs in the course of laundering money.

Trade-related provisions

1. The act authorizes $1.252 billion for the Customs Service—an increase of nearly $143 million over the administration's request—providing an additional $72.9 million for 500 new Customs positions intended to be divided equally between enforcement and nonenforcement operations; adding $55 million to enhance the Customs air interdiction program and $15 million for the purchase and construction of an x-ray imagery vapor sensitive cargo scanning device.

2. The act increases the penalty from 200 to 1000 percent of the article's value for failure to declare a controlled substance and authorizes the transfer of forfeited property to foreign, as well as State and local governments that cooperate with Customs in joint enforcement operations.

3. The act clarifies trade sanctions and procedures for Presidential certification of cooperation by narcotics source and transit countries in controlling narcotics traffic and conforms these sanctions and procedures to those applicable to foreign aid sanctions.

4. The act establishes a 2-year air carrier smuggling prevention demonstration program in at least three U.S. international airports at high risk for drug smuggling activity.

H.R. 5337 (Mr. Fascell with cosponsors); passed House Sept. 27, 1988. (See also H.Res. 522 and S. 2763.)

H.R. 5337, the Sanctions Against Iraqi Chemical Weapons Use Act, was jointly referred to the Committees on Ways and Means, Foreign Affairs, and Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs. The bill was reported to the House as amended by the Committee on Ways and Means on Sept. 26, 1988. The bill passed the House under suspension of the rules on Sept. 27, 1988. No separate action on H.R. 5337 was taken in the Senate. However, a modified version of the bill was added by the Senate as an amendment to H.R. 4333, the Miscellaneous Revenue Act of 1988, and was considered as part of the conference on that bill. The Iraqi sanctions amendment was dropped from H.R. 4333 in conference. The identical provision was added to H.R. 5550, the Anti-Terrorism and National Security Amendments Act of 1988. That bill was passed by the House under suspension of the rules on Oct. 20, 1988. No action was taken by the Senate.

H.R. 5337 included among immediate and prospective trade sanctions the authority for the President to restrict imports from Iraq, unless he could certify that Iraq had ceased its use of chemical weapons.

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, H.R. 5337 was pending on the Senate calendar.

H.J.Res. 324; Public Law 100–119; app. Sept. 29, 1987.

H.J.Res. 324, as introduced, increases the permanent debt level to $2,565 billion through Sept. 30, 1988. On June 23, 1987, the resolution was engrossed and deemed passed the House. On July 10, 1987, the Senate Finance Committee reported the resolution. It passed the Senate on July 31, 1987, with amendments. A conference report was filed on Sept. 21, 1987. The House agreed to the conference report on September 22, and the Senate on September 23, 1987.

The President signed the resolution into law on Sept. 29, 1987, as Public Law 100-119. A summary of the act follows.

The act increases the permanent public debt limit to $2,800 billion. Gramm-Rudman-Hollings is amended to reinstate the automatic sequestration process of the original Gramm-Rudman-Hollings bill. The act grants the OMB the authority to make the final determination of the sequester order and revises the timetable for sequestration.

The act revises the deficit targets and potential sequestration amounts. Sequestration for fiscal year 1988 would be $23 billion, minus the amount of net achieved deficit reduction accomplished through the reconciliation and appropriations process. Sequestration for fiscal year 1989 would be the lower of: (a) the amount necessary to reach the fixed target of $136 billion, or (b) $36 billion from the defined budget baseline. For each of fiscal years 1990 through 1993, a fixed target would apply, with a margin of $10 billion for fiscal years 1990 through 1992, and $0 for fiscal year 1993. The fixed targets are as follows:

[In billions of dollars]

| | Target | Margin |
|---|---|---|
| Fiscal year: | | |
| 1988 | [1] 144 | 10 |
| 1989 | [2] 136 | 10 |
| 1990 | 100 | 10 |
| 1991 | 64 | 10 |
| 1992 | 28 | 10 |
| 1993 | 0 | 0 |

[2] Maximum sequestration in fiscal year 1989 is $36 billion.

The act imposes several reporting requirements on OMB and constrains OMB's use of economic and technical assumptions in the sequestration process.

The act grants the President authority such that if a sequester were to go into effect, he or she would be allowed to determine the amount of military personnel to exempt from sequestration (subject to notifying Congress by a certain date) and would be allowed to propose changes to Congress redistributing a fixed amount of defense budget outlay reductions within and accross defense accounts. However, the President would not be allowed to increase any defense program, project, or activity above its appropriated level, and the proposed redistribution would have to be affirmed by an amendable joint resolution considered on an expedited basis. The President would not be allowed to sequester from national defense accounts by modifying or terminating existing contracts.

H.J.Res. 395 (Mr. Whitten); Public Law 100–202; app. Dec. 22, 1987.

H.J. Res. 395 provided for further continuing appropriations for fiscal year 1988. The resolution was reported from the House Appropriations Committee on Oct. 29, 1987, and passed the House on Dec. 3, 1987. In the Senate, H.J. Res. 395 was reported from the Committee on Appropriations on Dec. 8, 1987. The resolution passed the Senate amended, on Dec. 12, 1987.

As amended by the Senate, H.J. Res. 395 included tax provisions within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means as follows: (1) Senate amendment number 4 allowed college football coaches to maintain a tax-qualified multiemployer pension plan which would include a cash or deferred compensation option, and (2) Senate amendment number 9 exempted Federal employees participating in the Federal Employee Retirement System (FERS) from the Internal Revenue Code's antidiscrimination rules.

On Dec. 14, 1987, Chairman Rostenkowski wrote to the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee to urge the House conferees to disagree to these two Senate amendments. However, the conference agreement which was filed in the House on Dec. 22, 1987, included both provisions. The House and Senate both agreed to the conference report on Dec. 22, 1987.

The President signed the resolution into law on Dec. 22, 1987, as Public Law 100-202.

H.Res. 127 (Mr. Matsui with cosponsors); passed House Mar. 25, 1987.

H.Res. 127, relating to the semiconductor antidumping enforcement agreement, was ordered reported by the Committee on Ways and Means on Mar. 25, 1987. The resolution was reported with an amendment that declares that the President should communicate with Japan to insure that Japan fulfills its commitment under the terms of the telecommunications negotiations. The committee was discharged from further consideration on Mar. 25, 1987, and on that same day the resolution passed the House with the amendment included. No further action is required.

H.Res. 235 (Mr. Rostenkowski); passed House July 30, 1987. (Returning to the Senate S. 829.)

On Mar. 30, 1987, the Senate passed S. 829, legislation which would authorize appropriations for the U.S. International Trade Commission, the U.S. Customs Service, and the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative for fiscal year 1988, and for other purposes. In addition, the bill contained a provision relating to imports from the Soviet Union which amends provisions of the Tariff Act of 1930.

On July 30, 1987, Mr. Rostenkowski sent to the Speaker's desk H.Res. 235, a privileged resolution. The resolution states that S. 829 is, in the opinion of the House, a revenue measure which contravenes clause 1, sec. 7 of article 1 of the Constitution of the United States and is an infringement of the privileges of the House.

H.Res. 474 (Mr. Rostenkowski); passed House June 16, 1988. (Returning to the Senate S. 1748.) (See also H.R. 3391.)

On Oct. 6, 1987, the Senate passed S. 1748, legislation which would prohibit the importation into the United States of all products from Iran. (The House passed H.R. 3391, which includes similar provisions, on Oct. 6, 1987.)

On June 16, 1988, Mr. Rostenkowski sent to the Speaker's desk H.Res. 474, a priviledged resolution. The resolution states that S. 1748 is, in the opinion of the House, a revenue measure which contravenes clause 1, sec. 7 of article 1 of the Constitution of the United States and is an infringement of the privileges of the House.

H.Res. 479 (Mr. Rostenkowski); passed House June 21, 1988. (Returning to the Senate S. 727.) (See also H.R. 2792 and H.R. 4333.)

On May 13, 1987, the Senate passed S. 727, legislation which would clarify Indian treaties and Executive orders with respect to fishing rights. This legislation deals with the tax treatment of income derived from the exercise of Indian treaty fishing rights. (The House passed H.R. 2792, which includes similar provisions, on June 20, 1988, under suspension of the rules and was enacted into law as part of Public Law 100-647, H.R. 4333.)

On June 21, 1988, Mr. Rostenkowski sent to the Speaker's desk H.Res. 479, a priviledged resolution. The resolution states that S. 727 is, in the opinion of the House, a revenue measure which contravenes clause 1, sec. 7 of article 1 of the Constitution of the United States and is an infringement of the privileges of the House.

H.Res. 544 (Mr. Rostenkowski); passed House Sept. 23, 1988. (Returning to the Senate S. 2662.) (See also H.R. 1154.)

On Sept. 9, 1988, the Senate passed S. 2662, the Textile and Apparel Trade Act of 1988. This legislation would impose global import quotas on textiles and footwear products.

On Sept. 23, 1988, Mr. Rostenkowski sent to the Speaker's desk H.Res. 544, a privileged resolution. The resolution states that S. 2662 is, in the opinion of the House, a revenue measure which contravenes clause 1, sec. 7 of article 1 of the Constitution of the United States and is an infringement of the privileges of the House.

H. Res. 552 (Mr. Rostenkowski); passed House Sept. 28, 1988. (Returning to the Senate S. 2763.) (See also H.R. 5337.)

On Sept. 9, 1988, the Senate passed S. 2763, the Genocide Act of 1988. This legislation contains a ban on the importation of all oil and oil products from Iraq.

On Sept. 28, 1988, Mr. Rostenkowski sent to the Speaker's desk H.Res. 552, a priviledged resolution. The resolution states that S. 2763 is, in the opinion of the House, a revenue measure which contravenes clause 1, sec. 7 of article 1 of the Constitution of the United States and is an infringement of the privileges of the House.

H.Res. 603 (Mr. Rostenkowski); passed House Oct. 21, 1988. (Returning to the Senate S. 2097.)

On Mar. 30, 1988, the Senate passed S. 2097, the Uranium Mill Tailings Remedial Action Amendments of 1987. This legislation would establish a Federal fund to assist in the financing of reclamation and other remedial action at currently active uranium and thorium processing sites and would increase the demand for domestic uranium. The fund would be financed in part by what are called "mandatory fees" which are equal to $22 per kilogram for uranium contained in fuel assemblies initially loaded into civilian nuclear power reactors during calendar years 1989-1993. In addition, S. 2097 would impose charges on domestic utilities that use foreign-source uranium in new fuel assemblies loaded in their nuclear reactors.

On Oct. 21, 1988, Mr. Rostenkowski sent to the Speaker's desk H.Res. 603, a privileged resolution. The resolution states that S. 2097 is, in the opinion of the House, a revenue and tariff measure which contravenes clause 1, sec. 7 of article 1 of the Constitution of the United States and is an infringement of the privileges of the House.

H.Res. 604 (Mr. Rostenkowski); passed House Oct. 21, 1988. (Returning to the Senate H.R. 1315.)

On Aug. 8, 1988, the Senate passed H.R. 1315, legislation which would authorize appropriations for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission for fiscal years 1988 and 1989. Title IV of the legislation would, among other things, establish a Federal fund to assist in the financing of reclamation and other remedial action at currently active uranium and thorium processing sites and would assist the domestic uranium industry by increasing the demand for domestic uranium. The fund would be financed in part by what are called "mandatory fees" equal to $72 per kilogram of uranium contained in fuel assemblies initially loaded into civilian nuclear power reactors on or after Jan. 1, 1988. These fees are paid by licensees of civilian nuclear power reactors and are in place until $1 billion has been raised.

On Oct. 21, 1988, Mr. Rostenkowski sent to the Speaker's desk H.Res. 604, a privileged resolution. The resolution states that H.R. 1315 is, in the opinion of the House, a revenue measure which contravenes clause 1, sec. 7 of article 1 of the Constitution of the United States and is an infringement of the privileges of the House.

S. 1793 (Mr. Moynihan with cosponsors); passed Senate Oct. 20, 1987. (See also H.R. 3545.)

S. 1793, to reinstate and make permanent the disregard of non-profit organizations' in-kind assistance to SSI and AFDC recipients, was introduced in the Senate on Oct. 16, 1987, and referred to the Senate Finance Committee. On Oct. 20, 1987, the Senate Finance Committee was discharged and the bill passed the Senate with a technical amendment. On Oct. 22, 1987, S. 1793 was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

A similar provision was included in the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987 (Public Law 100-203).

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, S. 1793 was pending in the Committee on Ways and Means.

S. 1937 (Mr. Byrd with cosponsors); passed Senate Dec. 9, 1987. (See also H.R. 3545.)

S. 1937, a bill to amend title II of the Social Security Act to continue disability benefits during an appeal, was introduced and passed by the Senate by unanimous consent on Dec. 9, 1987.

The bill was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means on Dec. 15, 1987. A similar provision was included in the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987 (Public Law 100-203).

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, S. 1937 was pending in the Committee on Ways and Means.

S. 1994 (Mr. Cranston); passed Senate Dec. 21, 1987. (See also H.R. 3545.)

S. 1994, a bill to prevent fraud and abuse in housing and urban development programs, provides that the Secretary of HUD could require that applicants and participants in HUD-assisted housing programs disclose their social security numbers and allow HUD access to wage and salary information.

S. 825, the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987, contained a similar provision, but was deleted in conference due to objections from the Committee on Ways and Means.

S. 1994 was introduced and passed in the Senate on Dec. 21, 1987. The bill was referred to the Committees on Ways and Means and Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs on Dec. 22, 1987.

A similar provision was included in Public Law 100-203 (H.R. 3545).

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, S. 1994 was pending in the Committees on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs and Ways and Means.

S. 2033 (Mr. Thurmond with cosponsors); passed Senate Oct. 14, 1988. (See H.R. 5210.)

S. 2033, the Child Protection and Obscenity Enforcement Act of 1988, passed the Senate on Oct. 14, 1988, and was jointly referred to the House Committees on Ways and Means, Judiciary, and Energy and Commerce on Oct. 19, 1988. For related action on similar provisions see Public Law 100-690 (H.R. 5210).

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, S. 2033 was pending before the House Committees on Ways and Means, Judiciary, and Energy and Commerce.

S.Con.Res. 21 (Mr. Danforth with cosponsors); passed Senate Mar. 26, 1987.

S. Con.Res. 21 expresses the sense of Congress that the administration should vigorously oppose the proposal by the European Community (EC) to establish a tax on vegetable and marine fats and oils, and urges the administration to communicate the message to the EC that the United States will view such a tax as inconsistent with GATT obligations that will result in adoption of strong and immediate countermeasures. S.Con.Res. 21 was reported to the Senate by the Finance Committee on Mar. 23, 1987, and passed the Senate on Mar. 26, 1987. The resolution was referred to the Committees on Ways and Means and Foreign Affairs on Mar. 30, 1987.

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, S.Con.Res. 21 was pending in the Committee on Ways and Means and the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

S.Con.Res. 27 (Mr. Durenberger with cosponsors); passed Senate Mar. 26, 1987.

S.Con.Res. 27, expressing the sense of the Congress that the U.S. Trade Representative should investigate the rulings of the Canadian Import Tribunal involving United States exports of corn to Canada, was reported to the Senate by the Committee on Finance on Mar. 23, 1987. The resolution passed the Senate on Mar. 23, 1987. It was referred to the Ways and Means Committee on Mar. 30, 1987.

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, S.Con.Res. 27 was pending in the Committee on Ways and Means.

S.Con.Res. 77 (Mr. Lugar with cosponsors); passed Senate Sept. 18, 1987.

S.Con.Res. 77, expressing the sense of the Congress in opposition to the third country meat directive by the European Community requiring individual inspection and certification by the European Community of United States meat plants and urging the President to take strong countermeasures should the European Community deny U.S. meat imports because of the unfair application of the directive, was placed on the Senate calendar on Sept. 17, 1987, and passed the Senate on Sept. 18, 1987. The resolution was referred to the Ways and Means Committee on Sept. 22, 1987.

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, S.Con.Res. 77 was pending in the Committee on Ways and Means.

S.Con.Res. 94 (Mr. Leahy with cosponsors); passed Senate Mar. 4, 1988.

S.Con.Res. 94 expresses the sense of the Congress regarding relief for the U.S. soybean industry under sec. 301 of the Trade Act of 1974. The Senate passed S.Con.Res. 94 on Mar. 4, 1988. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means on Mar. 8, 1988.

As of adjournment of the 100th Congress, S.Con.Res. 94 was pending in the Committee on Ways and Means.
